FRENCH PAUSE IN PERONNE ADVANCE

Now Withstanding Series of Terrific Counter Attacks by Germans.

Today's War News Given in Summary

The French apparently have paused on their advance on Peronne where they have driven a total of six miles into the German lines since July 1, when the Somme offensive began, and now are withstanding a series of German counter attacks.

Assaults were delivered last night on the new positions both north and south of the Somme but were fruitless, according to today's Paris bulletin.

The Macedonian campaign of the entente forces apparently is not being pressed on the right of the Saloniki position, the British who advanced across the Struma, being reported to have withdrawn to the west bank. The Serbians, however, are continuing their pressure against the Bulgarians on the western end of the line. The French war office report announces that the engagement near Lake Ostrovo is turning in favor of the allies and that Bulgarian trenches and heights northwest of Lake Ostrovo have been occupied by Serbians.

Latest reports from both sides of the campaign in Rumanian province of Dobrudja show the opposing forces in contact along virtually the entire front. Apparently a general engagement is impending.

Dispatches through Italy say an offensive campaign in the Balkans has been mapped out at the conference of the central powers now in progress at German headquarters, Germany's contribution to the force being fixed at 200,000 and Austria's at 100,000 men.

London, Sept. 14.—A wireless press despatch from Rome says at the general council of thecentral powers at the headquarters of the German emperor an offensive campaign in the Balkans was mapped out and that Germany will send 200,000 men and Austria 100,000 for this purpose.

Serbians and Bulgarians are engaged in violent fighting on the Macedonian front. The war office announced today that the Serbians had captured Bulgarian trenches near Vetronik and a height. An engagement south of the lake is turning in favor of the allies.

The British have made further progress on the Somme front north of Cinchy, it was announced officially today, adding, however, that the general situation is unchanged.

ALLIED LOSSES SANGUINARY.

Berlin Declares Repeated and Violent Assaults Are Repulsed.

Berlin, Sept. 14.—Repeated and violent assaults against the Germans on the Somme front yesterday were repulsed with sanguinary losses for the allies, the war office announced today.

According to a Sofia despatch to the Overseas News agency, Bulgaria is greatly aroused over the atrocities upon Bulgarians in Dobrudja charged against the Rumanians and the entire press is demanding punitive measures. The Bulgarian government, adds the despitch, intends to invite the diplomatic representatives of neutral countries at Sofia to make a personal inspection of the district and will register an energetic protest with theneutral powers.

CHICAGO MAN IS HELD FOR OLD BANK ROBBERY

Arrest Follows Attempt to Pry Open Safety Box at Toronto.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Martin H. Flannigan, a saloonkeeper, was arrested here today in connection with the robbery five years ago of the branch of the bank of Montreal at New Westminster, B. C. Loot amounting to $271,000 was obtained by the robbers.

The arrest of Flannigan was made as a result of the arrest in Toronto, Ont., yesterday of Michael B. Shortall, a marble worker, of Chicago, who was attempting to pry open a safety deposit vault in the bank of Toronto. The box, rented by Flannigan four years ago, was found to be stuffed with Canadian bank notes. Shortall told the Toronto police he had been employed by Flannigan to make the trip to Toronto and was being paid $5 a day for his services.

Flannigan, the police say, is the same man arrested three years ago on a charge of having in his possession stolen Westminster bank notes. He escaped conviction as the numbers on the notes did not correspond with those stolen from the British Columbia bank.

Flannigan was released after the police had questioned him.

PRESIDENT TAKES UP HIS CAMPAIGN PLANS

Administration Men Hear Prospects Are Very Fine in West.

Long Branch, N. J., Sept. 14.—President Wilson today for the first time gave detailed consideration to his campaign for reelection. In the executive offices at Asbury Park he went over reports from political leaders in various states and began mapping out his plans for the next two months. Postmaster General Burleson, one of Mr. Wilson's chief political advisers, is at Spring Lake, near here, visiting Secretary McAdoo, and the two cabinet members this morning went over the political situation with Secretary Tumulty.

As a result of the conference it was indicated that greatest attention would be paid to the campaign in Oregon, Washington, Utah and California because of reports received by administration officials leading them to believe democratic prospects in these states are excellent. While the president will make no final plans for leaving here until further developments in the illness of his sister, Mrs. Anne Howe, several trips away from Shadow Lawn were discussed. Mr. Wilson will go by automobile on September 26 to Princeton, N. J., to vote in the democratic primaries.

The president visited the executive offices for the first time today.

WALTONEN NOW SAYS OTHERS MUST SUFFER

Ironwood, Mich., Sept. 14.—Arthur Waltonen, accused of participation in the murder of Mrs. Elizabeth Nichols, wealthy New York widow, and who is today en route to New York city in the custody of detectives, declared before he left here last night that "there were others who would have to take their medicine."

He was positive that Onni Talas, now serving a life sentence in Sing Sing prison, had a hand in the conspiracy to murder Mrs. Nichols. Waltonen said Talas, who was his successor in the Nichols home had been bound so as to make it appear that he had nothing to do with the affair. Mrs. Nichols, he reiterated, was not killed, but died of heart disease, probably superinduced by fright.

Formal Assurance is Given by Japan and Russia on New Treaty.

OPEN DOOR POLICY IN CHINA UPHELD

Washington Satisfied and Will Not Press Its Inquiry Further.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—Both Japan and Russia have given the United States formal assurances that the new Russo-Japanese treaty does not repeal or affect the treaties of 1907 and 1910 in which those nations pledged themselves to maintain the integrity of China and the open door policy.

The assurances were given to Ambassadors Guthrie at Tokio and Francis at Petrograd, in response to inquiries.

The state department today received from Mr. Guthrie a note on the subject addressed to him by the Japanese foreign office stating in unequivocal terms that Japan had not for a moment entertained an intention of departing from these policies.

Department officials let it be known that the statements were entirely satisfactory and that inquiries regarding the new treaty, over which they had been considerably perturbed probably would not be pressed further.

BANANA BEARERS MAKE DEMAND FOR INCREASE

Serious Strike Threatened by Those Engaged in Unloading Fruit.

Now that the railroad strike is averted another labor uprising right in Fort Wayne in the form of a banana carriers' strike is threatening. The unorganized organization of laborers—fifty strong—who tote the bunches of bananas from freight cars to the big fruit houses want more pay.

The men have been receiving 50 cents apiece for each car unloaded. They want 35 cents an hour, or what would amount to about $1.05 apiece for each car relieved of its luscious burden. Fruit dealers say positively that they will not raise the men's pay. A strike may follow.

The dealers say they will be able to secure plenty of workmen to take the places of the crowd which loafs about the wholesale houses between jobs. Dealers say the work is not hard and demands no skill. Raise in the wages of the men who unload the cars will mean a raise in the price of bananas delivered in the city, they say.

The men who carry the big bunches of the herbaceous plant down the gangplanks and into the warehouses say the work is hard. There is risk of being bitten by tarantulas, they add.

Neither party in the dispute has mentioned the temptation to eat the bananas.

AUTO TOURING ALL STATES HERE TONIGHT

The Hupmobile touring car which started on its journey from Washington, D. C., last August 28, with the intention of visiting every state capital in the United States will arrive in Fort Wayne, Thursday evening, at seven o'clock and will remain here for the night. This was the contents of a telegram received by the local Hupmobile dealers, Steinhart-Randall Auto company, from J. Walter Deake, president of the Hupp Motor Car corporation.

The Hupmobile United America tour is in charge of Julian S. Patterson and the car is being piloted by C. E. Salisbury and George Lipe. The slogan which appears on the car is: "All States, All Capitals—One Flag and One Nation."

DOUBLE TRAGEDY OVER SALE OF HOG IN TEXAS

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 14.—Henry Wright, 28, farmer, last night shot and instantly killed his brother, Willie Wright, 24, at their home three miles north of Grand Prairie, just west of Dallas, and then killed himself. The double tragedy was the result, officers said, of a quarrel over the proceeds from the sale of a hog.

Kept Marriage a Secret Since December 22, 1915

Announcement was made Thursday by Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Short, 1618 Boone street, of the marriage of their daughter, Miss Waine, to J. Monroe Gordon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Gordon, 818 Monroe street, which occurred Dec. 22, 1915, at Jackson, Mich., Rev. J. W. Williams, pastor of the First Baptist church of that city, officiating.

Since that time Mr. and Mrs. Gordon have guarded their secret most sacredly and not until last Sunday did the parents receive the least inkling of the marriage. And then Mrs. Gordon told her mother. She was leaving that day for Detroit, Mich., to join her husband and she thought it best that the secret be divulged.

"There was no objection to the marriage," Mrs. Short, mother of the girl, said Thursday, "but all of us thought they were too young." Gordon is twenty years old and his wife seventeen.

Up to three weeks ago Mr. and Mrs. Gordon have been living in Fort Wayne, each with their parents. Gordon would call upon his wife just as he did before their marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Short did not for one minute suspect that they were married. They knew they were devoted to each other, just as young lovers are, but further than that they had no suspicions.

Three weeks ago, however, Mr. Gordon, whose father is custodian of the Commercial club, left for Detroit, where he accepted a position as bookkeeper. Sunday he telegraphed his wife to join him. The secret could no longer be kept.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon have a host of friends, all of whim were in ignorance of their marriage. Mrs. Gordon's father is a draftsman for the General Electric company.

STRIKERS IN BIG PARADE

STREET RAILWAY DEADLOCK HOLDS

Mayor Mitchel Admits He Has No Plan to End Labor Trouble.

New York, Sept. 14.—Striking street railway men gave a big parade here today in the effort to win new friends for their cause, while city officials and the heads of both sides of the controversy held further conferences in the effort to break the deadlock which has partially tied up most of the surface cars in Manhattan and Bronx boroughs and Westchester county.

There were approximately 10,000 striking motormen and conductors in the parade which began in the forenoon and ended shortly after 1 o'clock at Union Square, where addresses were delivered by the strike leaders. The men marched without music, all carrying American flags. The parade was in six divisions and was led by Hugh Frayne, state organizer of the American Federation of Labor, and William B. Fitzgerald, general organizer of the street railway men.

The letter says: "Nearly all the people who subscribed to the soldier relief fund have not favored us with second remittance. We therefore feel that our [illegible]

NEARLY ALL STOCKS SHARE IN BIG BOOM

Remarkable Rise in Past Two Weeks is Carried Further Today.

New York, Sept. 14.—The extraordinary rise in the stock market of the last fortnight, unequalled since last year's movement in war brides, attained wider and more impressive proportions today, the first hour's trading of almost half a million shares being attended by gains of from 1 to 3 points in industrials, equipments, motors, oils and shares of almost every other description, with a twenty point advance in Bethlehem steel at 575.

United States steel was the chief feature, rising to 106½ in the first hour and exceeding its previous record by ¾ of a point. Demand for Studebaker, industrial alcohol, Baldwin locomotive, New York air brake, Mexican petroleum and detained issues carried those stocks to 5 points above yesterday's prices. Railways were relatively inconspicuous. Realizing sales or profit taking was in such enormous volume during the session to effect several sales.

$50,000 ADDITION FOR THE GARRETT HOSPITAL

The Sacred Heart Catholic hospital at Garrett is to have a $50,000 addition built to the present building next spring. Plans are now being drawn by Strauss, the architect, of this city. This will make the institution of that city just twice its present size. The new addition will be modern in every respect and will afford the most modern of conveniences for all concerned.

RUSS DESTROYER SUNK BY GERMAN AIR BOMBS

Kaiser's Fliers Score Notable Success in Black Sea Attack.

Berlin, Sept. 14.—A Russian destroyer has been sunk in the Gulf of Riga by a German aeroplane squadron, says a report given out today by the German admiralty. German naval 'planes also have attacked Russian sea forces in the Black sea off Constanza, Rumania. The admiralty statement reads:

"German seaplanes have attacked Russian sea forces off Constanza and the coast to the south. Hits on one battleship, one submarine and several destroyers were observed. All the aeroplanes returned unharmed.

"On the evening of Sept. 12 several German naval aeroplanes attacked the enemy's sea force in the Gulf of Riga. Several hits were obtained and one enemy destroyer sank immediately. Despite heavy shelling all the aeroplanes returned safely."

Slavs Checked in Carpathians.

The repulse of violent Russian attacks on a long front in the Carpathians is announced by the war office today. The announcement follows:

"Front of Prince Leopold of Bavaria—The situation is unchanged. Russian attacks north of Dvetnemouth and near Garbunovka were repulsed.

"Front of Archduke Charles Francis—In the Carpathians the Russians made a simultaneous attack along the whole front between Smotyrich and the Golden Bystritsa. They were repulsed everywhere with the heaviest losses by our gallant troops under General von Contas."

UTILITIES QUIZ TO BE HELD AT CHICAGO

Federal Inquiry Scheduled to Open in That City on Nov. 20.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Senator Newlands, of Nevada, chairman of the senate committee on interstate commerce, announced in an address before the Chicago Association of Commerce at Hotel La Salle yesterday that Chicago will be the seat of a thorough investigation of government ownership and control of railroads, telegraph lines, express companies, river and ocean transportation, and other public utilities, beginning November 20.

The investigation will be in accordance with President Wilson's recommendations to congress and will be conducted largely from Chicago. It will be searching in scope, Senator Newlands said, in fulfillment of the president's desire that the questions be given the fullest possible survey and inquiry, as thorough as that which led to the enactment of the federal reserve banking law.

The senator stated it is the purpose to invite all interests involved to appear and express opinions regarding regulation and administration of properties.

Reorganization of the interstate commerce commission, Senator Newlands stated, will be considered. Investigation will be made of whether its jurisdiction should be confined to questions of discrimination and rates, relinquishing its jurisdiction over other matters, such as valuation and safety inspection, to some other body or bureau. Another suggestion to be considered will be the feasibility of increasing the number of commissioners.

An important question to be considered is whether any regulation of wages and hours of employes of common carriers is advisable.

FT. WAYNE MAN IS PRESIDENT

Sam W. Greenland Heads Indiana Electric Light Men Ensuing Year.

ANNUAL SESSION IS BIG SUCCESS

State Organization May Affiliate With National Association.

Sam W. Greenland, general manager of the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company, was elected president Thursday afternoon at the closing session of the Indiana Electric Light association at the Hotel Anthony. Thomas Donahue, of Lafayette, on account of his untiring efforts and efficiency, was re-elected secretary and treasurer. J. P. Ohmer, of Elkhart, who served as chairman of the membership committee during the past year, was chosen vice president.

The question of the state association becoming affiliated with the national organization was referred to a committee for further investigation with power to act during the coming year. The executive committee at a meeting to be held during the year will name the convention city for 1917.

The Wednesday afternoon and Thursday morning session were taken up with the discussion of new business policies. The one which entertained the liveliest and most lengthy discussion was the "Use of Electrical Ranges." A special committee submitted the report that during the past year the various companies represented made a very large increase in the sale of electrical ranges. Arrangements were made for a vigorous campaign to be waged along these lines

HUGHES WILL SPEAK IN PALACE THEATER

Candidate Will Also Talk from Platform Near the Pennsylvania Station.

Charles E. Hughes, republican candidate for president, will deliver two addresses in Fort Wayne on the afternoon of September 21. He will not speak at League park as was originally planned. Instead, immediately upon his arrival in the city, he will be taken from his special train to the Palace theater. After he has finished there he will be taken to a platform to be erected near the Pennsylvania station, where, it is estimated 10,000 to $15,000 people will have an opportunity to hear and see the presidential candidate.

Mr. Hughes is expected to arrive in Fort Wayne over the Wabash at 3:15 p. m. and will be here an hour and ten minutes, Leaving over the Grand Rapids & Indiana railroad for Richmond, with stops at Decatur, Portland and Winchester.

Byron H. Somers will preside at the meeting at the Palace theater. Robert B. Hanna, in charge of the arrangements, has received word from Prof. Fairfield, republican candidate for congress from this district, that he will be here. He will speak at the Palace theater prior to the arrival of Mr. Hughes.

The republicans are planning for a big day. There will be bands galore and no end of enthusiasm.

All in Readiness for Marshall Notification

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 14.—Vice President Thomas R. Marshall will be notified of his renomination on the democratic ticket tonight. Prominent democratic leaders, including National Chairman Vance McCormick, were to arrive here today and preceding the notification ceremonies, it was planned for them to attend political conferences and receptions.

The program as arranged calls for addresses by J. A. M. Adair, democratic candidate for governor of Indiana; Frank Wolfen, of Indianapolis; and Martin [illegible] of New York. Mr. Glynn is to deliver the notification address, after which Mr. Marshall will accept formally the nomination. Preceding the speaking there will be a parade.

Telegrams received last night from the national headquarters of the party indicated that about forty of the fifty-three members of the notification committee will be present and about twenty members of the national democratic committee. Arrangements have been made to take as many of the visitors as care to go and who are not at conference, on an automobile tour of the city.

Ft. Wayne Amateur Team Badly Handled at Aboite

"I'll tell you if you don't tell anybody else," has again worked its contumacious charms and an incident of last Sunday has come to light, although the names of the interested parties have been kept secret.

The setting of this story is a rural one. Out in an open field near Aboite station an amateur baseball team hailing from Fort Wayne and a team composed of farmer boys, were engaged in a game of ball. There was a five dollar side bet and the money was left in the hands of a stakeholder who was supposed to have been a Fort Wayne personage. At least so the Aboite boys thought. The Fort Wayne players were of the opinion that the stakeholder was a man of the community in which they were about to put on an exhibition.

The umpire working under difficulties of a howling mob and under the [illegible] were [illegible] ered to see their favorite sons win the five "bucks." They controlled their tempers until the umps tried to get through with a "raw" one and then they did object. In fact, they objected so strenuously that they declared the game would have to be called on account of the umpire's poor eyes.

They started to look up the man who had been appointed stakeholder but during the excitement of the game the aforesaid stakeholder made his exit. The conclusion on the part of the rural folks was that the man with the money was one of the fans of the Fort Wayne club and at once demanded that the money be turned over. The Fort Wayne boys were innocent so they stated but were not successful in persuading their opponents that they were.

The facts of the case were one hundred against fifteen or twenty. The final result was doctor and dentist bills [illegible]

EACH VICTOR HAS 100,000

Dunne and Lowden Pluralities in Illinois Almost Identical.

HARD FIGHT CERTAIN OVER GOVERNORSHIP

Lorimer is Beaten, But Uncle Joe and Mann Are on Hand as Usual.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—One of the hardest fought political campaigns in the history will be waged between Gov. Edward F. Dunne, democrat, and former Congressman Frank O. Lowden, republican, nominated for governor yesterday by the democrats and republicans respectively, it was predicted today. Both rolled up pluralities of approximately 100,000 over their nearest competitors in the nomination race, according to returns available early today. Both are veteran campaigners.

Governor Dunne defeated William B. Brinton, of Dixon, a manufacturer, who had the backing of Roger Sullivan. Dunne won Cook county by approximately 60,000 and had a plurality of about 9,000 in one-third of the down state precincts. Lowden won in Cook county by about 30,000 and down state by that plurality. Morton D. Hull and Frank L. Smith, his opponents, ran close together.

Defeat of Wm. Lorimer for congress from the Sixth Illinois district seemed assured early today, although returns were incomplete. Arthur W. Fulton had a plurality of 1,000 over the ousted United States senator, who made a determined fight to win the support of his old congressional district.

Medill McCormick, former progressive, and former Senator Wm. E. Mason, were nominated by the republicans for congressmen at large, according to returns received up to 5 a. m. Congressman at large B. M. Chiperfield, however, was running Mason a close race.

The democratic nominees for congressmen at large are William E. Williams, of Pittsfield, incumbent, and Everett Jennings, of Chicago. James R. Mann, republican house leader; "Uncle Joe Cannon, Martin B. Madden, George H. Foss, Ira C. Copely, Frederick A. Britton, Charles E. Fuller, John C. McKenzie, Edward J. King, John A. Zearling, Wm. B. McKinley, Loren E. Wheeler, Wm. A. Rodenburg, Thomas S. Williams, Edward E. Dennison and Wm. W. Wilson were renominated for congress by the republicans. James T. McDermott, democratic congressman, was defeated by Charles Martin, an alderman of Chicago.

Democratic congressmen renominated were Adolph J. Sabath, James McAndrews, Frank Buchanan, Clyde H. Tavenner, Claude U. Stone and Henry T. Rainey. Several others were in doubt. Lieutenant Governor Barrett O'Hara, leader of the Illinois vice commission, which gained nation-wide publicity, apparently has been defeated for renomination by Henry W. Puttman, of Chicago. The republicans nominated John G. Oglesby, who served as lieutenant governor for several terms. A close race developed between Edward J. Brundage, of Chicago, and Richard J. Barr, of Joliet, for the republican nomination for attorney general. The result still is in doubt as is the race for state auditor on the republican ticket between State Treasurer Andrew Russell and Homer J. Tice, of Greenview. James J. Brady, present state auditor, was renominated by the democrats. Arthur W. Charles is the democratic nominee for state treasurer and Len Small, of Kankakee, the republican nominee for that office.

With Cook county complete and returns from 1,887 precincts out of 2,973 down state, compiled, Col. Frank O. Lowden received 161,141 votes for the republican nomination for governor in yesterday's primary. Morton D. Hull ran second with 91,788 votes and Frank L. Smith received 64,640.

On the democratic side Gov. E. F. Dunne for governor received 108,486 votes in Cook county complete, and 1,335 precincts down state; W. Brinton, 48,498, and James Tranor, 14,474.

EPIDEMIC AGAIN GAINS.

New York, Sept. 14.—The report on infantile paralysis for the 24 hours ending at 10 a. m. today shows an increase over the low record of the previous day. There were 36 new cases and 11 deaths as against 31 new cases and 9 deaths for the day before.

HOSPITAL ATTACHES HAD BURNED CLOTHES

Case in Police Court Postponed Because Witness Was Garbless.

Edward Johnson, 35, could not appear in police court, Thursday morning, to prosecute his case against John Quigley, Robinson circus employe, because Johnson has no clothes to wear. All his garments, which were blood soaked from the assault Quigley is charged with making upon him, have been burned at the hospital, where Johnson is confined.

The case is set for next Monday and Court Bailiff Eisenhut will obtain raiment for Johnson in the meantime. Johnson is improving from a fracture of the skull and other wounds inflicted by a heavy stick. Quigley posted bond in the sum of $200 and Johnson is held under $50 and the added surety of being clothesless.

Attorney for Quigley says the defendant in the assault case will be in court Monday, although he will have to travel across the greater part of Illinois to be here. Quigley is trainmaster for the circus and Johnson was one of the helpers with the big show. The assault is said to have followed an argument about the placing of the show train for loading last week. For a time it was feared that Johnson would die from wounds inflicted.

Train Riding Must Stop.

Judge Kerr issued an ultimatum to the "knights of the road" Thursday, to the effect that they will work on the Allen county roads if they persist in trying to migrate through Fort Wayne by the medium of passenger trains. It is not so bad for the "sons of rest" to travel in box cars but they do not blend well with the respectable atmosphere of passenger trains, Judge Kerr says.

William Williams, of Kansas City, who had been removed from a Pennsylvania passenger train, will be held for trial, Friday. Guy Survain, who showed that he had employment awaiting him at Kansas City, and who promised to take a freight train out of Fort Wayne, was released.

An Ungrateful Son.

Wesley Waters, 432 Fairmount Place, made Carl Elberson, 21, leave his house last February because Carl abused his mother, Mary Elberson, who rooms there, Waters told in court Thursday morning. The Elberson youth came to visit his mother, Monday, and Waters struck him, it is charged. Elberson displayed a bruised lip to Judge Kerr. Unwilling to decide the case on testimony of the pair, Judge Kerr ordered Mrs. Elberson brought into court, Friday.

Other Police Court Cases.

James Gephart, who attacked John Robinson, 77, Wednesday, while Gephart was intoxicated, was fined $25 and costs on a drunk charge. Other penalties for intoxication charges were Mike Kern, $5 and costs, and Fred Welty, $5 and costs.

Denies Making Alleged Remark on Submarine Warfare.

Berlin (via London), Sept. 14.—The American ambassador, James W. Gerard, again is under fire in a section of the German press, this time for a remark attributed to him regarding a speech made recently by Dr. Gustav Stresemann, national liberal member of the reichstag, advocating, among other things, a resumption of the submarine warfare.

Ambassador Gerard is quoted as saying he did not understand how the representatives of districts for which export to America was a vital question could advocate ruthless submarine warfare.

The national liberal press agency, in a communication to the newspapers, takes the ambassador to task for what is termed "unwarranted intervention in a purely German question," and says the ambassador's remark is characterized by "that naive presumptuousness which believes that the decision affecting Germany's political future will be dictated by Germany's American export interests."

The agency declares Ambassador Gerard would do better to leave to the responsible German authorities the decision on what use is to be made of the means at their command against England.

The statement adds:

"The art and manner in which Ambassador Gerard—and not for the first time—looks after British interests, is extremely characteristic of his general attitude."

The American ambassador, in reply, says he never heard of Doctor Stresemann's speech, and certainly never made any public utterance of the nature attributed to him. His attitude on the submarine issue, he declares, is based on pro-American, not pro-British, motives.

COTTON CONSUMPTION HIGHER.

Vast Increase for August Over Figures for Year Ago.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Cotton used during August amounted to 558,717 running bales, exclusive of linters, and for the year ending July 31st, 6,397,613 bales, the census bureau today announced in August a year ago 464,392 bales were used, and during the year ending Aug. 31, 1915, the quantity was 5,597,362 bales. Cotton on hand Aug. 31, in consuming establishments was 1,359,380 bales, compared with 1,165,851 a year ago, and in public storage and compresses 969,304 bales, compared with 1,721,404 a year ago. Active spindles numbered 32,399,406, compared with 31,064,419 a year ago.

PURDUE BATTERY NOW ON ITS WAY HOMEWARD

Artillery With Fort Wayne Men in Ranks Leaves Llano Grande.

Llano Grande, Tex., Sept. 14.—Battery B, Indiana field artillery, composed largely of Purdue university students and instructors, bade farewell to the Llano Grande camp and the 'magic valley," the natives talk so much about, shortly before 2 o'clock yesterday morning. The Purdue men are aboard the same train which is carrying away the Minnesota university battery and they are to travel together as far as Houston, Tex. The Purdue men had been expecting to entrain since 6 o'clock on Tuesday morning, but they were forced to wait all day and most of the night before the Pullmans arrived.

They gathered along the railroad at 7 o'clock in the evening with the expectation that cars would arrive at any minute, but the railroad company failed to make good. Maj. Robert H. Tyndall addressed the men briefly at 9 o'clock while they stood in the moonlight at the railway station.

He said he was sorry to lose the battery from his command, but he expressed appreciation for a good showing made by the battery while in the service.

"These men who accepted gracefully every task placed before them and who played the soldier game fair and square will go through life making good," said the major. "While those who found fault with everything probably always would be fault finders."

Major Tyndall was applauded by the men when he bade them farewell. There was no cheering throng when the Purdue men left their quarters and marched to the railroad track. Men of the other batteries allowed them to go away in silence. Earlier in the day the men of Batteries A and C had paraded through the company streets singing "School Days," but they remained in their quarters when the Purdue men started to the railroad track to begin on a long wait for the train to arrive.

General Lewis is expecting Battery D to be ordered to this camp, though he is without information as to when it will be ordered to entrain. Battery D surely will consider that it is in luck when it arrives here because it will find camp already made. Even the Battery B tents have been left standing. The new battery will miss all the discomforts of making camp in a new country. Battery A and Battery C will have the care of 120 horses left behind by Battery B until the arrival of Battery D.

NEW PENSION LAW TO AID INDIANA WOMEN

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—Several thousand Indiana women will benefit by the action of the congress in its closing days in increasing a widow's pension from $12 to $20 a month. The pension bureau is unable to say how many Indiana widows of soldiers now are drawing the $12 rate, and it has no means of knowing how many are entitled to a pension and have not applied for it. It does know, however, that in view of the fact that the death rate among veterans of the civil war has been large for several years, there must be a great many women who will be entitled to the new rate.

The bureau announces that if a widow now is on the pension roll, it will simply be necessary for her to fill out a circular blank, which the pension office will supply, to obtain the increase; or she may write to the pension bureau, inclosing the certificate on which she draws her present pension and soldier's name and service and date of birth. If she is a remarried widow, or is not on the rolls at the present time, she must make a formal application for a pension in order to benefit under the new law. The new law is effective now.

POPE MAKES A NEW APPEAL.

Rome, Wednesday, Sept. 13.—(10:55 a. m.)—In view of the recent aerial bombardment of Venice, Pope Benedict has renewed to Austria-Hungary his recommendation that during the war, churches, monuments and art treasures be spared. This wish of the pope will be urged also by Monsignor Valfredi Ponzon, a prelate well acquainted with high Italian personages, who will soon go to Venice as papal nuncio.

Monsignor Ponzo will fill the vacancy caused by the elevation of Monsignor Scapinelli to be a cardinal.

Varsity Fifty Five

One name---many models

THE same general style-idea appears in many of these smart suits for young men, known as the Varsity Fifty Five models; but there are different variations of this idea.

It may be in the treatment of the pockets, or the back, or the sleeves, or the front; may be a difference in the waistcoat or in the shaping of the trousers.

But they're all Varsity Fifty Five; many styles under one name.

We'll show you a lot of them; you'll find the one that suits you.

Paper by C. B. Hart.

The paper of C. B. Hart, of Fort Wayne, on "The Spark Plug of the Electric Industry," was read at the morning session Thursday. A lively and interesting discussion of the paper followed. The purpose of the paper was to present without unnecessary detail the prominent part the sales and new business department has in the development and success of the central station which today is the principal outlet for electrical apparatus. "Inductive Interference and State Regulation of Pole Lines," a paper by E. J. Condon, jr., and W. H. Patterson's paper on "Development of the Central Station Power Load," were also read Thursday morning.

The Banquet.

One hundred and fifty delegates enjoyed the banquet given at the Anthony hotel, the convention place, Wednesday evening. E. J. Condon, president of the organization, acted as toastmaster. Talks were given by James M. Barrett, Fred Hunting, Sam W. Greenland and Thomas Donahue, the secretary. Following the addresses the delegates were entertained by talent from the local theaters. An informal dance followed.

They Praised the Band.

The Electric Works band rendered six selections of the latest and most popular music during the luncheon at the General Electric works Wednesday which were well received by the delegates. Comments complimentary to the band were freely expressed and when informed that the membership of the musical organization was composed exclusively of men employed at the factory, the delegates were surprised, stating that they supposed they were professional men, who did nothing but follow the musical vocation. Prof. John Verweir is the musical director of the Electric Works band and the other players, all employed at the works, are Paul Rietchy, Russell Worden, Ralph Capp, Louis Wagner, William Hoffman, J. Schmidt, Bert Glendenning, Ben Klein, W. Straus, Wit Doan, Leo Scott, George Eylenberg, Lawrence Teeple, Charles Lenz, L. McDermut, W. Nelson, Charles Horstmeyer, Charles Shieve, Bob Graffe, Pat Cahill, Thomas Cole, Joseph Waite, H. Sprunger, Fred Rapp, William Tulley, W. Ueker, L. Stewry, L. and Frank Cole and L. Goeke.

AMERICANS IN DANGER.

Safety Imperiled by Rioting Reported at Kavala.

Athens, Wednesday, Sept. 13.—(Via London, Sept. 14, 12:25 p. m.)—The British legation today informed Garrett Droppers, the American minister, that the Greeks have surrendered to the Bulgarians the last of the forts defending the seaport of Kavala, in northeastern Greece. Several of the forts were occupied some time ago by the Bulgarians. Warships of the entente allies have removed 1,500 Greek soldiers to Thasos.

Rioting at Kavala is reported and it is expected houses and shops have been pillaged. A number of Americans are endangered as is property of American tobacco c mpanies to the amount of more than $2,000,000. No ships are permitted to remain in the harbor.

M. Dimitracopulos has asked King Constantine to allow him forty-eight hours in which to consult his friends before deciding as to whether he will undertake the formation of a new cab-

M. Dimitracopulos is known to have declared his acceptance of the premiership will only be made on the basis that he is given full power to control the national policy. He will insist that his hands must be free to take whatever steps the present crisis calls for even to the entry of Greece into the war.

Every effort to persuade Alexander Zaimis, the aged premier, to remain in office was fruitless. His pride was wounded by the apeparance of the allied fleet off Piraeus at the very moment when negotiations had been begun for the entry of Greece into the war. The arrest of Austrans and Germans in Athens by French and British agents and the invasion of the French legation by the Russians, who fired shots there, taken in conjunction with the continual discord in the face of a great national crisis, completely discouraged the entire cabinet. The result was not only to precipitate the retirement of the Zaimis ministry, but to bring to a standstill and possibly even to end all discussion of departure from neutrality by Greece. "I hope the entente now sees where its policy of trying to force matters leads," a prominent Greek official, with sympathies for the entente, said to the Associated Press today. "The moral effect of Greece's entry into the war with the allies unquestionably would have been a shortening of the war by many months. Without a figure like Zaimis to conduct the negotiations there is scarcely a ghost of a chance that this can be arranged. God knows nobody in Greece has opposed entry into the war for the last fortnight."

King Constantine, however much he may be annoyed by the delay in settling relations of Greece with the entente, is seeking a premier who will hasten arrangements to depart from neutrality.

HAVE REACHED COMPROMISE.

Hungarian Premier and His Foes Come to an Agreement.

Berne, Switzerland, Sept. 14.—Wireless dispatches from Budapest announce that a compromise has been reached between Premier Tisza and the leaders of the opposition. The premier has consented not to adjourn parliament before the end of the month and the opposition leaders have agreed not to criticize the military authorities but only the administration and its foreign policy.

Count Julius Andrassy, former premeir and leader of the opposition, precipitated a crisis in the Hungarian parliament on Aug. 24, when he announced that he would no longer respect the political truce effected at the outbreak of the war and would resume criticism of the government. It was reported at that time that the developments in the Balkans had brought a demand from the opposition for a coalition cabinet and within the last few days it was reported that this had been agreed upon.

GERMANS ATTACK STRONGLY.

Paris, Sept. 14.—The Germans made vigorous efforts last night to drive the French from territory captured recently on the Somme and Verdun fronts. The war office today announced the results of several assaults near and south of the Somme and east of the Meuse at Vaux Chapitree wood.

RUSSIANS CHECKED BY TURKS.

Constantinople, Sept. 14.—Turkish forces have checked the Russian offensive in the Ognott sector of Turkish Armenia, according to a war office statement dated Sept. 12. The Russians have suffered heavy losses in fruitless attacks, declares the report.

servant' contracts. We call that slavery. We want to be free."

Five trolley cars came together today in a series of rear-end collisions on Westchester avenue in the Bronx and ten passengers were injured, one seriously. The accidents occurred at the foot of a steep incline and the car crews, who said they were strikebreakers, claimed the rails had ben greased so that the brakes would not hold.

Mayor Mitchel Has No Plan.

Mayor Mitchel admitted that he had no plan which promised any settlement of the strike. Suggestions to grant a franchise to a motor omnibus company or to ask the governor to call a special session of the legislature to enact compulsory arbitration law were rejected by the mayor.

Officials of the transit companies persisted in their refusal to submit the side of the dispute to arbitration and asserted that the service of the surface lines is being increased daily by the employment of strike breakers. Nevertheless the elevated and subway lines and steam transportation between Manhattan and Westchester continue greatly congested.

Despite the maintenance of regular schedules on the subway and elevated lines of the Interborough Rapid Transit company and the gradual restoration of service on the surface lines, leaders of the striking street railway employes declared today they were far from being defeated. They hinted that the danger of a sympathetic strike is not yet over.

Following a parade and demonstration by the strikers, the question of a "sympathetic" strike will be discussed at meetings of the Central Federated unions of Brooklyn and Manhattan. Strike leaders predict that resolutions favoring a strike among trades allied with the street railway employes will be adopted. Whether the strike will actually take place, however, will depend on the individual votes of the union, it is asserted. Traction officials announced today that service in the subway and on the elevated roads was better than normal while service on most of the street car lines was from 25 to 40 per cent below normal. The railway companies say it is no longer necessary for them to hire strike breakers, claiming that hundreds of their former employes have returned to work.

MARYS TO HAVE A PICNIC.

Noblesville, Ind., Sept. 14.—Arrangements are being completed for the second annual picnic of Marys to be held here Saturday afternoon, September 23, on the lawn of the Second ward school. There were more than 200 Marys in attendance last fall at the first meeting of the kind ever held in the state. Many counties were represented and a large number were present from Indianapolis. Notices are being sent out over the state and it is expected that the attendance this year will be greatly increased. Many souvenirs will be awarded, among these being a gift for Mary coming the farthest to attend the meeting. The marigold is the chosen flower for this unique gathering. The invitation is extended to every one whose name is Mary.

GEN. WILDER SAYS FAREWELL.

Frankfort, Ind., Sept. 14.—Members of the Wilder brigade Reunion association who are here attending the annual reunion, were affected greatly at the closing session by the farewell of General John T. Wilder, who was commander of the organization during the civil war when it gained fame in the union army. Tears coursed the cheeks of the veterans as they shook hands with him and heard him declare that he did not believe he would be able to attend another reunion. His home is in Tennessee.

Officers were elected. Richard C. Clark, of Frankfort, was re-elected president and W. H. H. Benefiel, secretary. The selection of the 1917 meeting place was left to a committee including

The blaze first was discovered shortly after noon, but it was extinguished. Several hours later the fire broke out again and last night it was said the building will be a total loss.

PLANNING TO MEET COMMERCIAL NEEDS

Wilson Maps Out Program to Be Followed if He is Re-Elected.

[By Gilson Gardner.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—President Wilson is about to announce plans on which he has been at work for meeting the commercial needs which may result from the close of the war and for general governmental aid to business. If elected, he intends to use his influence to secure the following legislative and executive program:

1. A revision of the tariff along lines recommended by the non-partisan tariff commission to meet the altered commercial needs created by the revised tariffs of warring powers and the pressure likely to be applied by new commercial alliances. The president's tariff policy admits a reasonable amount of protection and due consideration of revenue.

2. Organization and extension to foreign countries of the credit machinery of the United States of which the federal reserve system is the present nucleus. The United States has become the great lending and owning nation of the world and this pre-eminence involves dangers and responsibilities which must be met by legislative and executive action.

3. Organization of American industries by means of cartels, or federal incorporation, for the purpose of more successfully competing in the foreign markets of the world. This policy, now urged by the federal trade commission, involves a departure from the Sherman law's sweeping ban on all co-operative organization. The president's idea is that size shall not be regarded as a menace and that regulation shall curb improper practices in domestic markets, while combination enables the business men of the United States to get their share of the world's trade.

4. Development by the federal trade commission of a uniform system of accounting and cost keeping for the use of private business.

5. Developing and improving transportation facilities on land and water. For the latter purposes the new law authorizing the government to purchase $50,000,000 worth of shipping and put the vessels into commercial service is the first step. The second step is the extension of federal aid on a large scale to the railroads of the United States. This aid is to be worked out along lines recommended by the special joint committee recently created by congress at the instance of Senator Newlands, and the lines most likely to be followed, in the judgment of President Wilson are, (a) the elimination of the present system of regulation by state commissions with their varying regulations and placing the whole railway system under the control of the federal interstate commerce commission; (b) re-financing the roads in such a way that the abuses of frenzied finance may be corrected, but at the same time money provided for adequately providing improvements and extensions.

These policies are regarded as supplemental to the enactments in the interest of labor which have characterized the recent congress.

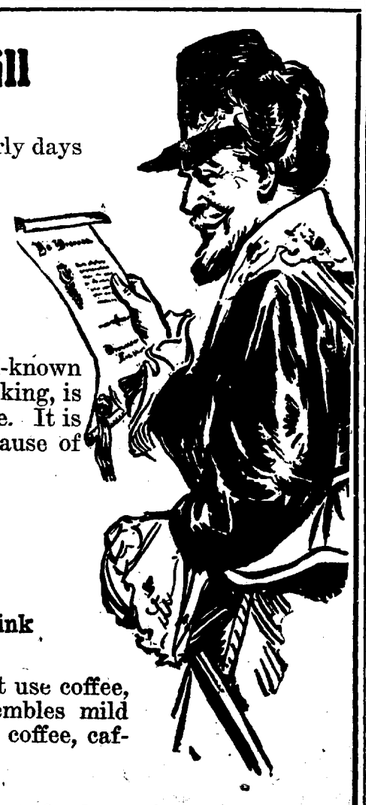
An Old English Handbill

advertised a public warning about coffee in its early days as a beverage in England. It said:



"You are not to drink it after supper unless you intend to be watchful, for it will hinder sleep for three or four hours."

That was 250 years ago. Today it is a well-known fact that sleeplessness, brought on by coffee drinking, is due to the presence of the drug, caffeine, in coffee. It is also known that coffee drinking is a common cause of various other ills.

POSTUM

was devised especially for people who should not use coffee, but who like a hot beverage with meals. It resembles mild Java coffee in its snappy taste, but contains no coffee, caffeine, nor any harmful element.

Postum is good for old and young, and can be drunk freely at any time of the day with pleasure and comfort.

3 Knowing this, that the trying of your faith worketh patience.
4 But let patience have her perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing.
5 If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him.
6 But let him ask in faith, nothing wavering: for he that wavereth is like a wave of the sea driven with the wind and tossed.
7 For let not that man think that he shall receive any thing of the Lord.
8 A doubleminded man is unstable in all his ways.
9 Let the brother of low degree rejoice in that he is exalted:
10 But the rich, in that he is made low: because as the flower of the grass he shall pass away.
11 For the sun is no sooner risen with a burning heat, but it withereth the grass, and the flower thereof falleth, and the grace of the fashion of it perisheth: so also shall the rich man fade away in his ways.
12 Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him.

The State's Expenses

A good many very excellent gentlemen who display reasonableness and absolute sanity of judgment in pretty much everything else fly off at an amazing tangent in their criticism of the course of their political opponents. They are apparently determined that the rules of fairness which they apply in their appraisement of ordinary matters shall not be used in the consideration of anything which has even remotely to do with the attitude or the accomplishment of those with whom they do not agree in political matters.

Something of this sort is now plainly in evidence in republican attacks which are being made on democratic state administrations in Indiana in the matter of state expenditures. They line up side by side the sum total of state expense under republican administration years ago with the amount now needed to carry on the state government, and, spurning the suggestion that an analysis should be made to discover what new service of benefit to the people is being rendered, what lawful obligations are being paid, how much of old indebtedness is being wiped out or what measure of increased return the people are enjoying, simply and summarily proclaim the contrast as unanswerable evidence of wanton waste, extravagance and shameless profligacy.

The Sentinel does not believe the thoughtful voter is going to be misled by any such specious tactics as that. He will demand details and specifications. He will insist on being shown where there has been waste, where extravagance, where the state has not been receiving full value in return for its expenditures and what state governmental agency that is now serving the people can be dispensed with to effect wholesale saving, yet nothing of this sort is offered as an accompaniment of criticism. The voter wants to be told just where and precisely how the proposed beneficent legerdemain is to be applied to keep the state's expenditures going downward instead of upward when he cannot make things work that way in his own affairs and when he cheerfully agrees that he steadily demands, and is entitled to, an advancing standard of governmental service. He is concerned not so much in the volume of state expense within reasonable limits as in the fact that he is getting full and fair return for his money, intelligently expended and economically administered in the interest of the public service, whether that service be large or small. On that basis the democracy of Indiana has no fear in submitting its record for the approval of the voter.

General Carranza's commissioners at New London take infinite pains to assure us that the recent Mexican decrees affecting taxation of American-owned mining property south of the border were in no sense intended to be confiscatory, and that, as a matter of fact, the real purpose was quite as much to put in operation properties long idle as to raise governmental revenues. American-owned property in Mexico has been the source of no little of our trouble with Mexico, but General Carranza is crafty enough as a financier to appreciate that only those who possess can pay, and American owners of mines in Mexico look to him much like the real thing as possessors.

Perhaps it hasn't occurred to Mr. Hughes that a lot of his present caustic criticism of the Adamson eight-hour railroad law, given in the form of advice before the enactment of the measure, might have constituted rather more patriotic public service than do his splenetic attacks at this time. Yet Mr. Hughes was then as silent as the sphinx on this subject. The moment the rail strike was averted, however, the torrent of his criticism was turned loose on the president's head.

New York style-makers declare that present high prices of wearing apparel are not the fault of the fashions—that styles require about five years to run their natural course and that present models in most garments were in vogue before the war started. We hadn't suspected the style-maker as yet, but his haste in establishing an alibi is going to make it necessary for him to submit some corroborative evidence.

There was a lot of opposition in some quarters to government embarkation into the manufacture of armor plate, but each of those one hundred cities now engaged in a mad scramble to secure the big industry want it distinctly understood that none of the kicks came from their direction. They were the original whoopers-up for the enterprise.

Mr. Lorimer's attempt to "come back" in politics and win a republican nomination for congress from Illinois looked fine and fancy from a distance, but it evidently was not at all alluring to the folk nearer home.

The state fair which has just closed at Indianapolis, is reported to have made money this year. It is clear that wonders have not entirely ceased.

Getting Chummy With Father

THE OTHER FELLOW'S TROUBLES.

(Springfield Daily News.)

The other fellow also has troubles. You may not know what they are; in fact you are almost certain not to know what they are, but he has them, just the same. That's why all of us ought to be mighty considerate toward the other fellow.

All of which is suggested by a case in court the other day. A man who was supposed to be pretty well off as regards this world's goods, was sued for a bill which he had not paid. When judgment was rendered against him he made a statement to the court, in which he told of the losses he had sustained lately, of the manner in which his hopes had gone astray. And then he told what he was doing, and had been doing, for other people.

In the first place he had some distant relatives that had not turned out just right, and he had been endeavoring to save them. Then he had a friend who had been financially embarrassed, and he had let the friend have a good deal of money. He was educating a couple of boys that nobody suspected he was aiding, and he was himself a physical wreck and had been required to spend a lot of money trying to get well while other people supposed he had been spending it having fun at the fashionable watering places. And none of these things were known to the gentleman's most intimate acquaintances, because he had never been much of a hand to talk about his own troubles.

None of us are capable of passing upon the other fellow. We do a lot of judging, and we are pretty handy with our comments and our criticisms. But the truth is, no man knows any other man, or ever will. Each must solve his own problems; each must bear his own troubles as best he can. But all of us can be a little more charitable, all of us can be a little more forgiving all of us can be a little more helpful the one unto the other.

Unnatural History, by Eugene Ahern.

FOOTBALL.

Football used to be a game only for the brave, fearless and brainless, but in these days of maniac auto drivers and street cars suffering from acute indigestion of human beings, participating in a football game is looked upon by the poor 1916 goof as a rest.

The game isn't like it used to be. It's more modern—like the war.

In the old days when a fellow was hurt he was picked up and carried to the sidelines, and it was up to him either to live or die. But now after a scrimmage when the pile of players is unravelled like a bunch of spaghetti, and a player is found with his head three feet in the turf he is picked out with a vacuum cleaner, set on a flivver equipped with a pulmotor and operated on during the ride off the field. If he dies on the way, there's a coroner's jury and a satin-lined box with silver handles ready on the sidelines.

Don't you think the game has advanced a lot, Leopold?

COLBY ASSAILS HUGHES.

Progressive Says Nominee Has Lined Up With Reactionaries.

New York, Sept. 14.—Bainbridge Colby, leader of the progressive movement in New York and the man who made the speeches nominating Roosevelt at both national progressive conventions, issued a statement last night declaring that Hughes has made it clear since his return to New York that he has cast his lot with the reactionary element of the republican party.

"Anti-machine republicans have observed with amazement that Mr. Hughes' first political act upon his return to his home state was to effect a public reconciliation with Francis Hendricks, of Syracuse, the venerable old guard boss of the interior of the state,' said Mr. Colby.

BABY DRINKS ACID.

18-Month-Old Child Is Not Expected to Live.

Bluffton, Ind., Sept. 14.—An 18-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Stephens, who live six miles southeast of Petroleum, in Nottingham township, near the Harper schoolhouse, is unconscious and will probably die as the result of drinking a small quantity of carbolic acid. The acid was in a bottle, which had been thrown out at the home of a neighbor of the Stephens family. The bottle had been nearly emptied and was tossed out with some other trash. Some rain water collected in it and when the little girl found it there was a quantity of the diluted acid in the flask. It is supposed that she thought that he water was for her to drink, for she swallowed a good deal of it. The acid was strong enough to burn her quite severely, and she sank into a coma shortly after drinking the acid. Dr. George B. Morris, of Petroleum, who was called, holds out no hope for the child's recovery. The baby drank the poison about 10:30 this morning.

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE.

B. B. Case Shoots Self While Despondent Over Ill Health.

South Milford, Sept. 14.—Bue B. Case, age 63, a life long resident of this community, attempted suicide Wednesday at the Case homestead, five and one-half miles northwest of here, by shooting himself through the mouth with a thirty-two caliber revolver. He is now lying at the point of death with no hope of his recovery.

The bullet took an upward course, passing through the brain and lodging at the top of the head.

Despondent over ill health is attributed as the cause of the act. He has been sick for over a year suffering with cancer of the stomach. He consulted the Mayo brothers, famous specialists, at Rochester, Minn., and other specialists over the country, who informed him there was no hope of recovery and that an operation would cause his death.

TRIED TO PASS BOGUS CHECK.

Van Wert, Ohio, Sept. 14.—Patrolman J. O. Miller and Special Officer Perry arrested Roy Seldon and Edison Davis, colored, at Lima, Tuesday night for attempting to cash a bogus check at several business houses. A pair of trousers were purchased at the Van Wert Clothing company when a check for $30.50, drawn on Carey Myers, whose home is northwest of Van Wert, was refused, after which they made another effort at other business houses to have checks cashed. They also had a check on Edward Staley, of Paulding, for $27.60. The officers discovered by a visit to Myers' home that they had also taken a watch from the home which they had in their possession. The men confessed that they had got the blank checks at the Myers home.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED.

Columbia City, Ind., Sept. 14.—Mrs. Ione Warren, wife of Ben N. Warren, proprietor of the New Clugston hotel, gave a house party at their Tri-lake cottage Tuesday afternoon and furnished quite a surprise to the sixteen guests, her intimate friend, Miss Ione Ruch, being one of the number, by announcing the engagement of the last named to George A. Whitling, of Cochranton, Pa. Mrs. Warren has been aware of the engagement for some time, but it was the wish of the promised bride that the matter be kept a secret until November, as the wedding is not to occur until next spring, but the temptation was too great for he particular friend and the announcement was made in a very unique way.

HIT BY AUTOMOBILE.

Warsaw, Ind., Sept. 14.—Harriet Eakins, the eleven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Eakins, was quite painfully, but not severely injured Tuesday afternoon when she was struck by an automobile driven by a Plymouth physician. No blame is attached to the driver for the accident. The little girl was riding on her bicycle and when in front of the Charles Ker home, on East Center street, darted in front of the approaching machine and before the driver could bring the car to a stop had struck the little child. She was placed in an automobile and driven to the office of Dr. McDonald, where her injuries were dressed. Dr. McDonald was assisted by Dr. S. C. Murphy.

TAKEN FROM VAN WERT.

Van Wert, Ohio, Sept. 14.—Charles Daniels, the negro for whom the Lima mob searched after he had been arrested for assaulting a Lima woman, was taken from the Van Wert county jail by Lima officers Tuesday to be arraigned before the grand jury in Lima. Daniels had been in Van Wert since last Thursday, unknown to anyone save the sheriff and prosecutor. Following the mob scenes at Lima, Daniels was taken to Ottawa and from there to Napoleon. He was then brought to Van Wert between 12 and 1 o'clock Friday morning by Lima officers and placed in the county jail. His presence in Van Wert was kept a secret on account of the fear of mob violence again breaking out.

ARRIVE FROM CHINA.

Huntington, Ind., Sept. 14.—Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Buck, Chinese missionaries supported by the Huntington Central Christian church, from Luchow-fu, China, arrived in Huntington last evening vio Seattle, Washington, on their furlough and are visiting at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Elmer Ward Cole, of Franklin street. They will remain in this city for ten days and will be present at the Central Christian church prayer meeting this evening. They have brought with them many curios from China which will be on display in the office of the Rev. Cole. The missionaries say that their trip to Huntington across the Pacific and the western states took six weeks.

PLEADS GUILTY.

Warsaw, Ind., Sept. 14.—Ernest Burket, on Wednesday pleaded guilty to a charge of paternity filed in circuit court by Edith Miner. Judge F. E. Bowser ordered Burket to pay to the plaintiff, Edith Miner, $75 a year for five years for the support of the child. The first payment is due Oct. 1, 1916, and other payments will be due on Oct. 1 of the four succeeding years. Judge Bowser's ruling is that in case the defendant fails to make the payments he shall be committed to jail. It is said that there is practically no chance of Burket making first payment on Oct. 1, and in all probability he will be a boarder of Sheriff Huffer for some time to come.

WILL MEET AT DELPHOS.

Delphos, O., Sept. 14.—Delphos was selected over Cincinnati as the place for holding the next convention of the Catholic Knights of Ohio, according to press bulletins from Hamilton, O., the scene of the convention which closed Wednesday. J. J. Kramer, Harry Williams and John Tltenburger, who were sent from the local branch to attend the convention as delegates, left with instructions to make a bid for the convention. These delegates had the support of the delegates from the numerous surrounding villages and cities, and this fact, no doubt, accounts for their success in securing the next convention for Delphos.

FESTIVAL AT HARTFORD CITY.

Hartford City, Ind., Sept. 14.—Every factory in the city is to be asked to make an exhibit at the annual festival, to be held during the first week of October. At the meeting of the fesival committee Tuesday evening a committee composed of S. J. Farrell (chairman) and M. A. Clapper, Joe Broderick, Carl Miller, John Leonard and Harry Hill was selected to visit the managers of the plants and present the proposition. The festival committee i sto furnish the tent, or tents, in which the manufacturing exhibits are held and to care for all other parts of their stock while the festival is going on.

Portland, Ind., Sept. 14.—The Kelley schools of Wabash township have been ordered closed by order of the state board of health due to the case of infantile paralysis at the home of Alfred Cain. The case is a well-matured one, although the child has been sick but one week. The child is 5 years old and the left side is completely paralyzed. Another case across from the King home at the home of Mrs. Adam Miller has also developed. The parents of the Cain child are at a loss how the disease was contracted. State board of health officials are expected here shortly to investigate the cases.

Ten intimate friends of Miss Ruth Riker donned their prettiest gowns and met at the home of Mrs. Frank Stewart, of Hoagland avenue, this afternoon much pleased to be expected and delighted every moment of the time they were there. Mrs. Stewart in planning the affair purchased a recipe box and sent one of the indexed cards to each young woman invited, who in turn put down any toothsome recipe she chose and took it to the party. Mrs. Stewart replaced them and after supper presented Miss Riker with the handsome box with its valuable contents and closed in memories. A charming table decked in pink roses with a large colonial bouquet for Miss Riker and smaller ones so each guest was remembered were momentarily forgotten when the supper itself was being partaken of, for Mrs. Stewart, putting it mildly, is "some cook." There were a number of pretty touches, such as a large white satin bow marking the bride-elect's chair and place cards were of bridal design. The guests were Mrs. Daniel Milligan, Mrs. Helen Hipskind, Mrs. Irving Latz, Mrs. Ruskin Stoner, Miss Martha Tolan, Miss Martha Vail, Miss Florence Achenbach, Miss Irma Henderson, Miss Gladys Walker, Miss Mildred Bowser.

Miss Italia Evans and Miss Mary Evans, two cousins of Miss Ruth Evans, who is to be married later in the month, entertained over thirty young women this afternoon at the Country club. There were tables for bridge and the girls who do not play cards sewed and visited in an informal manner with those who did. A profusion of garden flowers made a lovely setting for the clubrooms and porches, and the charm of young womanhood in their pretty hats and gowns was much greater than any card game or the contents of any sewing bag. Delicious things to eat and drink were served and then the hosts for the afternoon distributed three gifts, two as prizes in the bridge game and one to their cousin and honored guest.

AT THE PALACE

THE CHARM OF COLLEGE DAYS.

All the Romance of Collegiate Life in New Palace Opening.

All the charm of college days whether in the prospect, retrospect or merely envy, is reflected in the merry musical comedy extravaganza, "Fraternity Boys and Girls," the week-end attraction at the New Palace. With Sylvia DeFrankie, the dainty singing comedienne, in the principal role and surrounded by a cast of surpassing merit, "Fraternity Boys and Girls" should prove a happy medium for the introduction of musical comedy to the New Palace 1916-17 season. The extravaganza is given in six elaborate scenes, in which every artifice of stage craft has been recruited.

The girls in the college romp have given the production a reputation for beauty. At least six of these lassies have at various times posed for some of the nation's best known illustrators. Miss Henrietta Reahms, the leader of the co-eds, is the possessor of what artists claim are the most perfect arms in America.

In the supporting cast of principals are Marjorie Young, Florence Travers, Russell Frost, John P. Morse, Harry O'Lynn and others. This production will close its engagement on Saturday evening.

" FAIR AND WARMER."

Majestic's First Big Offering of Season Friday and Saturday.

Selwyn & Company will present "Fair and Warmer", the farce by Avery Hopwood which was famous all over the country before one-half of its year run at the Eltinge theater, New York, was completed, at the Maejstic theater on Friday and Saturday with matinee Saturday.

"See 'Fair and Warmer' when it gets here," was the admonition of every New York visitor as soon as he reached his home town. Its success measured in terms of dollars and cents was unprecedented in New York. Its theater was so filled to overflowing at every performance that before it was four months old it had bettered the brilliant record of "Within the Law."

Avery Hopwood has never written anything so incessantly amusing, so adroit, so witty or so sympathetic as this tale of two innocents who tried to revenge themselves on two giddy marriage partners.

Selwyn & Company have selected an admirable cast of farceurs for its local presentation.

Additional offers of sites were made before Secretary Daniels and other naval officials today. Advantages of Rhode Island cities were urged first. The claims of more than a hundred middle western and eastern cities already have been presented.

Fort Wayne to Hear Real Grand Opera

Local Committee Makes Final Arrangement for October 12.

The announcement is now made formally by a representative of the Boston-National Grand Opera company that that big organization would appear in Fort Wayne on the evening of October 12, as agreed upon with the members of the newly formed local grand opera committee, further contained a promise to the committee that if Fort Wayne decided after the coming presentation that she wants grand opera of the highest class combined with ballet, it would be brought here annually.

The complete committee whose members have made it possible for Fort Wayne to have opera of the class that it has hitherto been necessary to travel to New York to hear, is: Maurice C. Niezer, Samuel M. Foster, F. K. Safford, W. J. Vesey, G. M. Leslie, Sam Wolf, ... M. Griffin, E. C. Miller, Dr. Maurice I. Rosenthal, Dr. H. A. Duemling, F. E. Stouder.

At the request of the local members, Managing Director Max Rabinoff, of the Boston-National Grand Opera company has agreed to present the opera "Faust" at the Palace theater with its complete production and brilliant cast of artists, including the famous Irish prima donna, Maggie Teyte; Riccardo Martin, from the Metropolitan opera; Jose Mardones, said to be the greatest living basso; Thomas Chalmers, the American baritone; Elvira Leveroni, Fely Clement, Giorgio Puliti and others.

As part of the performance, the "Valpurgis Night" ballet, that was written in the original score by Gounod but has rarely been produced in America because of the expense of a sufficiently capable ballet, will be given by the complete Ballet Russe.

Because of the importance of the engagement and because only a single performance can be given Fort Wayne this year, it is arranged that mail orders with checks will be received and will be filled in order, thus allowing opportunity for equal choice of seats to both Fort Wayne and out-of-town patrons.

TAGGART RETURNS TO GET INTO CAMPAIGN

Indianapolis, Sept. 14.—The democratic campaign in Indiana has taken on new activity with the arrival here of Senator Taggart from his summer home at Hyannisport, Mass. Mr. Taggart reached here shortly after 10 o'clock in the morning and in the afternoon he visited the democratic state headquarters in the Public Savings building, called on Governor Ralston and other state officials, took lunch with State Chairman Bernard Korbly, discussed plans for the campaign with Frank Butler, chairman of the speakers' bureau, and departed late in the afternoon for French Lick.

Senator Taggart's campaign tour is being mapped out at the state headquarters, although he will not appear as a stump speaker. He said Tuesday he is here to take orders from the state committee and will obey whatever instructions he receives from the party's headquarters.

"A good part of my campaigning will consist of going along with Senator Kern and carrying his manuscript," said Senator Taggart jokingly.

Mr. Taggart will return today for the notification of Vice President Marshall, and will remain here for some time after that date, he said.

MILE-A-MINUTE MURPHY AGAIN ACCIDENT VICTIM

New York, Sept. 14—Charles F. Murphy, the policeman who earned the nickname of "Mile-a-Minute Murphy," riding a bicycle paced by a locomotive, is in a hospital here with his left leg fractured and his left knee broken in two places. Murphy, who has had many narrow escapes from death, having been buried in quicksand, hit by an aeroplane and run over by an automobile, collided with a motor truck while on a motorcycle last night, and was thrown to the street. It was said that his left leg probably will be too stiff for riding hereafter.

Seventeen years ago Murphy won his sobriquet of "Mile a Minute" by riding at that rate on a board track between the rails of the Long Island railroad behind a train. It is said that he won 1,700 prizes as a bicycle rider.

AT THE TEMPLE.

The most dramatic play of its kind in existence, Willard Mack's "Kick In," continues to thrill capacity houses at the temple theater, as is indicated by the great demand for tickets and many inquiries at the box office. Many theater parties have featured the attendance this week. The members of the Temple Stock company are seen to such advantage in this powerful comedy drama. First-class artists comprise the troupe brought here by Manager Louis Wolford. They have won friends and admirers through their capable work.

There will be no advance for any of the splendid productions booked for the season. All are notable plays, the latest and best to be procured, and the management through Mr. Wolford, is determined to provide Fort Wayne theater goers with the best.

REFUSES TO ACCEPT CORONER'S VERDICT

Prosecutor Suspects Murder in Death of Woman at Noblesville.

Noblesville, Ind., Sept. 14. — When County Coroner Baldwin filed a report last evening finding that Mrs. Curtis Swain, who was supposed to have committed suicide Monday, came to her death by drinking poison administered by her own hand, Prosecutor Guy announced that he will not accept the report as final, but will call the grand jury to investigate the matter. The prosecutor declared he had evidence in his possession to support his theory of foul play, but declined to file any affidavits until the grand jury had completed its work.

Mrs. John Teschner, who has been in jail here in connection with the case, was released last night on the order of the prosecutor.

It was intimated that Mrs Teschner might be charged with perjury in connection with the marriage of her son, Jack Teschner, and Miss Martha Kemp, of this city, who were married Saturday in Indianapolis. Mrs. Teschner and a daughter, who lives in Indianapolis, are charged with making affidavit that Kemp and the girl were residents of Indianapolis. The girl gave her age on the marriage license application as 18 years, but it is said she is only 16. Her father, Gilbert Kemp, threatens vigorous prosecution of Mrs. Teschner.

Although Prosecutor Guy declined to reveal his evidence in the Swain case he intimated that Mrs. Swain had chided members of the Teschner family about the wedding of the son and Miss Kemp until she provoked a quarrel.

Mrs. Swain, the wife of a plasterer in Indianapolis, had been separated from her husband for some time. When her death was announced it was said that she had committed suicide because of inability to clothe two of her four children properly for entrance to the public schools.

"I know that there has been a bitter feeling between the two families for some time," said the prosecutor, "and I also know that the Teschners have made threats against Mrs. Swain. The dead woman may or may not have been drugged and then the poison forced down her throat. I don't know, but I am determined that the grand jury shall take up the matter, regardless of the coroner's report."

MRS. SMITH, AGED 83, CASTS FIRST BALLOT

Chicago Woman Exercises Right of Franchise on Birthday.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Yesterday was Mrs. Susan Smith's eighty-third birthday, and she considered herself old enough to vote. So she left her home at 1300 East Fifty-third street and cast the first ballot of her life at the polling place of the Eighth precinct of the Sixth ward. Miss Edith Swift, daughter of former Mayor George B. Swift, who was clerk of election, discovered that Mrs. Smith cast the eighty-third ballot in the precinct.

The one thing that puzzled Mrs. Smith was the duplication of the name of Charles H. Sergel, candidate for president and member of the sanitary district board. One of the judges explained it to her, and she returned to the booth and voted for Mr. Sergel twice. When she was in the polling place Arthur S. Hennessey wanted to know why Roger Sullivan's name wasn't on the ballot.

"My dear," said Mrs. Smith, going to the curtain outside of Hennessey's booth, "Mr. Sullivan isn't running this time, so you vote for some of the other nice men."

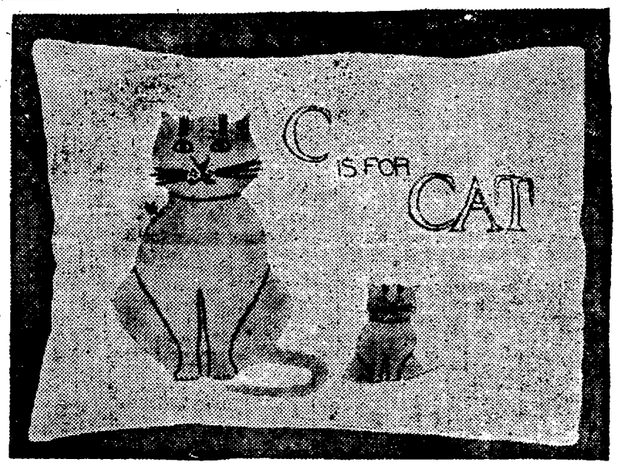
OF INTEREST TO WOMEN



BABY'S PLAY PILLOW

HAVE you ever noticed how much enjoyment a baby just crawling about or able to walk a little gets from a pillow of some sort? If not, then you must give your baby a pillow like the one pictured on this page and watch him play with it. And after he has played with it watch him go to sleep on it!

Make this play pillow of natural colored linen and let it be at least eighteen inches long by twelve wide when finished. Cut the mother cat and her kitten from dull blue linen or chambray and applique them to the linen slip, using tiny invisible stitches. Fill in the eyes with yellow embroidery cotton and outline them in black, making black centers. Then, still in outline stitch, make nose, mouth, whiskers and eyebrows on both pussies, outlining also the front legs.

Embroider the "C is for cat" in any convenient, simple stitch, the letters on the pillow shown being outlined in black and filled in with seed stitches in blue. Make a few buttonholes along one end of the slip so that the buttons will come on the inside and not hurt tender little faces, and your pillow slip is done.

After a soft pillow has been put in this cover you will find that it will become a most prized possession, so easy for small hands to gather up and so easy for small bodies to fall on!

Rabbits, front view, with upstanding ears, pink eyes and a fitting sentiment attached would make another cute pillow. Cut the bunnies from brown linen and applique on the tan.

This pillow might be found useful also in making a long train trip where a tiny child was to be taken along. It is not much trouble to make, is washable and an original idea for a plaything. Therefore, all lovers of small children take heed!

THE SLEEP-WALKING CHILD

THE child who walks in its sleep is always the subject of considerable anxiety on the part of its parents. Neighbors and friends are never wanting who are ready to recount stories of accidental falls and serious injuries which have occurred within their knowledge as the result of the sleep-walking habit. It is a fact that while sleep walkers seem to live more or less of a charmed life, yet accidents do occur, and sometimes a bad bump or a painful fall awakens the sleeper with an uncomfortable fright.

As a usual thing, those who walk in their sleep have very active minds, which fabricate dreams calling for action. Sometimes the subconscious mind of the sleeper retains vivid waking impressions, which are acted upon during sleep. Perhaps this dormant suggestion takes the form of a dream which is so realistic that the sleeper arises without hesitation to do the thing or to go to the place the dream indicates.

Another cause of sleep walking is indigestion, which causes restless sleep. Clearly the sleep-walking child should have a carefully guarded diet, and be given an especially light supper. Children who have very active minds should live a quiet, normal life, and especially should late afternoon excitement and evening entertainments be avoided.

Annoying experiences which lurk in the background of the mind are likely to assume large proportions in the subconscious. If, for example, a child's dreams indicate a strong dislike to any person or thing or a fear, the wise mother will do all in her power to reassure her child, not only to restablish confidence and relieve the nervous tension, but to prevent the likelihood of this underlying dread leading to the danger of sleep walking.

Having done all that is reasonable in the way of providing carefully selected food, harmonious and non-exciting environments, good ventilation and the correct weight of clothing for day-time use and night-time covering, several steps will have been taken in the right direction. It is not wise to stop here, however, because some unforeseen condition may arise, causing the child to walk in its sleep at an unexpected time. To prevent accidents any and all avenues of danger should be systematically guarded.

If there are stairways down which falls may be taken, these are best closed by a locked gate or bar. Windows should be provided with screens both in summer and winter, and if necessary, arrangements should be made for loosely fastening the door of the room occupied by the sleep walker.

In one home where it was impractical to close the stairways because of other members of the family, the door leading into the room of the little girl who walked in her sleep, was fastened with a chain on the outside. The chain was long enough that the door could be opened at least a foot, permitting her to speak across the hall to her mother if necessity arose. As her room was lighted with electricity, there was small danger of fire, and in case of illness, she could easily summon help. This measure was only resorted to after she had received a severe fall which threatened serious injury.

The sleep-walking habit is frequently outgrown as the nervous tendency which it indicates is overcome, but in the meantime effort should be made to safeguard the one addicted to this habit.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

Request for Clothing

If any one has any children's clothes that they cannot use any more, would you please tell them that I need some very badly. I have a boy 4 and a little girl 2.

If any one desiring this applicant's address writes to us they may have same.

Dress Trimming

I am making a voile dress. Will you tell me of something that would be pretty to make the collar and cuffs for it. It is a Russian blouse, light blue. VIOLET.

A very fine organdie would be very attractive combined with the light blue voile, for collar and cuffs.

To Destroy Ants

Please tell me of a way to get rid of ants? They are inside the house as well as the outside. Mrs. K.

They can be easily destroyed by tracing them to their nests and pouring into them gasoline, benzine or coal oil. When using these substances remember that they are highly inflammable.

BUTTON-TRIMMED FROCK

BUTTONS are very much in favor as a trimming for fall frocks. They are offered in a variety of styles, shapes and materials. On the blue frock shown black bone buttons have been successfully used to characterize the frock. The manner in which they are used on the sleeves is a new note.

The style of the dress is exceptionally good. The apron panel of chiffon is a becoming line, being a continuation of the bib of the blouse. Theb and of satin a the bottom serves to weight the flimsy material. Observe the sleeve. It is made of the blue chiffon and on it are applied two bias bands of satin which give the effects of an oversleeve. The material is ample enough to flare and fall over the narrow cuff of chiffon edged with satin.

Georgette crepe, a material which has won a permanent place in feminine hearts, is used for the rolling collar, which gives a bright touch to the frock.

Very jaunty is the blue velvet hat ornamented with a white velvet leaf and blue ribbon.

SEPARATE SKIRTS

MANY persons object to separate skirts, but there is no cause for objection when one considers that with a separate skirt can be worn a blouse which will make a one-piece gown of the two garments.

The one-piece skirts appearing for fall are being made of satin, charmeuse, novelty taffetas, including stripes, checks and plaids. Many of the dressier skirts are made with tunics, in some cases slightly draped at the side. Others, again, are simple, being shirred on at the waist line or pleated, the pleats in many instances not being stitched.

Quite a few of the new skirts are trimmed at the bottom with velvet ribbon, with bias bands of velvet, or with bias bands of self material. Fur is also used on the separate skirt.

Among the cloth skirts are those made of broadcloth, wool velours, fine serge and gabardines. Embroidery is used to a large extent on these models, the stitches appearing around the bottom, on the pockets and on the belt. Chain-stitching is a favorite form of trimming for many models. It is usually in contrasting color and frequently is in heavy silk floss, although in many cases the stitching is done in colored wool.

Pleats are highly favored, side pleats, box pleats and cluster pleats all being called into use.

For sports wear large checks and plaids in bright colors are offered. Knitted fabrics are also popular for this purpose.

TENNESSEE TROOPS GOING.

Two Regiments Are on Their Way to Mexican Border.

San Antonio, Tex., Sept. 14.—Gen. Funston has ordered to the border today that two regiments of Tennessee infantry have been ordered to the border for duty. He intends placing them at Fort Clark, north of Eagle Pass, and several miles back from the border.

HERE'S A NEW RECORD-BUSTING FISH! FREED, TO WIN BACK MUSE.

The biggest fish ever caught on regulation tackle, which means hook and line, rod and reel. A 24-pound line was used and a 12-ounce rod, called by big game fishermen the famous "12-24 tackle."

The fish, a black sea bass, was caught at Catalina Island, Cal., most famous big game fishing banks in the world. It weighed practically a quarter of a ton, 493 pounds, to be exact, and was brought to gaff by N. A. Howard, of Piedmont, Cal., who fought the monster for an hour and twenty-five minutes.

This sets a new world's record for black sea bass. The old record stood for eleven years and, according to T. S. Manning, secretary for the Catalina Tuna club, largest anglers' organization in the world, the new record will probably stand eleven years more.

"This is the largest fish ever caught on a hook and line of standard size," says Manning. "Bigger fish have been caught off Newfoundland and in the Mediterranean, but with entirely different tackle. Hand lines were used with enormous hooks."

WHERE THE AUSTRIANS STRUCK AT NEW ENEMY

"Iron Gates of the Danube" a Most Interesting Locality.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—Ahe Iron Gates, the last great defile of the Danube in its course to the Black sea and the first point at which the Austrians launched an offensive against their new enemies, the Rumanians, is described in the following war geography, which the National Geographic society issued today:

"Contrary to the general belief of readers to whom the term 'Iron Gates of the Danube' is familiar, this famous defile of the chief waterway of Hungary, Rumania, Bulgaria and Serbia, does not derive its name from precipitous walls of rock through which the waters dash in a narrow channel, as at the Kazan defile, but from the dangerous boulders that fairly litter the river bed for a distance of nearly two miles, beginning at the once strongly fortified island of Ada Kaleh, which was captured by Hungary in 1878, and is still inhabited by a picturesque colony of 500 Turks. Opposite this island, on the left bank of the Danube, and at the mouth of the inconsequential Bachna river, which here forms the Hungarian-Rumanian boundary, is the attractive little Rumanian customs village of Verciorova, on the Budapest-Bucharest railway, 237 miles west of the latter city.

"It was not until 1890 that work was begun in a definite and comprehensive manner to rid the Iron Gates of some of its gravest dangers to navigation. In that year a Hungarian engineering company undertook the task of removing nearly a million and a quarter cubic yards of stone from the water course. Eight years after the enterprise was inaugurated the canal, which had been hewn from the solid rock on the Serbian side of the river, was ready to be thrown open to the steamers which ply the Danube from Budapest to the Black sea. The canal was designed to provide a year-around channel ten feet deep, whereas the original course of the river was not navigable for more than nine months out of every twelve.

"The opening of the waterway was the occasion for a great celebration in which three monarchs participated—Emperor Francis Joseph, of Austria-Hungary; King Alexander, of Serbia, and King Carol, (Charles I.,) of Rumania. The festivities of the day were somewhat marred by the discovery that the current through the canal was so swift that while steamers could rush through it in their downward journey, they could not make the trip upward, so that the old river course had to be used for westward-bound traffic.

"When the water is high the rocks of the Iron Gates are completely submerged, but they are only a few feet beneath the surface and the boiling, churning waves present a terrifying sight to the timid passenger as his steamer fights its way to the calmer reaches in the vicinity of Orsova(pronounced Orshova,) the first town in Hungarian territory, five miles above the rapids and a ten-hours journey by boat below Belgrade, the peace-times capital of Serbia.

"Instead of the gloomy gorge which most travelers expect to find, the banks on each side of the Iron Gates present a beautiful picture of gently sloping hills, bountifully wooded. In the early summer these woods are a fairyland of flowers and the winds are fairly weighted with the fragrance of wild blossoms in countless variety, while a short distance from the river the huntsman finds deer, wild boar, bear and other games in abundance. Enhancing the charm of the scene are the songs of myriad of birds, which make their home in the forests.

"As the river progresses eastward into Rumania, the wooded hills disappear and are succeeded by barren sand ridges."

Train Your Hair as an Actress Does

No class of people devote as much time to beauty as do actresses, and naturally no class must be more careful to retain and develop their charms. Inquiry among them develops the information that in their hair care they find it dangerous to shampoo with any makeshift hair cleanser. Instead they have studied to find the finest preparation made for shampooing and bringing out the beauty of the hair. The majority of them say that to enjoy the best hair wash and scalp stimulator that is known, get a package of canthrox from your druggist; dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and your shampoo is ready. It costs less than three cents for this amount. After its use the hair dries rapidly, with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its lustre and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth.—Advertisement.

UNIFORM LANDSCAPING FOR HARRISON HILL

The landscaping effect surrounding the three homes which are planned for the first block south of Rudisill boulevard on the west side of Harrison boulevard will be one that will add much to the beauty of Harrison Hill, the charming new addition located in the angle formed by Rudisill boulevard and Calhoun street. The entire grading, as well as all the trees and shrubbery for this whole block will be so arranged as to secure the best general effect instead of being planned for each individual home. One firm of landscapers is to have charge of the designing of the whole block, and it promises to be one of the show residential squares of the city. Details regarding this and the scores of other features which are being planned for the improvement of Harrison Hill may be obtained from Hilgemann and Schaaf, North American Building.—Advertisement.

United America Hupmobile Due Here Tonight

Telegram

Steinhart-Randall Auto Co.

The United America Hupmobile is scheduled to arrive in your city Thursday, September 14th, at 7 p. m., for the night. The purpose of this tour is to further the swiftly spreading sentiment in favor o fa closer union between the forty-eight States; and to promote closer co-operation of the individual State and the National Governments in the interest of good roads. By emphasizing the ease of travel and communication, and by an interchange of courtesies between the governors and the people of these States, we hope to contribute to the creation of a common brotherhood of purpose and of patriotism.

J. WALTER DRAKE, President,
Hupp Motor Car Corporation.

A Four-Cylinder Challenge to Sixes, Eights, and Twelves

Aside from its patriotic purpose, this tour of the United America Hupmobile offers, in my opinion, the greatest object lesson in car-value ever given the people of this country.

The Hupmobile is blazing a trail from Washington, the National Capital, to the capitals of the forty-eight States.

With no more preparation of the car itself than you would make for a day's tour, it is undertaking a 25,000-mile journey.

It is traveling a route never before traversed by an automobile.

This in itself is clinching evidence of endurance and efficiency.

Hupmobile Showing Remarkable Superiority

But even this is as nothing as compared with the remarkable demonstration of the superiority of the Hupmobile Perfected Four over all other forms of motor car construction.

The Hupp Motor Car Corporation is chiefly concerned in carrying out its purpose of cementing the relations between the people of the forty-eight States, and giving renewed impetus to the good roads movement.

But as a business man I cannot blind myself to the practical side of the performance.

I cannot put aside the proof positive which it offers that Hupmobile performance is not equalled by any car of any price or any number of cylinders.

I realize that this is a strong statement.

I purposely make it so because I am prepared, whenever called upon, to furnish local proof.

In my own experience, I have had proof in plenty. It is offered now (and I repeat it herewith) in all parts of the country.

The United America Hupmobile is adding to the burden of evidence, every day of the tour.

I am glad that this car is coming here so that I can make its visit the occasion of driving home some astonishing facts which every car owner and every possible buyer ought to know.

Why More Cylinders When Four Plus Excel?

Frequently I am asked why the Hupp Motor Car Corporation builds only four-cylinder cars.

I answer now that the reason the Hupp Motor Car Corporation does not manufacture a Six, or an Eight, or a Twelve, is that the Hupmobile Perfected Four surpasses these types in year 'round performance.

In Boston, for example, not a single multi-cylinder demonstrator will compete with the Hupmobile on Corey Hill. On the hardest grade of this double hill, the Hupmobile goes from a standing start at the bottom to more than 35 miles an hour at the top—all the way on high-gear.

The manufacturer of a well known Six has given so much publicity to a hill in New York that it is known as His Hill. But the Hupmobile beats that same Six on that same hill.

Multi-cylinder cars in Philadelphia have not duplicated the high-gear performance of the Hupmobile on the famous Tam-o'-Shanter Hill in Fairmount Park.

On the word of a former Hupmobile dealer who now sells a famous six-cylinder car, the Hupmobile out-points all the multi-cylinder cars in the deep ball-bearing sand around Jacksonville, Fla.

On Hospital Hill in Kansas City and in Des Moines, on Coon Hollow Hill, Seattle; on the Pasadena-Altadena climb out of Los Angeles; on Lookout Mountain in Colorado—everywhere the going is hard and cars fail—the Hupmobile is supreme in performance.

The Proof

Now, or any other time, I stand ready to prove the power and superior performance of the Hupmobile Perfected Four in comparative and competitive demonstration of

High-gear hill climbing.	High-gear flexibility.
High-gear pulling power through sand or mud or both.	Pick-up—from a stand and on high gear.

The Hupmobile will be demonstrated against any car, of any type, of any price, just as you choose.

No four-cylinder car is excepted; no six-cylinder car is excepted; no eight-cylinder car is excepted; no twelve-cylinder car is excepted.

An Invitation To A Comparative Test

I know that these startling statements amount to an open invitation to you to find a multi-cylinder car—of any make or price—which can compare with the Hupmobile Perfected Four; or which is willing to compete with it in performance.

That is exactly the meaning I want you to take.

And I present the invitation herewith in the form of a challenge, of which I sincerely hope you will take advantage.

Please understand that this is no mere show of opposition to multi-cylinder cars.
I have no prejudice whatever against the multi-cylinder principle.

I do not question the excellence or efficiency of good multi-cylinder cars.

I am simply laying before you the facts which demonstrate that, in every essential of motor car performance, they are not the equals of the Hupmobile Perfected Four.

And I would very much appreciate your request for me to prove those facts with the Hupmobile against any other car or cars you care to name.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Dressmakers and designers from all aprts of the country and a few from Paris and London will meet here September 18-19 to decide what women shall wear.

The assemblage is known as the convention of the Fashion Art League of America—and from this league come the styles in hats, frocks, lingeries discriminating American women wear.

Lady Duff Gordon, of London and New York, will exhibit "Fashions for the Stage" with stage beauties as fashion mannikins.

Mme. Belle Armstrong Whitney, of Paris, will have an exhibit of gowns, hats, blouses and important adjuncts she brought from Paris.

The Mrs. Vernon Castle gown has been loaned to the convention by Mrs. Castle. This gown, a dancing frock in green and gold, was designed for Mrs. Castle by Miss Elizabeth Coyne, a Chicago stenographer, in a nation-wide newspaper contest.

The gowns exhibited will represent the best dressmaking art in America. Reservations in exposition hall have been made by designers in California, Minnesota, Oklahoma, New York, Montanna and other states.

The famous Gossard trophy, the highest prize that may be conferred upon an American designer, will be awarded the exhibitor of the best group of three gowns—evening, afternoon and street frocks. Mme. Marguerite, of Chicago, is the holder of the trophy.

COURSE OF HUGHES IS PLEASING WHITE HOUSE

Gratified to See 8-Hour Day and Strike Settlement Campaign Issue.

(By Gilson Gardner.)

Washington, Sept. 12.—The white house is frankly pleased that Charles E. Hughes has accepted the eight-hour day controversy and the settlement of the railway strike as one of the campaign issues. Chairman Vance McCormick is also pleased and has telephoned his congratulations to the president. The democratic campaign committee intends to help Mr. Hughes give as great publicity as possible to this subject. They are planning to circulate what Mr. Hughes said in his speech in the south, referring to the passage by congress of the eight hour law; particularly his statement that:

"I am opposed to being dictated to either in the executive department of congress by any power on earth before the facts are known and in the absence of facts."

Also his statement:

"I stand here firmly for the principle of arbitrating industrial disputes and I would not surrender it to anybody in the country."

Opposed to this statement by Mr. Hughes, Mr. McCormick intends to circulate President Wilson's declaration that:

"It seemed to be, in considering the subject-matter of the controversy, that the whole spirit of the time and the preponderant evidence of recent economic experience spoke for the eight hour day!"

The committee calls attention to the statement by Mr. Hughes that:

"It may be very important that here and there there shall be a change in the wage scale. I know not. It is a matter for careful examination."

The committee will contrast with this statement President Wilson's accomplishments in behalf of labor, including:

Eight hour day legislation for railroad frainmen: act requiring an eight hour day in contract work for the government; eight hour day for all government workers; the eight hour law applying to women in the District of Columbia; the eight hour provision for postoffice clerks and carriers; the eight hour provision applicable to civilians engaged in the manufacture of ordinance and powder for the government; the eight hour provision as to mining of all coal to be used by the navy; the creation of the department of labor and the appointment of W. B. Wilson, former secretary of the United Mine Workers, as secretary of labor; the Clayton anti-trust act with its limitation upon the power of the courts to issue injunctions in labor disputes; the provisions for the protection of miners in the Alaska coal leasing law; the organization of the mine rescue work of the bureau of mines; the "phossy jaw" legislation to protect workers in match factories from poisoning by phosphorus; the appointment of the Walsh industrial relations commission and the printing and circulation of its valuable report; the seaman's bill; the child labor law; increased appropriations for the children's bureau, and the federal workman's compensation act.

Will Wear Black 'Till Russia Wins

Mme. Fonariova in her black costume.

Until Russia triumphs over Germany Mme. Eugenie Fonariova, noted Russian beauty and concert singer, will dress in mourning, she says.

Madame Fonariova arrived in New York in a black costume similar to the garb adopted by Grand Duchess Tatiana, eldest daughter of the czar, who took oath never to wear only black until Russia is victorious.

FIND IT DIFFICULT TO GET AWAY FROM

Crooks With Many Aliases Caught by Use of Own Initials.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 12.—What is it that chains a man to the use of his real initials when he relies upon on an assumed name to keep him from trouble or the penitentiary?

In their recognition and analysis of this fact the shrewder detectives seem today one jump in advance of the sharpest crooks.

This persistence in writing the telltale initials has been the chief factor in the use of the initials C. W. His criminals.

"Some obscure mental habit holds them to the familiar characters of their signature," explained Walter Thayer, manager of the Burns agency here. "They seem unable to get away from the letters their hands have been accustomed to form. Not even when life and liberty depend upon it.

"And even detectives are prone to use the same initials, no matter how often they change their working signatures. I find myself doing it very often.

"When we go to a strange town where we know William J. Burns is registered we often locate him through that same queer persistency in use of one or more initials in his name.

"Two notorious forgers and check men were recently apprehended largely on that account. One is Charles Walker, the 'hypnotizing forger,' who for six years outwitted the best crook trappers in the country.

W. Bower, caught by the "Initial Chain."

"Walker could not stay away from in the recent arrest of many notorious aliases were 'C. Wood,' 'C. Wade,' 'C. Weston,' 'C. Warren,' and a dozen others always with the same telltale letters. It finally proved his undoing in Shreveport, La., where he was arrested recently while trying to cash a bad check.

"Another fictitious check operator of wide notoriety, William O. Bower, recently arrested in Illinois after a varied career of crime, also owes his apprehension largely to the continued use of the same initials which made it easier to trace him.

"Deserter from the Canadian army forger, thrower and writer, Arthur Bower, while leaving his trail of bad checks, drew the net about him by continuous use of the 'W' and 'B' in his alias signatures."

Criminal history is full of testimony to this interesting psychological fact. And it is proving a big factor in running down the kings of crookdom.

TOLEDO CLERGYMAN MISSING.

Foul Play Suspected in Mysterious Disappearance.

Toledo, Ohio, Sept. 14.—Police are searching the city for Rev. W. Blazewski, pastor of the Polish National church here, who disappeared mysteriously and is believed to have met with foul play in his church.

CONSIDER NEW PLAN FOR BORDER PATROL

International Police or a Neutral Constabulary is Suggested.

New London, Conn., Sept. 14.—Serious consideration is being given by the American-Mexican joint commission to the idea of establishing some sort of an international police or neutral constabulary along the Mexican border, it became known here today.

American members of the commission were occupied today with the Mexican conferees in investigating the cause and effect of Mexican mining decrees and advising with Major General Bliss as to the military situation on the border.

There is little prospect that the joint commission will return to the formulation of a border protocol until the American members have reached a tentative agreement among themselves as to the wisest course to pursue. They will then present their ideas to their Mexican associates for general discussion. It was indicated today that questions of real estate and other taxes in Mexico as they affect American property holders will be looked into by the joint commission when its examination of the mining taxes has been completed. In the case of land tax under Carranza punitive damage is assessed against lands lying idle which American interests have complained to the state department amounted to confiscation of their holdings. As in the case of mining taxes Carranza officials have asserted that their purpose was to foster small operations and compel the abandonment of large land holdings for speculative purposes only.

Believe Forger is a Man Dressed in Woman's Attire

Following the discovery that the store of the Duke's Clothing company, 626 Calhoun street, had taken in a worthless check for $50, in addition to the Fox Brothers and D. N. Foster furniture companies, it is the belief of the police that many spurious pieces of paper have been circulated by a clever forger.

Clerks at the Foster furniture establishment report that they believe it was a young man in woman's garb who left the valueless check with them on Monday. The voice of the woman who was trading for "uncle," who she claimed to be Dr. J. E. Bickel, 560 East DeWald street, was a coarse voice, the clerks tell police. At the Fox store it is admitted that the slender blonde might easily have been a man.

The Duke's Clothing company took in the forged paper on Saturday in payment for clothing purchased. The two furniture stores accepted the worthless tender on Monday. Several other merchants were having their list of checks examined Thursday afternoon and it is thought that more of the fictitious barter is abroad. A drug merchant, who has a check similar to the one taken by the Duke company is practically assured that he is loser. Several eastern cities have been wired to identify checks given here from eastern points.

It was a young man of about 26 who sauntered into the Duke's store Saturday morning. He needed a shave but was fairly well dressed Clerks took him for a farmer. His arm was in a sling. At every move of the arm he flinched. It had been mangled in an accident, he told.

Would Return Later.

There were manners in the way the fellow picked out a suit of clothes and other furnishings amounting to $30. He would be back later in the day to pay and take home his purchases, he said.

The customer came back at7 o'clock, Saturday night. Banks were closed. He was sorry about that, he said. He presented a check from the Casualty Accident Insurance company, of Philadelphia. It was for his injured arm. The check was for $50. The cashier took the check and gave the farmer youth $20. It was learned Wednesday afternoon that no such insurance company operated under the laws of Pennsylvania.

At the furniture stores it was a charming young woman of twenty-five who picked with care several articles of furniture for "uncle" and "aunty."

She ordered them delivered. In each case she presented checks for $50. At Fox Brothers she took a $16.50 rug and the change. At Foster's she picked out a $32 cabinet and left with $18. When the articles were delivered it was found that a mistake existed. The checks were found to be forgeries. Police were notified.

Detective Sergeant Martin Rundell has been placed on the job and is making a careful study of handwriting on the three checks. He is working on the theory that all checks were put out by the same person.

WILL MAKE TESTS TO STARVE HESSIAN FLY

Princeton, Ind., Sept. 14.—The first government test in this state to eradicate the Hessian fly, the wheat pest of southern Indiana, will be made in Gibson county, beginning next week, in connection with the office of County Agent Roy R. Marshall. Two government experts from the entomology department, Dr. A. J. Mason and J. J. Davis, will conduct the work in co-operation with farmers in an area six miles square.

The method adopted is to install breeding cages covered with cloth at specified intervals over the territory. The hatching of the eggs of the pest is carefully watched and no wheat will be sown until the eggs are all hatched. Experts say the plan has worked well in other states. It demands the entire co-operation of every farmer. No wheat will be sown by the farmers in the area described until the ground is entirely clear of the insects. The life of the Hessian fly is said to be only about three days after hatching. The method is termed a starvation policy.

The wheat crop in Gibson county for the last two years has been cut more than half on account of the fly and unless some method of stopping the ravages of the insect is found, many farmers declare they must turn to some other crop.

SYMPATHETIC STRIKE AGAIN IN PROSPECT

"The match is ready," Holland said. "If nothing is done by Saturday a strike that will astonish the city will be called."

The new rates will become effective on Oct. 1. It provides for a gross rate of 55 cents a thousand cubic feet, with a discount of 5 cents a thousand cubic feet for prompt payment.

The company which now supplies the gas was merged some time since with another company, and the operation of the merged company has been handled economically, according to the commission's order. The total value of the property of the company is approximately $6,000, the order says, and the returns from the present rates have been sufficient to pay a small return on only about $3,000, the order says. SHOP AND RAILROAD NEWS

TWO MORE TO GO ON ROLL OF HONOR

Allen Hamilton and Adam Collis, Machinists, to Be Retired in October.

Oct. 1 two names will appear on the Pennsylvania "roll of honor," as a prominent federal official once called that railway company's list of pensioners. They are Allen Hamilton, recently appointed trustee of Wayne township, and Adam Collis. Mr. Hamilton is a native of Allen county and has resided here all his life. His service at the shops began July 1, 1870, when he took up an apprenticeship in the machine department. June 30, 1873, he was advanced to machinist and in that capacity he worked in the local shops up to a few months ago, when he obtained a leave of absence. eH was born July 14, 1848, and is only 68 years old. His admission to the retired list will, therefore, be through a clause which permits it when the applicant has worked a certain number of years and has applied for retirement. Otherwise employes must retire when they reach the age of 70. Adam Collis was 70 years old Aug. 26, and should have been retired Sept. 1. He was in California visiting one of his children, however, and did not call attention to the fact that he had reached retirement age. He is still out there and does not know that action is being taken to retire him. Mr. Collis was born in Cambria county, Pennsylvania, Aug. 22, 1846, and the records show that he began work at his trade in the Pennsylvania shop Aug. 1, 1882, thirty-four years ago.

VETS VERY ENTHUSIASTIC.

Pennsy Men Anticipate a Joyful Time at the Banquet.

Never before in the history of the Pennsylvania Employes' Veteran association was there as much enthusiasm and interest displayed in the annual gathering as is being displayed over the seventh annual meeting and banquet, which will be held in Valparaiso on Saturday, October 7. J. H. Hobrock, C. E. McKeehan and H. A. Philley, who compose the committee of arrangements for the meeting, were at Valparaiso yesterday to make final arrangements for the event. They report the most cordial treatment and promise of assistance of every kind from the good people of Valparaiso. At the chamber of commerce rooms, in which the business meeting will be held, the committee was informed that those quarters would be open to the vets all day and "anything else wanted and within our power to supply, will be forthcoming if we are informed of it," said one of the chamber of commerce men to the committee. The vets will leave Fort Wayne for Valparaiso about 10 o'clock Saturday morning, October 7, and will reach Valparaiso shortly after the noon hour. The program for the day includes a business session in the chamber of commerce rooms beginning at 2 o'clock. At 4 o'clock the vets will embark upon an automobile ride which will terminate at the Valparaiso university, where the banquet will begin at 6 o'clock. At 9 o'clock there will be a special vaudeville show in the opera house for the vets and at 11 o'clock the start for home will begin. The membership of the association is rapidly increasing and it is believed over 400 will surround the banquet tables in the big dining room at the university.

COLORED MAN KILLED.

Was Riding Auto Truck When a Pennsy Train Struck It.

The train which figured in the accident was the second section of eastbound passenger, No. 49, in charge of Conductor H. P. Jones and Engineer C. E. Enslen. Harris was driving the truck and it is said he paid no attention to signals from the engineer. His injuries consist of a wrenched back and some cuts and bruises in the head. They are not supposed to be serious, for he was able to walk and remained at the scene of the wreck a half hour after it happened. Blane was married and resided in Gary.

FITTING UP SHOP DISPENSARY.

The movement for a first aid hospital or dispensary for the sick and injured employes of the Wayne Knitting mills, started some months ago, has been given new life and will now be pushed along to a finish. A room in the central part of the factory plant, on the second floor, has been set aside for the purpose and will soon receive the equipment and a trained nurse installed. The dispensary will be operated upon lines that govern the operation of the shop hospital at the General Electric works.

ADD HALF-HOUR TO SCHEDULE.

The employes of the Wayne Knitting mills, who, during the heated term, quit work at 5 o'clock in the evening, making the working day only nine hours, will hereafter work until 5:30, adding a half hour to each day's working schedule. The mills are very busy and the delay in operations occasioned by scarcity of dyes and wools has been overcome. There is still a slight shortage in material, but conditions are rapidly improving and no serious trouble is looked for in the future.

TO CHANGE CELEBRATION PLANS.

It is quite likely the Wayne Knitting Mills and the employes will abandon the idea of an all day picnic in celebration of the silver anniversary of the company. The shop is too busy, it is said, to suspend operations for a day and at a meeting yesterday it was decided to make other arrangements for the celebration. The question will be definitely settled in a few days, and the committee will make announcement of the results.

Train No. 1 on the Nickel Plate was split into two sections here today, and an extra was run from here to Cleveland. The reason for the extra section was the unusually heavy passenger traffic.

SEES BOOMERANG IN NEW EIGHT-HOUR LAW

Chicago Man Believes It Will Operate Against Brotherhoods.

Mackinac Island, Mich., Sept. 14.—Samuel O. Dunn, of Chicago, editor of a railroad magazine, and who acted in an advisory capacity to the railroad presidents in the negotiations which preceded the passage of the Adamson law, suggested in a speech here last night that the eight-hour law may prove a boomerang to the brotherhoods. He asserted that the law fixes an eight-hour pay-day and not an eight-hour work-day.

Mr. Dunn's remarks were addressed to the delegates to the convention of the Railroad Signal association.

"This law," said Mr. Dunn, "does not limit the number of hours that railway employes may work in a day. It merely limits the number of hours that the railroad may require them to work before it pays them a day's wages. In other words, it fixes an eight-hour pay-day, and not an eight-hour work-day.

"It is certain that under this law, if it should be upheld, the railways would have to pay a day's wage for eight hours' work, but it is not equally obvious that the law prohibits them from paying an employe in the train service a day's wages before he has done at least eight hours' work. It says eight hours, no more and no less, shall be the standard. It would appear, therefore, that under this provision, if the railways should pay any employe a day's wage for less than eight hours' work, they would violate the law and subject themselves to its protection and penalties."

Many trainmen in passenger service, it is said, receive full pay for less than eight hours' work.

Cured His RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may and find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 94 E Marcellus avenue, Manasquan, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.—Advertisement.

ANTWERP NEWS.

Antwerp, O., Sept. 14.—Mrs. Laura Lamphere went to Fort Wayne Wednesday for a few days' visit, and will be the guest of her son, Frank, and family during her stay.

A new bell has been received by the congregation of the U. B. church, contracted for by the Ladies Aid society of the church.

Mrs. Orley Duval, accompanied by Mrs. Nolan Duval and little daughter, Nola, of Pasadena, Cal., who are visiting relatives in this locality, were visitors at Woodburn, Wednesday, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Dunderman and family.

Reed Groom has swiped the big diamond studded championship medal in the hook and line class, as he landed a carp Wednesday afternoon out of the Maumee river weighing 9 1-2 pounds.

Mrs. Florence Daniels, accompanied by her daughter, Zona, and Miss Madge Graves, were visitors at Fort Wayne, Wednesday.

All the schools of the township, including the Antwerp high school, had an all day recess Wednesday, to allow the pupils to attend the Paulding county fair.

Miss Olive Calkins is home from Toledo, where she visited her sister, Mrs. [illegible] Pio, and brother, John Calkins.

[illegible] Ely, our veteran grocerman, is confined to his home by illness, something unusual for Bruce, as it's about the first sick spell he ever enjoyed—if there is any enjoyment in being sick.

Tom Johnson, Wabash agent at Wauseon, O., was a visitor here the fore part of the week, the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Johnson.

Sam B. Harris, cashier of the Antwerp Exchange bank, is at Columbus, O., this week, in attendance at the annual meeting of the bankers' association.

Rev. W. C. Mitchell, pastor of the M. E. church, is home from conference held this week at Lima, O. His next pastorate will be at Willshire, O., his successor being G. B. Sessons. Mr. Mitchell has a large number of friends here who will regret the departure of himself and family and all heartily join in wishing them prosperity and happiness in their new home.

The Parent-Teachers club will hold its first meeting September 22 at the high school room.

A lamentable affair happened here Monday afternoon when a barn at the home of Lewis Shuster, living on Payne avenue burned to the ground, and little Louie Shuster, aged 3 years, lost his life. The family were seated in the shade of the house on the opposite side of same, and did not discover the fire until the structure was enveloped in flames, and did not miss the little fellow until some time after, and when at last it was thought he might have been in the barn and search was made that corroborated this. He was dead and his body frightfully burned. It is thought the little fellow had gone to the barn to play, and having some matches, had set fire to some rubbish which had developed flames that had cut off his escape by the door.

William Slattery was a visitor here a few days this week, having come from his home near Cecil to attend forty hours' devotional service at St. Mary's Catholic church.

W. P. Reid, who is employed at the Overland works at Toledo, was home a few days this week, on account of illness.

Miss Minnie Overman was a Fort Wayne visitor Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Snyder and little son, Donald, of Huntington, Ind., motored to this place Saturday, where they visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Mann, and family.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

HUGHES FAILING TO MEET ISSUES, CLAIM

Harry H. Hilgemann Opens Whitley County Campaign Wednesday Evening.

Laud, Ind., Sept. 14.—"It is difficult to determine following Mr. Hughes' western trip what he considers the issues of the campaign," declared Harry H. Hilgemann, Fort Wayne attorney, last evening, speaking at the opening of the campaign in Whitley county.

"The democratic party is willing to discuss any of the issues. Since his western itinerary, however, he has furnished the democrats with an issue which is rapidly becoming crystallized into the minds of the American people, namely, that at this time they must keep Woodrow Wilson and the democratic party in power.

"In every campaign the republicans have made great ado about the panic bogey telling the voters if the democrats were in power the times would be hard. It is humorous, or rather pathetic to see Mr. Hughes in the present era of unprecedented prosperity trying to make the old panic ghost walk again.

Prosperity in Fort Wayne.

"In Fort Wayne, over on Broadway, we see in process of erection the largest building in the city and this building is to be used for manufacturing purposes and will house thousands of people in their work. On all hands we see the old landmarks being replaced with fine new structures.

"In recent years I have heard a good many republican business men say that they wished the old troublesome tariff could be taken out of politics. But what do they say when they see Mr. Hughes trying to grab the old tariff issue by the neck and force it back into American politics again.

"The democratic party, progressive on the tariff as on other things, has secured information on the tariff with a view of getting scientific laws passed.

Jacob H. Schniff, eminent New York banker, speaking at a republican club banquet, said recently: 'I want to explain that nothing can stop the prosperity we now have, except a renewal of the tariff issue in the next campaign.'

Will Threaten Country.

"Standing here on holy republican ground I want to say that if you renew in the next presidential campaign the tariff agitation, you will threaten the country and show that you want a renewal of special privilege. The workingmen, farmers and others have learned that they must not be fooled longer on the tariff issue.

"Mr. Hughes is not in accord with members of his own party. He is putting himself in flat opposition to many republican bankers and financiers. He has not had the hardihood to express himself one way or another on the present currency law, by which panics are made an impossibility. Mr. Hughes has also criticised President Wilson for settling the great railroad strike, not only in the interest of labor, but for every man, woman, and child in the country."

COULD NOT DO HER COOKING.

Mrs. F. E. Hartmeister, Tea, Mo., writes: "I was affected with kidney trouble for two years. I was so bad this summer I could hardly do my cooking. I got Foley Kidney Pills and they helped me. I feel like a new person." Too many women neglect symptoms of kidney derangement. When the kidneys are not properly doing their work poisons left in the system cause weak back, dizziness, puffiness under eyes, swollen ankles, joints, and rheumatism. Dreier Drug Co.—Advertisement.

CUB BOSS DENIES TINKER IS TO GO

Declares That He Expects to Sign Joe This Fall for Next Season.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—For the steenth time this year rumors of Joe Tinker's prospective decapitation as manager of the Cubs were published yesterday, and stirred President Charles Weeghman to an emphatic statement.

"I don't know why this yarn has to be printed every once in a while," said Mr. Weeghman. "I absolutely never have given the matter so much as a thought. Joe's contract expires this year. That is well known. When the season is over and the question of a new contract comes up I do not expect to have any trouble with Tinker.

"You can say positively and absolutely that I expect to reach an agreement with Tinker for the management of the Cubs next year. I confess I have been dissatisfied at times with the way things were going on the team, but, holy smoke, that happens in every business! I have not planned to fire Joe, and I don't understand why the story is circulated so industriously."

Tinker is inclined to blame Charley Ebbets, of Brooklyn, for the year's crop of yarns concerning a change in Cub management. Joe says Charley never has forgiven him for his old Federal league activities and is trying to make it unpleasant for him. President Weeghman does not believe this.

APPROACHING.

Chick Evans, national amateur and open golf champion of the United States, attributes much of his success to his approach shots. His ability in this department is remarkable.

If he is 200 yards from the green he is almost certain to place the ball not only on the green but near the hole.

If Evans is 200 yards from the hole he plays his spoon, but under 100 yards he usually resorts to his mashie niblick. The face of this niblick is heavily corrugated and gives a back spin to the ball.

In making shots Evans always concentrates first. He has a deceptive swing in making his approach shot and spectators get the impression that he is certain to overshoot his mark.

But the champion makes allowance for the ball taking up turf in front of the ball. Hence, with the back spin the distance is always nearly perfect.

The ball lands on the green and rolls only a few feet. This pitch makes a more spectacular shot from the rolling approach.

(Another article on how Champion Evans plays will appear in The Sentinel tomorrow).

WORLD'S SERIES TO START ON OCTOBER 7

Date for Opening of Championship Games is Unofficially Set.

New York, Sept. 14.—Because of the closeness of the two major league pennant races and the resultant uncertainty regarding the contenders for world's series honors, members of the National commission are seriously handicapped in their efforts to draw up a schedule and make other arrangements for the holding of the series, less than a month away. Although the date for the opening game has been unofficially set for Saturday, Oct. 7, the fact that the commission is unable to determine at this time which clubs will participate is hampering the completion of the many details and arrangements which they wish to clear up well in advance if the series is to move smoothly once the play is on.

This problem, it was announced yesterday, will be fully discussed at Cincinnati on Friday, when the commission and the club owners gather for the annual drafting of minor league players. The situation may result, it was indicated, in the extraordinary procedure of preparing a number of world's series schedules, covering National and American league clubs which have a chance to win the right to compete in the baseball classic. Only three weeks' leeway will exist at the time the magnates meet in Cincinnati, and it has been suggested in official baseball circles that the only way to meet the condition would be to adopt this broad schedule plan, probably including Brooklyn, Philadelphia and Boston, in the National league, and Boston, Detroit and Chicago, in the American league.

Says That Last Year's Pennant Winners Are Sure to Repeat.

(By Harold Johnson.)

What teams will be in the world's series next month?

H. D. JOHNSON.

That's the big question these days. Will Brooklyn's Robins battle the Chicago White Sox; will Boston's Braves tangle with the Detroit Tigers or will the Boston Red Sox and the Phillies go to the mat again?

Everyone has a hunch but for the first time in many seasons betting on the outcome of the major league races is a minus quantity.

I pick Philadelphia in the National league and Boston in the American despite the fact that these teams which battled last October for the highest honors in baseball are struggling minus the services of Jack Barry and Bill Killifer.

On paper the Chicago White Sox present the most formidable front in the American league. But the Windy city combination hasn't delivered throughout the season in the manner that the Red Sox have performed and it must also be remembered that Barry, perhaps the most important cog in the Red Sox lineup, has been missing from several games both in the fore and latter part of the race.

Carrigan's team plays with a confidence such as reposes only in a champion. The Boston pitching staff is by far the class of the league with Leonard, Ruth, Foster, Shore and Mays able to work brilliantly in turn.

For the final invasion of the west Sept. 14 the Sox are booked for nienteen games, then speed back to their native stronghold to stage the last stand, opposing New York in four contests before ringing down the curtain with obliging athletics in a three-piece set.

The Red Sox, at home, are almost invincible and with Barry restored to the lineup should roll up a huge majority on the final swing of the circuit.

I pick the Phil because every man under Pat Moran plays the right kind of baseball. They go about everything in a business like way. There's none of the hit and miss stuff in the Philly attack or defense.

I fail to agree with critics who have called the Phils a lucky club. It has often been said the club is a one-man affair and would be a tail-ender without Alexander.

We'll grant the presence of the speckled Nebraskan is a potent factor but having glimpsed the team in action for a number of years I fail to see where there is a bad ball player in the lot.

A great manager leading a corking ball club reinforced by the most remarkable pitcher in the league—that's my close-up of the Phillies.

With Alexander enjoying the most remarkable season in his career and physically fit to work often during the closing rounds of the campaign and topliners like Demaree, Rixey and Mayer at their best, Moran should not worry over his pitching staff.

This quartet is equal to working the twenty-one games ahead of the Phils on the final drive starting Sept. 12.

The Phils will have an advantage in their final stand because they will play all except three of their remaining games in their own back yard where the home guards certainly can hit that pill.

BOWLING ASSOCIATION MEETS.

President Eddie Harkenrider, of the Fort Wayne Bowling association, has called a meeting of the representatives of the clubs at the Metropolitan alleys this evening at 8 o'clock.

KNOCKS HOME RUN WITH SKULL.

Newark, O., Sept. 14.—The Fitzsimmons team of this city, composed of amateur ball players, boasts of one real curiosity. He is Outfielder Nutter, who, so far as is known, is the only man in baseball who ever knocked a home run with his head. In a recent exhibition game with the Philadelphia Athletics Nutter lost a fly ball. It hit him on the top of the head and bounced over the fence for a circuit smash.

EXPRESSIVE LOU WINS FEATURE IN WALKAWAY

Tom Murphy's Bay Filly Takes American Horse Breeders' Futurity.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Expressive Lou, Tommy Murphy's bay filly, won the $6,000 Amtrican Horse Breeders' futurity, the feature of yesterday's Grand Circuit races, with ease. The Murphy entry led the field from startto finish in both heats and crossed the line with plenty to spare.

The real contest developed in a triangular battle between Suldine, Lotto Watts and Bingen Silk. Lotto Watts finished second in the first heat after a hard stretch duel with Suldine, Bingen Silk closing fast in the last few yards to take fourth place.

The battle for honors in the second heat produced a stirring finish. Rounding the turn into the stretch Suldine, Bingen Silk and Lotto Watts were almost on even termbs about a length behind the speeding Murphy entry. Within 200 yards of the finish Traynor whipped Suldine into second place.

Today the program includes the Governor's stake and the chamber of commerce stake, each valued at $2,000. Six races, including three events for gentlemen drivers, will comprise the card.

SPORT DOPE

In addition to the Robins another bird who has been useful to Col. Robinson this year is Poll Perritt.

The average athlete who thinks he is coming back is usually going back.

John McGraw's Giants might stand a swell chance of losing another world series if the present campaign extended to Dec. 1.

There are two kinds of iron men—those the ticket scalpers shanghai and those who pitch double-headers.

Cincinnati is the scene of the annual lemon picker's convention. Technically the powwow is known as the drafting season.

See where the national commission has put a stop to the selling of tickets to the world series games at Boston. Such measures will never be compulsory in Cincinnati.

A Milwaukee boxfight promoter begs to announce that there's plenty of life in the glove game in England. Among the live ones he mentions are Owen Moran and Bomb. Wells.

It's getting so that when Alexander is pitching the only thing required of the Philadelphia catchers is an umbrella and the bat.

The DOCTOR'S ADVICE
by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply in any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name, and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

"Mrs. P. M." asks: "May I reduce my weight without exercising? I don't have time to exercise."

Answer: Would suggest you use five-grain arbolone tablets to reduce your overweight. They are harmless and many stout people have reduced from 5 to 50 pounds.

"Webb" writes: "I am nervous, tired, restless. All my ambition and energy seem to have left me. I don't seem able to apply myself to my tasks, and my duties, instead of being a pleasure are irksome to me. I suffer with drawing pains at the base of the brain and have pains in my spine. I'm always emabarrassed, afraid and listless."

Answer: Your whole system needs a tonic. Your nervous system is in an enfeebled condition as a result of impoverished blood. Three-grain cadomene tablets will overcome this condition by bracing and stimulating the circulation and building up the worn muscles and nerve cells over the body. Avoid constipation and excesses.

"Midge" asks: "How may I round out my figure, increase my weight and be healthy and strong?"

Answer: Many people increase their weight, improve their health and vitality by using three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets with their meals. I have known very thin, nervous people to gain from 5 to 50 pounds from the use of these tablets.

"W. L." asks: "Why do you suppose I have such a sallow, pasty complexion? I think my kidneys may be affected, as I have pains in the small of my back all the time."

Answer: The pains in the back might indicate kidney trouble, and if you have headaches, your feet swell and your eyes have puffs under them, your urine scant with much color and bad odor, I would suggest the immediate use of balmwort tablets to relieve this condition.

"Spring" writes: "I have two or three boils on my face and my complexion is yellow. My eyes are dull and my tongue coated. I am very nervous and tired all thetime. Can't sleep at night, and am constipated."

Answer: Your blood and nerves are impoverished and diseased. This results from continued constipation. Get three-grain sulpherb tablets(not sulphur). They should clean your blood, and digestion and stop constipation. The boils are indication of bad blood.

"Grace" writes: "My hair is awful looking. It is dry and broken and doesn't grow any more. When I scratch my scalp a kind of white, scaly, oily substance comes off. I think it may be a kind of dandruff."

Answer: To overcome the itching scalp and make it healthy, use plain yellow minyol. The minyol will produce a beautiful, soft, luxuriant growth of hair by properly cleaning and stimulating the scalp.

"S. T. A." asks: "How may I get relief from a cold and cough, which 'just hangs on?' I am afraid it will become chronic, and I am already losting strength."

Answer: Start at once using concentrated essence mentho-laxene. You may either use this as it comes, in concentrated form, or mix it with one pint of simple sugar syrup as per directions on label of each 2½ oz. bottle. It is highly efficient in treatment of colds, coughs, etc. It opens up the air passages and relieves the system of the cold inflammation through the natural excreatory organs.

UNIQUE FESTIVAL IS SUCCESS.

Twenty Thousand Attend Public Evening Musical in New York.

New York, Sept. 14.—One of the first efforts ever made to induce the public to participate in a great evening musicale party in a city park was so successful last night that the song and light festival given by the New York community chorus will be repeated in Central park tonight. It is estimated that 20,000 men, women and children gathered on the banks of the lake in the park and joined in the singing of opera airs and familiar tunes, led by a trained chorus of eight hundred singers.

Ames, Okla., with a population of 200 persons, has seven baseball teams, or one team for every twenty-eight inhabitants. The seven nines are classified as follows: "A regular team, a second team, a third team, a kid team, a fat team, a lean team and a woman's team."

THE TWO TRAINS THAT PASSED AT THE DOCKS

A Little Incident of the War as Seen at English Seaport.

London, England, Sept. 14.—A long Red Cross train filled from end to end from one of the hospital ships lying at Southampton was pulling out slowly for its run to London.

Almost every window served to frame an outward gazing soldier in ragged, blood-stained khaki.

Near the dock gates the hospital train met another equally long train coming in, packed with fresh troops outward bound to France. Each of its windows held three men in khaki; red, lusty faces looking out over the close-cropped heads of their mates; full of eager curiosity and expectation.

For 50 yards or so the trains glided side by side in an uncanny silence. No man spoke. Dumbly the men to be tried gazed into the faces of the men tried, as they were carried past.

Suddenly a young lance corporal whose right arm was in a sling, and whose head was swathed in bandages, cried into the sunny silence:

"Are we downhearted?"

The tension snapped. It seemed that hundreds of the brave fellows coming home and going out heaved long sighs.

The music of the roar which rose from both trains was something to penetrate the least impressionable. It was only when the two trains were divided by a gap of 200 yards that the chorus died away. Pride, good wishes, comradeship were there for ears that could catch the different notes in the ringing:

"No! No! No!"

Even the weaker notes came out from carefully shaded cots hidden in the hospital train. Deep spoke to deep across the railway steels.

Four hundred pastoral calls in four weeks on new people, shut-ins, sick and those coming under the head of special cases is the record of the Rev. Frederick T. Keency, pastor of a Syracuse (N. Y.) church.

LAFAYETTE PLACE EASILY ACCESSIBLE

One of the features which is making Lafayette Place exceedingly popular among investors and those looking for a future home site is its accessibility from the center of the city. Located as this addition is, on Calhoun street, the main business street of the city, with pavement already running to the addition so that those counting on using automobiles are guaranteed an approach to it, and so that it may also be easily reached by car lines, many people feel that no other addition in the city has any brighter prospects for a rapid development. There are many additional advantages which assure Lafayette Place property developing quickly, and these will be explained by the Wildwood Sales company, Shoaff Building.—Advertisement.

Smuggling at Midnight Along the Coast of Finland

Russia Maintains Strict Embargo, but Contraband Supplies Are Taken to Caches Through Sweden Despite Vigilance of the Czar's Warships.

OFF the east coast of a headland of Sweden which projects out into the ocean where the Baltic Sea merges into the Gulf of Bothnia, 100 or more miles north of the City of Stockholm, lie the islands of the Aland Archipelago. They are almost opposite the entrance to the Gulf of Finland, whose waters wash the shores of Petrograd, and, like the Island of Sicily, which is the key to the Eastern and Western Mediterranean, the Aland Archipelago is the strategic key to the Gulf of Bothnia, to the Gulf of Finland and to the Swedish shores on the west.

Quite naturally the people of Aland have turned to smuggling. Brave hearts do not scorn profits. Successful smuggling carries tremendous monetary gains, besides offering an outlet for the hearts which still have the spirit of the old Vikings lurking deep within. The Swedish on one side and the Finns of the mainland carry on a lively trade in forbidden goods. Aland serves as the emissary of both. The Swedes are comparatively safe; they are a neutral people.

And even as the smuggling teems with romance, the work of running it down has its pages of adventure and romance and daring equally as great. The men of the navy who have been set to break up the gangs that are bringing into Russia things which the Russian Government has forbidden have not been without the glamour of stirring experiences. Even the women of the islands have been drawn into the maelstrom of the dangerous business by the trend of affairs there in Aland. This, the story of a clear-headed young Finnish girl, illustrates very well and gives at the same time a picture of the nature of the activities of the smugglers and the men sent to repress them.

Neva was the daughter of a respected and well-to-do Alander when the war broke in upon the serenity of life on the islands. She led the commonplace existence of a woman whose life was circumscribed by the limits of the archipelago with an occasional trip to the mainland. She was tall, strong, a Northern Diana. Courage and character rather than mere feminine beauty marked her face.

When the war began a cruiser of the Russian Baltic fleet was ordered to patrol the Aland Archipelago, with the purpose of stopping the smuggling and preventing any enemy activities or propaganda to disturb the slender loyalty of the Finns. The cruiser was, of course, among Russian subjects, and, after its arrival, its crew, or at least the officers of the ship, were not long in making friends with the officials and more prominent inhabitants of the islands.

Long intervals of comparative idleness coming in between times of hard work were passed in social diversions. The officers were feted by the people of Taergriv, where the ship was anchored when not engaged in active patrol work, and, in turn, the officers gave parties on board the ship. War is not all grim killing.

It was on one of the social events at which the officers of the ship were present that Neva met Lieut. Kurganeff of the imperial navy. The two young people were frequently brought together through the means mentioned, and soon the big-shouldered and impressive officer had won completely the heart of the young Finnish woman.

The romance flourished while the Russian lieutenant was present to pay his court to the sturdy, beauty girl. And when his ship was off in the islands the potent charm of his attractions worked just as well. When the ship was away, Neva was accustomed to cross the island upon which her home was located and climb to the highest elevation there so she could catch a first glimpse of the returning cruiser and wave a greeting to her lover, which he usually answered with his revolver—the smoke of which the girl could see, although she did not always hear the shot.

Once, when the cruiser was on one of its missions around the archipelago, Neva set out for her natural observation tower. A passing whim prompted her to detour through a hitherto unknown part of the island to her. She was sufficiently acquainted with the island to know that her new route would take her about two hours longer, but time was hers, so she set off on the way.

To the vigorous Aland woman the long walk was only a normal exercise. She was making her way around a course by the shore, winding in among the rocks and shrubbery and catching an occasional glimpse of the sea through the topographical formations. The way gradually led down to the beach, and she trod along lightly over the sand. Suddenly she noticed that the ground looked as though it had been recently visited. As she continued, her observations became more definite, and finally she came upon a space where a boat might be landed quite advantageously and where the beach showed unmistakable evidences of recent activity. Many feet had been there; they were heavy feet, and had disturbed the sand often.

Neva followed the avenue which the visitors had used and came upon a sort of cave, which she saw was used as a cache for a large amount of goods. Upon investigation she ascertained the goods to be blankets, certain foodstuffs, clothing and other articles in demand by the inhabitants of Finland and Eastern Russia. She was experienced enough to know that the cave and the goods meant nothing else but that smugglers were active in the vicinity.

She quickly left her discovery and continued to her elevation, where she sighted the ship as she had anticipated. To her greetings no puffs of smoke or reports of the revolver made answer. Puzzled, she turned and made her way homeward by means of the accustomed path. Neva was both venturesome and brave. She knew that the ship would not land until the following dawn, and she knew further that a definite report to the ship would be of vast advantage. Accordingly, she decided to slip out during the night and follow her familiar path around to a point above the cache and the landing place where she might observe any maneuvers of the smugglers who might come during the night.

Bravely she carried out her plan, and silently crept up along the way which gave her a full, though secure view of the scene of the nocturnal labors of the smugglers. There were a few figures with their lanterns on the scene when she observed it first. Off on the water was a boat coming in. She could make out the sound of rowing, although she could not discern the boat in the dark. The boat landed and into the secluded circle of light the new arrivals made their entrance. In the midst of some fifteen Swedes and Finns, Neva was horified to see her sweetheart. He was handcuffed and powerless, and with him were two sailors from his ship. This, then, she hurriedly thought, explained the absence of response to her waving in the afternoon.

The sailors were marched into the circle and each was manacled to one of the trees in the little grotto in which the smugglers were holding their meeting. A supply of goods from the cache was loaded into the boat and six of the Swedes rowed away in it. Those who remained began to hold an earnest consultation over the fate of the Russians. Neva, who understood the Swedish tongue, soon apprehended the disposition the Swedes planned to make of her sweetheart and his two men. The men themselves were ignorant of what awaited them.

"Russians who come prying around in small boats," said a big Swede, "must be taken care of. We don't need to hurt them, and neither do we need to release them. If we leave them tied up there to the tree—well, if they starve, that is very unfortunate. But we haven't molested him. What do you say, comrades?"

And his comrades agreed with him. Neva had heard enough. She clambered over the rocks and found her way home, where she spent a feverish two hours waiting for the dawn to come when she might put off for the ship of her lover and bring a relief party to his rescue.

After what seemed an interminable night she finally set out in a rowboat for the two hours' trip across the water between the island upon which she lived and had the night previously observed the smugglers at work and the larger island upon which the city of Taergriv, the anchorage of the war vessel, was located. Neva was accustomed to the trip and knew just which way to row and by what jutting headland to steer in order to make the other island.

There was a little shoal of an islet to the left of her route. This she passed at the proper distance, but was terror-stricken to see a boat push off after her around the corner of the little bit of land stuck spitefully up in the channel. Neva increased her effort, but was rowing a losing flight against the pursuer, whom she recognized to be one of the gang whose activities she had observed during the night.

Neva rowed on for what she knew to be the safety of the cruiser, which must have anchored by that time, and the protection of the town. Slowly ahead her goal loomed up, and, although the Swede who was following her might have overtaken the brave girl's boat, he nevertheless suddenly veered around and rowed vigorously in the opposite direction.

He never stopped at the shoal, which had been his post as a scout, but kept right on to Neva's island and around to the side where the smugglers had their cache. The girl readily interpreted this change in his plan as the attempt to warn his partners that the girl was about to bring help from the cruiser.

At about the same time the smuggler disappeared around the rocks of the island she herself reached the cruiser. Hurriedly she told the commander of what she had seen and excitedly demanded to know how her lover had fallen into the hands of the smugglers. While the sharp commands of the officer of the day were being executed and the steam launch of the cruiser being made ready for the work before it, the captain explained the men's predicament.

The steam power of the launch was too swift for the clumsier rowboats of the smugglers, and the punitive force of the Russian cruiser came upon the Swedes just as the latter were about to put off. Neva and the second lieutenant in charge of the launch had together worked out a strategic plan of action against the smugglers. The officer was to land with half the men and drive the smugglers up the beach. Neva was to guide the launch around the rocks to a point where another landing could be made and lead the rest of the men down one of the paths with which she was so familiar. These two movements would envelop the smugglers and they would have no chance to escape.

The second lieutenant and ten men jumped ashore and with their first attack two of the smugglers dropped and the rest ran pell mell toward the protection which they knew the rocks of the island would afford them. Intrenching themselves behind the rocks and hills of the side of the island, the smugglers put up a determined resistance to the attacks of the weaker landing party.

Neva meanwhile had landed around a turn of the land with the remainder of the Russian force and was leading them around the path which she had taken the night before. Well armed and expectant, the Russians followed her up the hill to the point where she knew the crest would overlook the scene of the battle below. They were already hearing the shots of the firing on the beach, and with quickened steps the sailors hurried after Neva until they came out upon the spot above the smugglers.

With a wild cry they hurled themselves down the hill. Having either ignored or forgotten the half of the party which steamed away after the first landing was made, the smugglers were completely surprised. They made a desperate attempt to fight off both attacks at once, but the sailors closed in with an inexorable ardor it was seen would be too much for the smugglers.

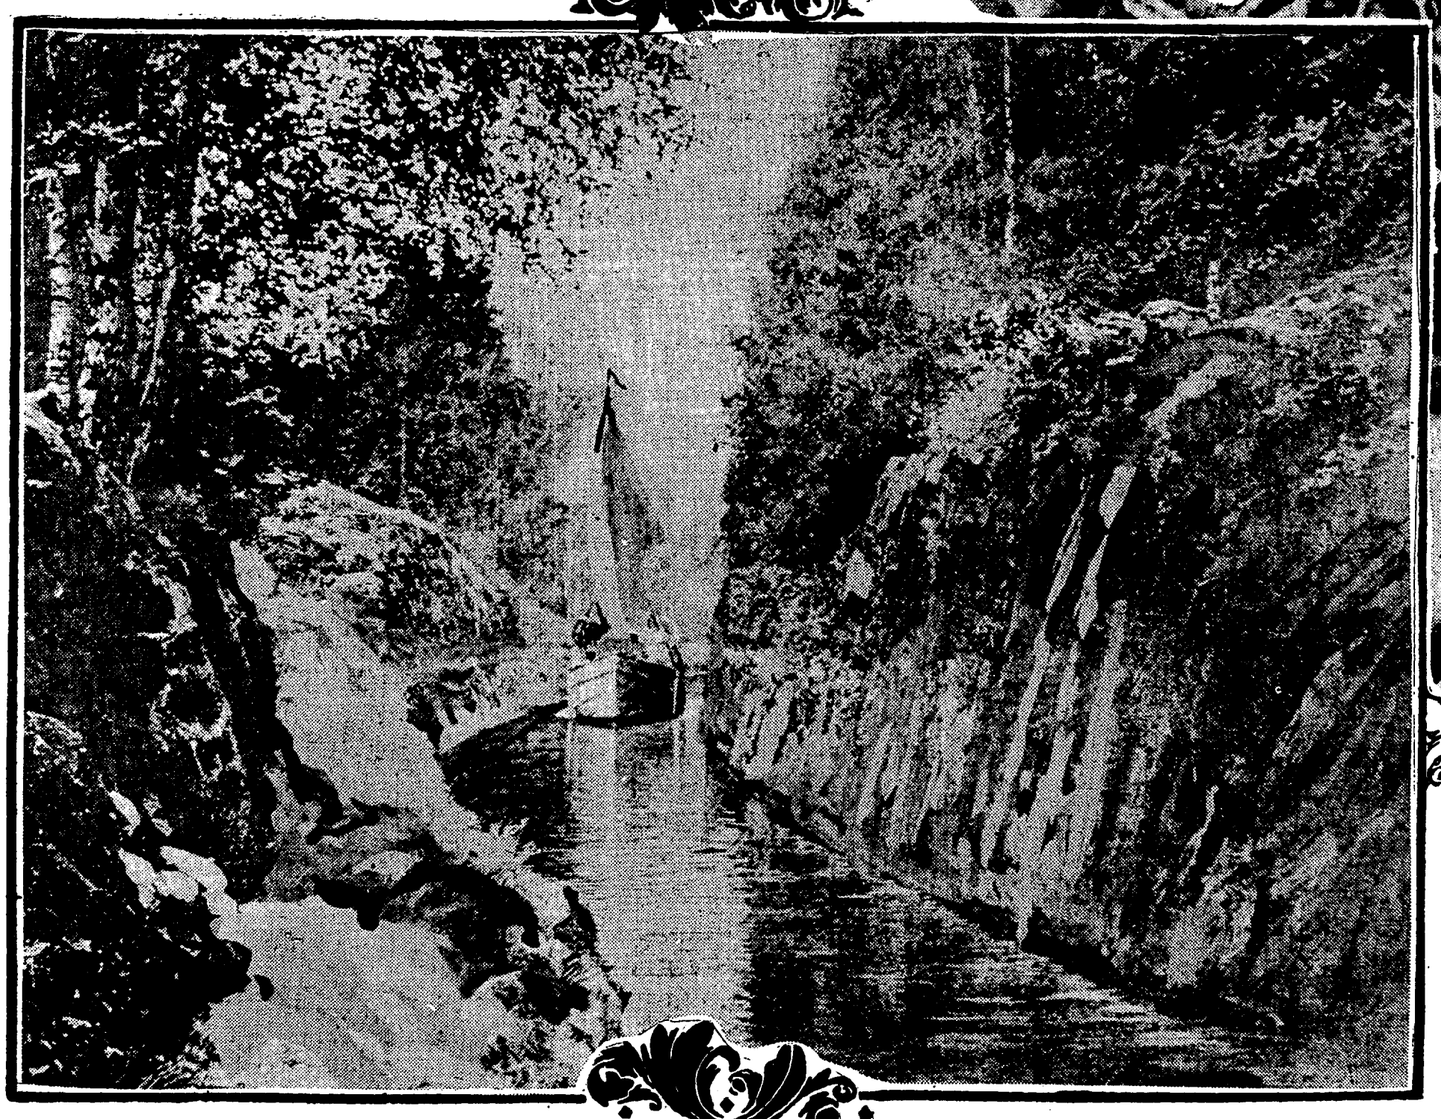
The Russian vise-like movement soon proved itself successful and the smugglers were fighting hand to hand with a force equal in number but superior in skill. A desultory shot marked the termination of the fight, but with the last report Neva saw the lieutenant crumple up where he was bound.

Disregarding her own safety, the girl sprang down the hill into the midst of the danger and ran to him. With her own hands she released him and took his unconscious head in her hands. The smugglers had all been made prisoners now and were being marched to the launch which had returned to the first landing. Two of the big Russians came to Neva and gently lifted up the unconscious lieutenant and carried him to the boat.

On board the Russian vessel the ship's doctor made an examination of Kurganeff's wound.

"It will not be serious, my dear," the kindly old physician smiled. "It is a painful wound, but it will not permanently injure him. He must be kept quiet and must rest well until he grows strong again. But do not worry; he will be all right for you."

"Neva Was a Sturdy Diana of the North."



"The Smugglers' Boat Came in with the Russian Prisoners."

POTATO PRICES WILL DROP IN A FEW DAYS

Late Crop Will Be on the Market in Less Than Three Weeks.

The bottom will fall out of the high price of potatoes in a few weeks. Large shipments of the late potato crop will be on the Fort Wayne market in two weeks. The price of potatoes will gradually tumble, according to local wholesale dealers.

Potatoes may be as cheap as 75 cents a bushel, wholesale, in three weeks, Isadore Kramer, in charge of the Big Four Fruit house, believes. The price has been $2.15 a bushel owing to the failure of the early crop. Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin will soon be prepared to furnish a vast amount of the tubers, which are a substantial part of the laboring man's diet.

Fine Peaches on Market.

The height of the peach season for the local market is now on. Peaches are the best quality in five years, wholesale merchants give out. The price is nearly forty per cent higher than last year, however. Shortage of the southern peach crop is given as the reason. Most peaches are coming in from Michigan. Many car loads will arrive next week.

The last shipment of watermelons is on the market. The season for both watermelons and muskmelons passes this week.

Onions will be high this year. They cannot be bought by wholesale dealers for less than $1.25 a bushel. Floods and late spring have hurt the onion crop.

Good Grape Crop.

According to farmers and gardeners the grape crop this year will be an exceedingly large one. They have started to get ripe and large quantities appeared on the Barr street market, Thursday morning. They were selling for five cents for a fair sized basket. The supply of apples were larger than usual.

Grain prices remained unchanged throughout the day and trading was very slack. The prices in larger trade centers took a drop of a few cents on a bushel on wheat but it seems to have no effect on the local market prices. Oats remains at its high level as does corn.

Hogs remain steady as they have during the past three weeks. The top price on yorkers is $10.25 per hundred. All live stock market quotations were steady with receipts light and demand great.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Wheat prices here developed considerable strength today, influenced largely by firmness in the Liverpool market, where sellers were withdrawing offers, and it was said Argentine shipments promised a sharp decrease. Opening prices, which ranged from the same as Tuesday's finish to 1c higher, were followed by decided gains all around.

Fear of frost carried the corn market up. After opening ¼c to 1c higher, prices continued to ascend.

Oats rose with corn and wheat.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Sept. 14.—The wild rush of prices which attended yesterday's final hour was resumed with greater vigor at today's opening, many speculative favorites changing hands in large individual lots at gains of one to three points, with five for Bethlehem Steel, which was soon increased to 20, while U. S. Steel duplicated its record price of the early week. Reading and Union Pacific were the conspicuous rails, the former at the new record of 113¼. Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies also registered a new maximum at 95, and various industrials, equipment and motors added one to three points to yesterday's final quotations. Mexican Petroleum and Alcohol also made substantial gains.

Under normal conditions the enormous profit taking of the first hour, with its output of almost 500,000 shares, would have resulted in severe recessions, but the selling only made a slight impression, being neutralized by additional purchases of the general list and some further important gains. Steel surpassed all previous quotations at 106⅝, also Republic Steel at 69¾, while Lackawanna, Sloss Sheffield, Colorado Fuel and American Car also gained appreciably. Studebaker was strongest of the motors, rising over five points. Coppers and marines were rushed forward at midday, marine common taking a new top at 50⅞. Bonds were firm.

CUTS OWN WAGES; BUYS BABY BONDS

When a certain shopman arrived home last Saturday night and handed his wife his weekly pay envelope, he was greeted with the following remark:

"John, beginning today, your wages are cut $2.50 each week."

"Not that I know of," said John, "they're all there the same as usual."

"No," answered the wife, "you notice that I have just taken out $2.50. The same amount comes out of every envelope you bring home, and with it we are going to buy one Baby Bond every month. When your wages were cut last spring we managed to get along, and we can manage now. Only this time we get the benefit of the 'cut.'"

That's one good way of making yourself save. Baby Bonds are an ideal investment. They come in $10.00 denominations, bear 6 per cent interest, and are secured by first mortgages on local real estate. Further details regarding them may be secured from the Wildwood Sales company, Shoaff Building.—Advertisement.

17-MONTHS-OLD BABE IS BELIEVED TO BE YOUNGEST DOPE FIEND.

MRS. HARRIS AND HER BABY CALLED "YOUNGEST DOPE FIEND."

Chicago, Sept. 1.—"The youngest dope fiend known to science," is the way physicians have labeled Norman Harris, 17-months-old baby.

And Baby Norman "got the habit" at his mother's breast, according to admissions said by physicians to have been made by the child's mother.

"When he was just a little thing I noticed he was good as good could be when I nursed him after I had taken 'dope,'" Mrs. Harris is alleged to have told Dr. Carl S. Myers, of Cook county Psychopathic hospital.

"He slept so quietly and there was always a smile on his face. I am not strong, I couldn't take care of a cross baby, so I kept taking the drug which eventually went to him."

"I often tried to stop—it was doing me no good. I didn't think he'd get 'a habit.'

"I'd have given my life a hundred times over to save him from it. I'd have cut out the dope if it killed me rather than make his life a hell, for that's what my life is. I'd rather see him dead than leading this life that is worse than death."

"It is quite possible for a child to acquire the drug habit through the milk of a drug-saturated mother," said Dr. Myers. "The milk is charged with the drug, the child absorbs it and the effect is much the same as if he took it in direct form."

In his cot in the hospital the little shadow-child pleads with his pensive eyes for the pain-killing "hop." His hands that look like little bird claws grope for the milk bottle that will send him off to dreamland.

Just how much morphine Baby Norman has taken into his system, the physicians at the Bridewell have not determined. According to his mother she has been almost continuously under the influence of drugs since Norman was born, seventeen months ago.

FAIRBANKS TALKING TARIFF.

Indiana Man in Oklahoma Says Republicans Will Win.

Tulsa, Okla., Sept. 14.—Charles Warren Fairbanks, republican candidate for vice president, spent a busy six hours here yesterday and made one public address. Mr. Fairbanks came from Oklahoma City, where he addressed the republican state convention Tuesday.

He spoke to a large and enthusiastic audience here at 11 o'clock.

"Victory will surely perch on the banner of republicanism this fall," he declared.

The Underwood tariff was assailed and the candidate declared a protective tariff, while always necesary, would be doubly so following the war, when this country must battle for supremacy in the world of business.

Fairbanks left at noon for Enid where he delivered a speech last night.

Today's War News Given in Summary

The French apparently have paused on their advance on Peronne where they have driven a total of six miles into the German lines since July 1, when the Somme offensive began, and now are withstanding a series of German counter attacks.

Assaults were delivered last night on the new positions both north and south of the Somme but were fruitless, according to today's Paris bulletin.

The Macedonian campaign of the entente forces apparently is not being pressed on the right of the Saloniki position, the British who advanced across the Struma, being reported to have withdrawn to the west bank. The Serbians, however, are continuing their pressure against the Bulgarians on the western end of the line. The French war office report announces that the engagement near Lake Ostrovo is turning in favor of the allies and that Bulgarian trenches and heights northwest of Lake Ostrovo have been occupied by Serbians.

Latest reports from both sides of the campaign in Rumanian province of Dobrudja show the opposing forces in contact along virtually the entire front. Apparently a general engagement is impending.

Dispatches through Italy say an offensive campaign in the Balkans has been mapped out at the conference of the central powers now in progress at German headquarters, Germany's contribution to the force being fixed at 200,000 and Austria's at 100,000 men.

London, Sept. 14.—A wireless press despatch from Rome says at the general council of thecentral powers at the headquarters of the German emperor an offensive campaign in the Balkans was mapped out and that Germany will send 200,000 men and Austria 100,000 for this purpose.

Serbians and Bulgarians are engaged in violent fighting on the Macedonian front. The war office announced today that the Serbians had captured Bulgarian trenches near Vetronik and a height. An engagement south of the lake is turning in favor of the allies.

The British have made further progress on the Somme front north of Cinchy, it was announced officially today, adding, however, that the general situation is unchanged.

ALLIED LOSSES SANGUINARY.

Berlin Declares Repeated and Violent Assaults Are Repulsed.

Berlin, Sept. 14.—Repeated and violent assaults against the Germans on the Somme front yesterday were repulsed with sanguinary losses for the allies, the war office announced today.

According to a Sofia despatch to the Overseas News agency, Bulgaria is greatly aroused over the atrocities upon Bulgarians in Dobrudja charged against the Rumanians and the entire press is demanding punitive measures. The Bulgarian government, adds the despitch, intends to invite the diplomatic representatives of neutral countries at Sofia to make a personal inspection of the district and will register an energetic protest with theneutral powers.

CHICAGO MAN IS HELD FOR OLD BANK ROBBERY

Arrest Follows Attempt to Pry Open Safety Box at Toronto.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Martin H. Flannigan, a saloonkeeper, was arrested here today in connection with the robbery five years ago of the branch of the bank of Montreal at New Westminster, B. C. Loot amounting to $271,000 was obtained by the robbers.

The arrest of Flannigan was made as a result of the arrest in Toronto, Ont., yesterday of Michael B. Shortall, a marble worker, of Chicago, who was attempting to pry open a safety deposit vault in the bank of Toronto. The box, rented by Flannigan four years ago, was found to be stuffed with Canadian bank notes. Shortall told the Toronto police he had been employed by Flannigan to make the trip to Toronto and was being paid $5 a day for his services.

Flannigan, the police say, is the same man arrested three years ago on a charge of having in his possession stolen Westminster bank notes. He escaped conviction as the numbers on the notes did not correspond with those stolen from the British Columbia bank.

Flannigan was released after the police had questioned him.

PRESIDENT TAKES UP HIS CAMPAIGN PLANS

Administration Men Hear Prospects Are Very Fine in West.

Long Branch, N. J., Sept. 14.—President Wilson today for the first time gave detailed consideration to his campaign for reelection. In the executive offices at Asbury Park he went over reports from political leaders in various states and began mapping out his plans for the next two months. Postmaster General Burleson, one of Mr. Wilson's chief political advisers, is at Spring Lake, near here, visiting Secretary McAdoo, and the two cabinet members this morning went over the political situation with Secretary Tumulty.

As a result of the conference it was indicated that greatest attention would be paid to the campaign in Oregon, Washington, Utah and California because of reports received by administration officials leading them to believe democratic prospects in these states are excellent. While the president will make no final plans for leaving here until further developments in the illness of his sister, Mrs. Anne Howe, several trips away from Shadow Lawn were discussed. Mr. Wilson will go by automobile on September 26 to Princeton, N. J., to vote in the democratic primaries.

The president visited the executive offices for the first time today.

WALTONEN NOW SAYS OTHERS MUST SUFFER

Ironwood, Mich., Sept. 14.—Arthur Waltonen, accused of participation in the murder of Mrs. Elizabeth Nichols, wealthy New York widow, and who is today en route to New York city in the custody of detectives, declared before he left here last night that "there were others who would have to take their medicine."

He was positive that Onni Talas, now serving a life sentence in Sing Sing prison, had a hand in the conspiracy to murder Mrs. Nichols. Waltonen said Talas, who was his successor in the Nichols home had been bound so as to make it appear that he had nothing to do with the affair. Mrs. Nichols, he reiterated, was not killed, but died of heart disease, probably superinduced by fright.

Formal Assurance is Given by Japan and Russia on New Treaty.

Washington Satisfied and Will Not Press Its Inquiry Further.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—Both Japan and Russia have given the United States formal assurances that the new Russo-Japanese treaty does not repeal or affect the treaties of 1907 and 1910 in which those nations pledged themselves to maintain the integrity of China and the open door policy.

The assurances were given to Ambassadors Guthrie at Tokio and Francis at Petrograd, in response to inquiries.

The state department today received from Mr. Guthrie a note on the subject addressed to him by the Japanese foreign office stating in unequivocal terms that Japan had not for a moment entertained an intention of departing from these policies.

Department officials let it be known that the statements were entirely satisfactory and that inquiries regarding the new treaty, over which they had been considerably perturbed probably would not be pressed further.

BANANA BEARERS MAKE DEMAND FOR INCREASE

Serious Strike Threatened by Those Engaged in Unloading Fruit.

Now that the railroad strike is averted another labor uprising right in Fort Wayne in the form of a banana carriers' strike is threatening. The unorganized organization of laborers—fifty strong—who tote the bunches of bananas from freight cars to the big fruit houses want more pay.

The men have been receiving 50 cents apiece for each car unloaded. They want 35 cents an hour, or what would amount to about $1.05 apiece for each car relieved of its luscious burden. Fruit dealers say positively that they will not raise the men's pay. A strike may follow.

The dealers say they will be able to secure plenty of workmen to take the places of the crowd which loafs about the wholesale houses between jobs. Dealers say the work is not hard and demands no skill. Raise in the wages of the men who unload the cars will mean a raise in the price of bananas delivered in the city, they say.

The men who carry the big bunches of the herbaceous plant down the gangplanks and into the warehouses say the work is hard. There is risk of being bitten by tarantulas, they add.

Neither party in the dispute has mentioned the temptation to eat the bananas.

AUTO TOURING ALL STATES HERE TONIGHT

The Hupmobile touring car which started on its journey from Washington, D. C., last August 28, with the intention of visiting every state capital in the United States will arrive in Fort Wayne, Thursday evening, at seven o'clock and will remain here for the night. This was the contents of a telegram received by the local Hupmobile dealers, Steinhart-Randall Auto company, from J. Walter Deake, president of the Hupp Motor Car corporation.

The Hupmobile United America tour is in charge of Julian S. Patterson and the car is being piloted by C. E. Salisbury and George Lipe. The slogan which appears on the car is: "All States, All Capitals—One Flag and One Nation."

Kept Marriage a Secret Since December 22, 1915

Announcement was made Thursday by Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Short, 1618 Boone street, of the marriage of their daughter, Miss Waine, to J. Monroe Gordon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Gordon, 813 Monroe street, which occurred Dec. 22, 1915, at Jackson, Mich., Rev. J. W. Williams, pastor of the First Baptist church of that city, officiating.

Since that time Mr. and Mrs. Gordon have guarded their secret most sacredly and not until last Sunday did the parents receive the least inkling of the marriage. And then Mrs. Gordon told her mother. She was leaving that day for Detroit, Mich., to join her husband and she thought it best that the secret be divulged.

"There was no objection to the marriage," Mrs. Short, mother of the girl, said Thursday, "but all of us thought they were too young." Gordon is twenty years old and his wife seventeen.

Up to three weeks ago Mr. and Mrs. Gordon have been living in Fort Wayne, each with their parents. Gordon would call upon his wife just as he did before their marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Short did not for one minute suspect that they were married. They knew they were devoted to each other, just as young lovers are, but further than that they had no suspicions.

Three weeks ago, however, Mr. Gordon, whose father is custodian of the Commercial club, left for Detroit, where he accepted a position as bookkeeper. Sunday he telegraphed his wife to join him. The secret could no longer be kept.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon have a host of friends, all of whim were in ignorance of their marriage. Mrs. Gordon's father is a draftsman for the General Electric company.

STRIKERS IN BIG PARADE

STREET RAILWAY DEADLOCK HOLDS

Mayor Mitchel Admits He Has No Plan to End Labor Trouble.

New York, Sept. 14.—Striking street railway men gave a big parade here today in the effort to win new friends for their cause, while city officials and the heads of both sides of the controversy held further conferences in the effort to break the deadlock which has partially tied up most of the surface cars in Manhattan and Bronx boroughs and Westchester county.

There were approximately 10,000 striking motormen and conductors in the parade which began in the forenoon and ended shortly after 1 o'clock at Union Square, where addresses were delivered by the strike leaders. The men marched without music, all carrying American flags. The parade was in six divisions and was led by Hugh Frayne, state organizer of the American Federation of Labor, and William B. Fitzgerald, general organizer of the street railway men.

SECOND APPEAL FOR FUNDS IS SENT OUT

W. N. Ballou, secretary of the committee having in charge the solicitation of funds for the dependents of members of the Fort Wayne national guard, who went to the border, Thursday, sent out a second letter to those persons pledging amounts to the fund asking for a second remittance.

The letter says: "Nearly all the people who subscribed to the soldier relief fund have not favored us with second remittance. We therefore feel that perhaps they are expecting us to make the call for it. Second installment is now due."

NEARLY ALL STOCKS SHARE IN BIG BOOM

Remarkable Rise in Past Two Weeks is Carried Further Today.

New York, Sept. 14.—The extraordinary rise in the stock market of the last fortnight, unequalled since last year's movement in war brides, attained wider and more impressive proportions today, the first hour's trading of almost half a million shares being attended by gains of from 1 to 3 points in industrials, equipments, motors, oils and shares of almost every other description, with a twenty point advance in Bethlehem steel at 575.

United States steel was the chief feature, rising to 106½ in the first hour and exceeding its previous record by ¾ of a point. Demand for Studebaker, industrial alcohol, Baldwin locomotive, New York air brake, Mexican petroleum and detained issues carried those stocks to 5 points above yesterday's prices. Railways were relatively inconspicuous. Realizing sales or profit taking was in such enormous volume during the session to effect several sales.

$50,000 ADDITION FOR THE GARRETT HOSPITAL

The Sacred Heart Catholic hospital at Garrett is to have a $50,000 addition built to the present building next spring. Plans are now being drawn by Strauss, the architect, of this city. This will make the institution of that city just twice its present size. The new addition will be modern in every respect and will afford the most modern of conveniences for all concerned.

WHOLE TOWN CELEBRATES MAN'S 100TH BIRTHDAY.

Medaryville, Ind., Sept. 14.—This place today celebrated the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Wm. B. Nichols, its oldest citizen. The town council declared a half holiday and business places and homes are gaily decorated in honor of the aged man. Mr. Nichols has been a Mason 73 years and is probably one of the oldest Masons living. He is the father of nine children and has ten grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

RUSS DESTROYER SUNK BY GERMAN AIR BOMBS

Kaiser's Fliers Score Notable Success in Black Sea Attack.

Berlin, Sept. 14.—A Russian destroyer has been sunk in the Gulf of Riga by a German aeroplane squadron, says a report given out today by the German admiralty. German naval 'planes also have attacked Russian sea forces in the Black sea off Constanza, Rumania. The admiralty statement reads:

"German seaplanes have attacked Russian sea forces off Constanza and the coast to the south. Hits on one battleship, one submarine and several destroyers were observed. All the aeroplanes returned unharmed.

"On the evening of Sept. 12 several German naval aeroplanes attacked the enemy's sea force in the Gulf of Riga. Several hits were obtained and one enemy destroyer sank immediately. Despite heavy shelling all the aeroplanes returned safely."

Slavs Checked in Carpathians.

The repulse of violent Russian attacks on a long front in the Carpathians is announced by the war office today. The announcement follows:

"Front of Prince Leopold of Bavaria—The situation is unchanged. Russian attacks north of Dvetnemouth and near Garbunovka were repulsed.

"Front of Archduke Charles Francis—In the Carpathians the Russians made a simultaneous attack along the whole front between Smotyrich and the Golden Rystritsa. They were repulsed everywhere with the heaviest losses by our gallant troops under General von Contas."

UTILITIES QUIZ TO BE HELD AT CHICAGO

Federal Inquiry Scheduled to Open in That City on Nov. 20.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Senator Newlands, of Nevada, chairman of the senate committee on interstate commerce, announced in an address before the Chicago Asociation of Commerce at Hotel La Salle yesterday that Chicago will be the seat of a thorough investigation of government ownership and control of railroads, telegraph lines, express companies, river and ocean transportation, and other public utilities, beginning November 20.

The investigation will be in accordance with President Wilson's recommendations to congress and will be conducted largely from Chicago. It will be searching in scope, Senator Newlands said, in fulfillment of the president's desire that the questions be given the fullest possible survey and inquiry, as thorough as that which led to the enactment of the federal reserve banking law.

The senator stated it is the purpose to invite all interests involved to appear and express opinions regarding regulation and administration of properties.

Reorganization of the interstate commerce commission, Senator Newlands stated, will be considered. Investigation will be made of whether its jurisdiction should be confined to questions of discrimination and rates, relinquishing its jurisdiction over other matters, such as valuation and safety inspection, to some other body or bureau. Another suggestion to be considered will be the feasibility of increasing the number of commissioners.

An important question to be considered is whether any regulation of wages and hours of employes of common carriers is advisable.

FT. WAYNE MAN IS PRESIDENT

Sam W. Greenland Heads Indiana Electric Light Men Ensuing Year.

State Organization May Affiliate With National Association.

Sam W. Greenland, general manager of the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company, was elected president Thursday afternoon at the closing session of the Indiana Electric Light association at the Hotel Anthony. Thomas Donahue, of Lafayette, on account of his untiring efforts and efficiency, was reelected secretary and treasurer. J. P. Ohmer, of Elkhart, who served as chairman of the membership committee during the past year, was chosen vice president.

The question of the state association becoming affiliated with the national organization was referred to a committee for further investigation with power to act during the coming year. The executive committee at a meeting to be held during the year will name the convention city for 1917.

The Wednesday afternoon and Thursday morning session were taken up with the discussion of new business policies. The one which entertained the liveliest and most lengthy discussion was the "Use of Electrical Ranges." A special committee submitted the report that during the past year the various companies represented made a very large increase in the sale of electrical ranges. Arrangements were made for a vigorous campaign to be waged along these lines.

HUGHES WILL SPEAK IN PALACE THEATER

Candidate Will Also Talk from Platform Near the Pennsylvania Station.

Charles E. Hughes, republican candidate for president, will deliver two addresses in Fort Wayne on the afternoon of September 21. He will not speak at League park as was originally planned. Instead, immediately upon his arrival in the city, he will be taken from his special train to the Palace theater. After he has finished there he will be taken to a platform to be erected near the Pennsylvania station, where, it is estimated 10,000 to $15,000 people will have an opportunity to hear and see the presidential candidate.

Mr. Hughes is expected to arrive in Fort Wayne over the Wabash at 3:15 p. m. and will be here an hour and ten minutes, Leaving over the Grand Rapids & Indiana railroad for Richmond, with stops at Decatur, Portland and Winchester.

Byron H. Somers will preside at the meeting at the Palace theater. Robert B. Hanna, in charge of the arrangements, has received word from Prof. Fairfield, republican candidate for congress from this district, that he will be here. He will speak at the Palace theater prior to the arrival of Mr. Hughes.

The republicans are planning for a big day. There will be bands galore and no end of enthusiasm.

All in Readiness for Marshall Notification

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 14.—Vice President Thomas R. Marshall will be notified of his renomination on the democratic ticket tonight. Prominent democratic leaders, including National Chairman Vance McCormick, were to arrive here today and preceding the notification ceremonies, it was planned for them to attend political conferences and receptions.

The program as arranged calls for addresses by J. A. M. Adair, democratic candidate for governor of Indiana; Evans Woollen, of Indianapolis, and Martin H. Glynn, of New York. Mr. Glynn is to deliver the notification address, after which Mr. Marshall will accept formally the nomination. Preceding the speaking there will be a parade.

Telegrams received last night from the national headquarters of the party indicated that about forty of the fifty-three members of the notification committee will be present and about twenty members of the national democratic committee. Arrangements have been made to take as many of the visitors as care to go and who are not at conferences, on an automobile tour of the city.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY OVER SALE OF HOG IN TEXAS

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 14.—Henry Wright, 28, farmer, last night shot and instantly killed his brother, Willie Wright, 24, at their home three miles north of Grand Prairie, just west of Dallas, and then killed himself. The double tragedy was the result, officers said, of a quarrel over the proceeds from the sale of a hog.

Ft. Wayne Amateur Team Badly Handled at Aboite

"I'll tell you if you don't tell anybody else," has again worked its contumacious charms and an incident of last Sunday has come to light, although the names of the interested parties have been kept secret.

The setting of this story is a rural one. Out in an open field near Aboite station an amateur baseball team hailing from Fort Wayne and a team composed of farmer boys, were engaged in a game of ball. There was a five dollar side bet and the money was left in the hands of a stakeholder who was supposed to have been a Fort Wayne personage. At least so the Aboite boys thought. The Fort Wayne players were of the opinion that the stakeholder was a man of the community in which they were about to put on an exhibition.

The umpire working under difficulties of a howling mob and under the hot rays of the sun "pulled several good ones" all in favor of the Fort Wayne team, so the Aboite boys thought as did the fans who had gathered to see their favorite sons win the five "bucks." They controlled their tempers until the umps tried to get through with a "raw" one and then they did object. In fact, they objected so strenuously that they declared the game would have to be called on account of the umpire's poor eyes.

They started to look up the man who had been appointed stakeholder but during the excitement of the game the aforesaid stakeholder made his exit. The conclusion on the part of the rural folks was that the man with the money was one of the fans of the Fort Wayne club and at once demanded that the money be turned over. The Fort Wayne boys were innocent so they stated but were not successful in persuading their opponents that they were.

The facts of the case were one hundred against fifteen or twenty. The final result was doctor and dentist bills to pay. The strange part of it all is that every manager of every amateur baseball team in the city declares his team was not at Aboite last Sunday.

EACH VICTOR HAS 100,000

Dunne and Lowden Pluralities in Illinois Almost Identical.

Lorimer is Beaten, But Uncle Joe and Mann Are on Hand as Usual.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—One of the hardest fought political campaigns in the history will be waged between Gov. Edward F. Dunne, democrat, and former Congressman Frank O. Lowden, republican, nominated for governor yesterday by the democrats and republicans respectively, it was predicted today. Both rolled up pluralities of approximately 100,000 over their nearest competitors in the nomination race, according to returns available early today. Both are veteran campaigners.

Governor Dunne defeated William B. Brinton, of Dixon, a manufacturer, who had the backing of Roger Sullivan. Dunne won Cook county by approximately 60,000 and had a plurality of about 9,000 in one-third of the down state precincts. Lowden won in Cook county by about 30,000 and down state by that plurality. Morton D. Hull and Frank L. Smith, his opponents, ran close together.

Defeat of Wm. Lorimer for congress from the Sixth Illinois district seemed assured early today, although returns were incomplete. Arthur W. Fulton had a plurality of 1,000 over the ousted United States senator, who made a determined fight to win the support of his old congressional district.

Medill McCormick, former progressive, and former Senator Wm. E. Mason, were nominated by the republicans for congressmen at large, according to returns received up to 6 a. m. Congressman at large B. M. Chiperfield, however, was running Mason a close race.

The democratic nominees for congressmen at large are William E. Williams, of Pittsfield, incumbent, and Everett Jennings, of Chicago. James R. Mann, republican house leader; "Uncle Joe Cannon, Martin B. Madden, George H. Foss, Ira C. Copely, Frederick A. Britton, Charles E. Fuller, John C. McKenzie, Edward J. King, John A. Zearling, Wm. B. McKinley, Loren E. Wheeler, Wm. A. Rodenburg, Thomas S. Williams, Edward E. Dennison and Wm. W. Wilson were renominated for congress by the republicans. James T. McDermott, democratic congressman, was defeated by Charles Martin, an alderman of Chicago.

Democratic congressmen renominated were Adolph J. Sabath, James McAndrews, Frank Buchanan, Clyde H. Tavener, Claude U. Stone and Henry T. Rainey. Several others were in doubt. Lieutenant Governor Barrett O'Hara, leader of the Illinois vice commission, which gained nation-wide publicity, apparently has been defeated for renomination by Henry W. Puttman, of Chicago. The republicans nominated John G. Oglesby, who served as lieutenant governor for several terms. A close race developed between Edward J. Brundage, of Chicago, and Richard J. Barr, of Joliet, for the republican nomination for attorney general. The result still is in doubt as is the race for state auditor on the republican ticket between State Treasurer Andrew Russell and Homer J. Tice, of Greenview. James J. Brady, present state auditor, was renominated by the democrats. Arthur W. Charles is the democratic nominee for state treasurer and Len Small, of Kankakee, the republican nominee for that office.

With Cook county complete and returns from 1,887 precincts out of 2,973 down state, compiled, Col. Frank O. Lowden received 161,141 votes for the republican nomination for governor in yesterday's primary. Morton D. Hull ran second with 91,788 votes and Frank L. Smith received 64,640.

On the democratic side Gov. E. F. Dunne for governor received 108,486 votes in Cook county complete, and 1,335 precincts down state; W. Brinton, 48,498, and James Tranor, 14,474.

EPIDEMIC AGAIN GAINS.

New York, Sept. 14.—The report on infantile paralysis for the 24 hours ending at 10 a. m. today shows an increase over the low record of the previous day. There were 36 new cases and 11 deaths as against 31 new cases and 9 deaths for the day before.

HOSPITAL ATTACHES HAD BURNED CLOTHES

Case in Police Court Postponed Because Witness Was Garbless.

Edward Johnson, 35, could not appear in police court, Thursday morning, to prosecute his case against John Quigley, Robinson circus employe, because Johnson has no clothes to wear. All his garments, which were blood soaked from the assault Quigley is charged with making upon him, have been burned at the hospital, where Johnson is confined.

The case is set for next Monday and Court Bailiff Eisenhut will obtain raiment for Johnson in the meantime. Johnson is improving from a fracture of the skull and other wounds inflicted by a heavy stick. Quigley posted bond in the sum of $200 and Johnson is held under $50 and the added surety of being clothesless.

Attorney for Quigley says the defendant in the assault case will be in court Monday, although he will have to travel across the greater part of Illinois to be here. Quigley is trainmaster for the circus and Johnson was one of the helpers with the big show. The assault is said to have followed an argument about the placing of the show train for loading last week. For a time it was feared that Johnson would die from wounds inflicted.

Train Riding Must Stop.

Judge Kerr issued an ultimatum to the "knights of the road" Thursday, to the effect that they will work on the Allen county roads if they persist in trying to migrate through Fort Wayne by the medium of passenger trains. It is not so bad for the "sons of rest" to travel in box cars but they do not blend well with the respectable atmosphere of passenger trains, Judge Kerr says.

William Williams, of Kansas City, who had been removed from a Pennsylvania passenger train, will be held for trial, Friday. Guy Survain, who showed that he had employment awaiting him at Kansas City, and who promised to take a freight train out of Fort Wayne, was released.

An Ungrateful Son.

Wesley Waters, 432 Fairmount Place, made Carl Elberson, 21, leave his house last February because Carl abused his mother, Mary Elberson, who rooms there, Waters told in court Thursday morning. The Elberson youth came to visit his mother, Monday, and Waters struck him, it is charged. Elberson displayed a bruised lip to Judge Kerr. Unwilling to decide the case on testimony of the pair, Judge Kerr ordered Mrs. Elberson brought into court, Friday.

Other Police Court Cases.

James Gephart, who attacked John Robinson, 77, Wednesday, while Gephart was intoxicated, was fined $25 and costs on a drunk charge. Other penalties for intoxication charges were Mike Kern, $5 and costs, and Fred Welty, $5 and costs.

Case against Della Owens, charged with stealing $42 from Frank Marshall, was continued indefinitely.

Denies Making Alleged Remark on Submarine Warfare.

Berlin (via London), Sept. 14.—The American ambassador, James W. Gerard, again is under fire in a section of the German press, this time for a remark attributed to him regarding a speech made recently by Dr. Gustav Stresemann, national liberal member of the reichstag, advocating, among other things, a resumption of the submarine warfare.

Ambassador Gerard is quoted as saying he did not understand how the representatives of districts for which export to America was a vital question could advocate ruthless submarine warfare.

The national liberal press agency, in a communication to the newspapers, takes the ambassador to task for what is termed "unwarranted intervention in a purely German question," and says the ambassador's remark is characterized by "that naive presumptuousness which believes that the decision affecting Germany's political future will be dictated by Germany's American export interests."

The agency declares Ambassador Gerard would do better to leave to the responsible German authorities the decision on what use is to be made of the means at their command against England.

The statement adds:

"The art and manner in which Ambassador Gerard—and not for the first time—looks after British interests, is extremely characteristic of his general attitude."

The American ambassador, in reply, says he never heard of Doctor Stresemann's speech, and certainly never made any public utterance of the nature attributed to him. His attitude on the submarine issue, he declares, is based on pro-American, not pro-British, motives.

COTTON CONSUMPTION HIGHER.

Vast Increase for August Over Figures for Year Ago.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Cotton used during August amounted to 558,717 running bales, exclusive of linters, and for the year ending July 31st, 6,397,613 bales, the census bureau today announced in August a year ago 451,392 bales were used, and during the year ending Aug. 31, 1915, the quantity was 5,597,362 bales. Cotton on hand Aug. 31, in consuming establishments was 1,359,380 bales, compared with 1,165,851 a year ago, and in public storage and compresses 969,304 bales, compared with 1,721,404 a year ago. Active spindles numbered 32,309,406, compared with 31,664,419 a year ago.

PURDUE BATTERY NOW ON ITS WAY HOMEWARD

Artillery With Fort Wayne Men in Ranks Leaves Llano Grande.

Llano Grande, Tex., Sept. 14.—Battery B, Indiana field artillery, composed largely of Purdue university students and instructors, bade farewell to the Llano Grande camp and the 'magic valley," the natives talk so much about, shortly before 2 o'clock yesterday morning. The Purdue men are aboard the same train which is carrying away the Minnesota university battery and they are to travel together as far as Houston, Tex. The Purdue men had been expecting to entrain since 6 o'clock on Tuesday morning, but they were forced to wait all day and most of the night before the Pullmans arrived.

They gathered along the railroad at 7 o'clock in the evening with the expectation that cars would arrive at any minute, but the railroad company failed to make good. Maj. Robert H. Tyndall addressed the men briefly at 9 o'clock while they stood in the moonlight at the railway station.

He said he was sorry to lose the battery from his command, but he expressed appreciation for a good showing made by the battery while in the service.

"These men who accepted gracefully every task placed before them and who played the soldier game fair and square will go through life making good," said the major. "While those who found fault with everything probably always would be fault finders."

Major Tyndall was applauded by the men when he bade them farewell. There was no cheering throng when the Purdue men left their quarters and marched to the railroad track. Men of the other batteries allowed them to go away in silence. Earlier in the day the men of Batteries A and C had paraded through the company streets singing "School Days," but they remained in their quarters when the Purdue men started to the railroad track to begin on a long wait for the train to arrive.

General Lewis is expecting Battery D to be ordered to this camp, though he is without information as to when it will be ordered to entrain. Battery D surely will consider that it is in luck when it arrives here because it will find camp already made. Even the Battery B tents have been left standing. The new battery will miss all the discomforts of making camp in a new country. Battery A and Battery C will have the care of 120 horses left behind by Battery B until the arrival of Battery D.

NEW PENSION LAW TO AID INDIANA WOMEN

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—Several thousand Indiana women will benefit by the action of the congress in its closing days in increasing a widow's pension from $12 to $20 a month. The pension bureau is unable to say how many Indiana widows of soldiers now are drawing the $12 rate, and it has no means of knowing how many are entitled to a pension and have not applied for it. It does know, however, that in view of the fact that the death rate among veterans of the civil war has been large for several years, there must be a great many women who will be entitled to the new rate.

The bureau announces that if a widow now is on the pension roll, it will simply be necessary for her to fill out a circular blank, which the pension office will supply, to obtain the increase; or she may write to the pension bureau, inclosing the certificate on which she draws her present pension and soldier's name and service and date of birth. If she is a remarried widow, or is not on the rolls at the present time, she must make a formal application for a pension in order to benefit under the new law. The new law is effective now.

POPE MAKES A NEW APPEAL.

Rome, Wednesday, Sept. 13.—(10:55 a. m.)—In view of the recent aerial bombardment of Venice, Pope Benedict has renewed to Austria-Hungary his recommendation that during the war, churches, monuments and art treasures be spared. This wish of the pope will be urged also by Monsignor Valfredi Ponzon, a prelate well acquainted with high Italian personages, who will soon go to Venice as papal nuncio.

Monsignor Ponzo will fill the vacancy caused by the elevation of Monsignor Scapinelli to be a cardinal.

THE STORE THAT DOES THINGS

Paper by C. B. Hart.

The paper of C. B. Hart, of Fort Wayne, on "The Spark Plug of the Electric Industry," was read at the morning session Thursday. A lively and interesting discussion of the paper followed. The purpose of the paper was to present without unnecessary detail the prominent part the sales and new business department has in the development and success of the central station which today is the principal outlet for electrical apparatus. "Inductive Interference and State Regulation of Pole Lines," a paper by E. J. Condon, jr., and W. H. Patterson's paper on "Development of the Central Station Power Load," were also read Thursday morning.

The Banquet.

One hundred and fifty delegates enjoyed the banquet given at the Anthony hotel, the convention place, Wednesday evening. E. J. Condon, president of the organization, acted as toastmaster. Talks were given by James M. Barrett, Fred Hunting, Sam W. Greenland and Thomas Donahue, the secretary. Following the addresses the delegates were entertained by talent from the local theaters. An informal dance followed.

They Praised the Band.

The Electric Works band rendered six selections of the latest and most popular music during the luncheon at the General Electric works Wednesday which were well received by the delegates. Comments complimentary to the band were freely expressed and when informed that the membership of the musical organization was composed exclusively of men employed at the factory, the delegates were surprised, stating that they supposed they were professional men, who did nothing but follow the musical vocation. Prof. John Verweir is the musical director of the Electric Works band and the other players, all employed at the works, are Paul Rietchy, Russell Worden, Ralph Capp, Louis Wagner, William Hoffman, J. Schmidt, Bert Glendenning, Ben Klein, W. Straus, Wit Doan, Leo Scott, George Eylenberg, Lawrence Teeple, Charles Lenz, L. McDermut, W. Nelson, Charles Horstmeyer, Charles Shieve, Bob Graffe, Pat Cahill, Thomas Cole, Joseph Waite, H. Sprunger, Fred Rapp, William Tulley, W. Ucker, L. Stewry, L. and Frank Cole and L. Goeke.

PLAN TO PRESS FIGHTING THERE

Safety Imperiled by Rioting Reported at Kavala.

Athens, Wednesday, Sept. 13.—(Via London, Sept. 14, 12:25 p. m.)—The British legation today informed Garrett Droppers, the American minister, that the Greeks have surrendered to the Bulgarians the last of the forts defending the seaport of Kavala, in northeastern Greece. Several of the forts were occupied some time ago by the Bulgarians. Warships of the entente allies have removed 1,500 Greek soldiers to Thasos.

Rioting at Kavala is reported and it is expected houses and shops have been pillaged. A number of Americans are endangered as is property of American tobacco companies to the amount of more than $2,000,000. No ships are permitted to remain in the harbor.

M. Dimitracopulos has asked King Constantine to allow him forty-eight hours in which to consult his friends before deciding as to whether he will undertake the formation of a new cabinet. The former minister of justice also wishes to sound the ministers of the entente before reaching a decision.

M. Dimitracopulos is known to have declared his acceptance of the premiership will only be made on the basis that he is given full power to control the national policy. He will insist that his hands must be free to take whatever steps the present crisis calls for even to the entry of Greece into the war.

Every effort to persuade Alexander Zaimis, the aged premier, to remain in office was fruitless. His pride was wounded by the apearance of the allied fleet off Piraeus at the very moment when negotiations had been begun for the entry of Greece into the war. The arrest of Austrans and Germans in Athens by French and British agents and the invasion of the French legation by the Russians, who fired shots there, taken in conjunction with the continual discord in the face of a great national crisis, completely discouraged the entire cabinet. The result was not only to precipitate the retirement of the Zaimis ministry, but to bring to a standstill and possibly even to end all discussion of departure from neutrality by Greece. "I hope the entente now sees where its policy of trying to force matters leads," a prominent Greek official, with sympathies for the entente, said to the Associated Press today. "The moral effect of Greece's entry into the war with the allies unquestionably would have been a shortening of the war by many months. Without a figure like Zaimis to conduct the negotiations there is scarcely a ghost of a chance that this can be arranged. God knows nobody in Greece has opposed entry into the war for the last fortnight."

King Constantine, however much he may be annoyed by the delay in settling relations of Greece with the entente, is seeking a premier who will hasten arrangements to depart from neutrality.

HAVE REACHED COMPROMISE.

Hungarian Premier and His Foes Come to an Agreement.

Berne, Switzerland, Sept. 14.—Wireless dispatches from Budapest announce that a compromise has been reached between Premier Tisza and the leaders of the opposition. The premier has consented not to adjourn parliament before the end of the month and the opposition leaders have agreed not to criticize the military authorities but only the administration and its foreign policy.

Count Julius Andrassy, former premier and leader of the opposition, precipitated a crisis in the Hungarian parliament on Aug. 24, when he announced that he would no longer respect the political truce effected at the outbreak of the war and would resume criticism of the government. It was reported at that time that the developments in the Balkans had brought a demand from the opposition for a coalition cabinet and within the last few days it was reported that this had been agreed upon.

GERMANS ATTACK STRONGLY.

Paris, Sept. 14.—The Germans made vigorous efforts last night to drive the French from territory captured recently on the Somme and Verdun fronts. The war office today announced the results of several assaults near and south of the Somme and east of the Meuse at Vaux Chapitree wood.

RUSSIANS CHECKED BY TURKS.

Constantinople, Sept. 14.—Turkish forces have checked the Russian offensive in the Ognott sector of Turkish Armenia, according to a war office statement dated Sept. 12. The Russians have suffered heavy losses in fruitless attacks, declares the report.

which read: "This is not a sympathetic strike—the companies want to destroy the union. We want no 'master-and-servant' contracts. We call that slavery. We want to be free."

Five trolley cars came together today in a series of rear-end collisions on Westchester avenue in the Bronx and ten passengers were injured, one seriously. The accidents occurred at the foot of a steep incline and the car crews, who said they were strikebreakers, claimed the rails had ben greased so that the brakes would not hold.

Mayor Mitchel Has No Plan.

Mayor Mitchel admitted that he had no plan which promised any settlement of the strike. Suggestions to grant a franchise to a motor omnibus company or to ask the governor to call a special session of the legislature to enact compulsory arbitration law were rejected by the mayor.

Officials of the transit companies persisted in their refusal to submit the side of the dispute to arbitration and asserted that the service of the surface lines is being increased daily by the employment of strike breakers. Nevertheless the elevated and subway lines and steam transportation between Manhattan and Westchester continue greatly congested.

Despite the maintenance of regular schedules on the subway and elevated lines of the Interborough Rapid Transit company and the gradual restoration of service on the surface lines, leaders of the striking street railway employes declared today they were far from being defeated. They hinted that the danger of a sympathetic strike is not yet over.

Following a parade and demonstration by the strikers, the question of a "sympathetic" strike will be discussed at meetings of the Central Federated unions of Brooklyn and Manhattan. Strike leaders predict that resolutions favoring a strike among trades allied with the street railway employes will be adopted. Whether the strike will actually take place, however, will depend on the individual votes of the union, it is asserted. Traction officials announced today that service in the subway and on the elevated roads was better than normal while service on most of the street car lines was from 25 to 40 per cent below normal. The railway companies say it is no longer necessary for them to hire strike breakers, claiming that hundreds of their former employes have returned to work.

MARYS TO HAVE A PICNIC.

Noblesville, Ind., Sept. 14.—Arrangements are being completed for the second annual picnic of Marys to be held here Saturday afternoon, September 23, on the lawn of the Second ward school. "There were more than 200 Marys in attendance last fall at the first meeting of the kind ever held in the state. Many counties were represented and a large number were present from Indianapolis. Notices are being sent out over the state and it is expected that the attendance this year will be greatly increased. Many souvenirs will be awarded, among these being a gift for Mary coming the farthest to attend the meeting. The marigold is the chosen flower for this unique gathering. The invitation is extended to every one whose name is Mary.

GEN. WILDER SAYS FAREWELL.

Frankfort, Ind., Sept. 14.—Members of the Wilder brigade Reunion association who are here attending the annual reunion, were affected greatly at the closing session by the farewell of General John T. Wilder, who was commander of the organization during the civil war when it gained fame in the union army. Tears coursed the cheeks of the veterans as they shook hands with him and heard him declare that he did not believe he would be able to attend another reunion. His home is in Tennessee.

Officers were elected. Richard C. Clark, of Frankfort, was re-elected president and W. H. H. Benefiel, secretary. The selection of the 1917 meeting place was left to a committee including Captain F. M. VanPelt and H. H. Durbin, both of Anderson, and W. O. Crouse, of Lafayette.

PLANNING TO MEET COMMERCIAL NEEDS

Wilson Maps Out Program to Be Followed if He is Re-Elected.

[By Gilson Gardner.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—President Wilson is about to announce plans on which he has been at work for meeting the commercial needs which may result from the close of the war and for general governmental aid to business. If elected, he intends to use his influence to secure the following legislative and executive program:

1. A revision of the tariff along lines recommended by the non-partisan tariff commission to meet the altered commercial needs created by the revised tariffs of warring powers and the pressure likely to be applied by new commercial alliances. The president's tariff policy admits a reasonable amount of protection and due consideration of revenue.

2. Organization and extension to foreign countries of the credit machinery of the United States of which the federal reserve system is the present nucleus. The United States has become the great lending and owning nation of the world and this pre-eminence involves dangers and responsibilities which must be met by legislative and executive action.

3. Organization of American industries by means of cartels, or federal incorporation, for the purpose of more successfully competing in the foreign markets of the world. This policy, now urged by the federal trade commission, involves a departure from the Sherman law's sweeping ban on all co-operative organization. The president's idea is that size shall not be regarded as a menace and that regulation shall curb improper practices in domestic markets, while combination enables the business men of the United States to get their share of the world's trade.

4. Development by the federal trade commission of a uniform system of accounting and cost keeping for the use of private business.

5. Developing and improving transportation facilities on land and water. For the latter purposes the new law authorizing the government to purchase $50,000,000 worth of shipping and put the vessels into commercial service is the first step. The second step is the extension of federal aid on a large scale to the railroads of the United States. This aid is to be worked out along lines recommended by the special joint committee recently created by congress at the instance of Senator Newlands, and the lines most likely to be followed, in the judgment of President Wilson are, (a) the elimination of the present system of regulation by state commissions with their varying regulations and placing the whole railway system under the control of the federal interstate commerce commission; (b) re-financing the roads in such a way that the abuses of frenzied finance may be corrected, but at the same time money provided for adequately providing improvements and extensions.

These policies are regarded as supplemental to the enactments in the interest of labor which have characterized the recent congress.

The building was being remodeled for a Cleveland clothing company and was weakened by the removal of a support early in the day, it is said.

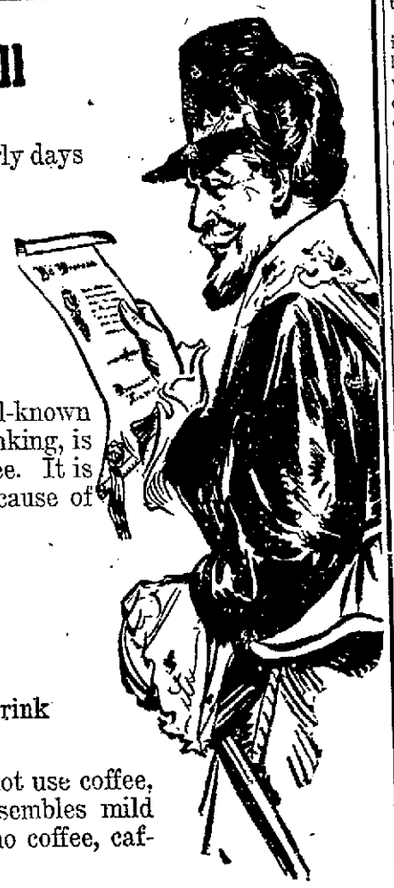
An Old English Handbill

advertised a public warning about coffee in its early days as a beverage in England. It said:



"You are not to drink it after supper unless you intend to be watchful, for it will hinder sleep for three or four hours."

That was 250 years ago. Today it is a well-known fact that sleeplessness, brought on by coffee drinking, is due to the presence of the drug, caffeine, in coffee. It is also known that coffee drinking is a common cause of various other ills.

POSTUM

was devised especially for people who should not use coffee, but who like a hot beverage with meals. It resembles mild Java coffee in its snappy taste, but contains no coffee, caffeine, nor any harmful element.

Postum is good for old and young, and can be drunk freely at any time of the day with pleasure and comfort.

DAILY BIBLE READINGS FOR THE HOME

James 1:1-12.

1 James, a servant of God and of the Lord Jesus Christ, to the twelve tribes which are scattered abroad, greeting.

2 My brethren, count it all joy when ye fall into divers temptations;
3 Knowing this, that the trying of your faith worketh patience.
4 But let patience have her perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing.
5 If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him.
6 But let him ask in faith, nothing wavering: for he that wavereth is like a wave of the sea driven with the wind and tossed.
7 For let not that man think that he shall receive any thing of the Lord.
8 A doubleminded man is unstable in all his ways.
9 Let the brother of low degree rejoice in that he is exalted:
10 But the rich, in that he is made low: because as the flower of the grass he shall pass away.
11 For the sun is no sooner risen with a burning heat, but it withereth the grass, and the flower thereof falleth, and the grace of the fashion of it perisheth: so also shall the rich man fade away in his ways.
12 Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him.

The State's Expenses

A good many very excellent gentlemen who display reasonableness and absolute sanity of judgment in pretty much everything else fly off at an amazing tangent in their criticism of the course of their political opponents. They are apparently determined that the rules of fairness which they apply in their appraisement of ordinary matters shall not be used in the consideration of anything which has even remotely to do with the attitude or the accomplishment of those with whom they do not agree in political matters.

Something of this sort is now plainly in evidence in republican attacks which are being made on democratic state administrations in Indiana in the matter of state expenditures. They line up side by side the sum total of state expense under republican administration years ago with the amount now needed to carry on the state government, and, spurning the suggestion that an analysis should be made to discover what new service of benefit to the people is being rendered, what lawful obligations are being paid, how much of old indebtedness is being wiped out or what measure of increased return the people are enjoying, simply and summarily proclaim the contrast as unanswerable evidence of wanton waste, extravagance and shameless profligacy.

The Sentinel does not believe the thoughtful voter is going to be misled by any such specious tactics as that. He will demand details and specifications. He will insist on being shown where there has been waste, where extravagance, where the state has not been receiving full value in return for its expenditures and what state governmental agency that is now serving the people can be dispensed with to effect wholesale saving, yet nothing of this sort is offered as an accompaniment of criticism. The voter wants to be told just where and precisely how the proposed beneficent legerdemain is to be applied to keep the state's expenditures going downward instead of upward when he cannot make things work that way in his own affairs and when he cheerfully agrees that he steadily demands, and is entitled to, an advancing standard of governmental service. He is concerned not so much in the volume of state expense within reasonable limits as in the fact that he is getting full and fair return for his money, intelligently expended and economically administered in the interest of the public service, whether that service be large or small. On that basis the democracy of Indiana has no fear in submitting its record for the approval of the voter.

General Carranza's commissioners at New London take infinite pains to assure us that the recent Mexican decrees affecting taxation of American-owned mining property south of the border were in no sense intended to be confiscatory, and that, as a matter of fact, the real purpose was quite as much to put in operation properties long idle as to raise governmental revenues. American-owned property in Mexico has been the source of no little of our trouble with Mexico, but General Carranza is crafty enough as a financier to appreciate that only those who possess can pay, and American owners of mines in Mexico look to him much like the real thing as possessors.

Perhaps it hasn't occurred to Mr. Hughes that a lot of his present caustic criticism of the Adamson eight-hour railroad law, given in the form of advice before the enactment of the measure, might have constituted rather more patriotic public service than do his splenetic attacks at this time. Yet Mr. Hughes was then as silent as the sphinx on this subject. The moment the rail strike was averted, however, the torrent of his criticism was turned loose on the president's head.

New York style-makers declare that present high prices of wearing apparel are not the fault of the fashions—that styles require about five years to run their natural course and that present models in most garments were in vogue before the war started. We hadn't suspected the style-maker as yet, but his haste in establishing an alibi is going to make it necessary for him to submit some corroborative evidence.

There was a lot of opposition in some quarters to government embarkation into the manufacture of armor plate, but each of those one hundred cities now engaged in a mad scramble to secure the big industry want it distinctly understood that none of the kicks came from their direction. They were the original whoopers-up for the enterprise.

Mr. Lorimer's attempt to "come back" in politics and win a republican nomination for congress from Illinois looked fine and fancy from a distance, but it evidently was not at all alluring to the folk nearer home.

The state fair which has just closed at Indianapolis, is reported to have made money this year. It is clear that wonders have not entirely ceased.

Getting Chummy With Father

(Springfield Daily News.)

The other fellow also has troubles. You may not know what they are; in fact you are almost certain not to know what they are, but he has them, just the same. That's why all of us ought to be mighty considerate toward the other fellow.

All of which is suggested by a case in court the other day. A man who was supposed to be pretty well off as regards this world's goods, was sued for a bill which he had not paid. When judgment was rendered against him he made a statement to the court, in which he told of the losses he had sustained lately, of the manner in which his hopes had gone astray. And then he told what he was doing, and had been doing, for other people.

In the first place he had some distant relatives that had not turned out just right, and he had been endeavoring to save them. Then he had a friend who had been financially embarrassed, and he had let the friend have a good deal of money. He was educating a couple of boys that nobody suspected he was aiding, and he was himself a physical wreck and had been required to spend a lot of money trying to get well while other people supposed he had been spending it having fun at the fashionable watering places. And none of these things were known to the gentleman's most intimate acquaintances, because he had never been much of a hand to talk about his own troubles.

None of us are capable of passing upon the other fellow. We do a lot of judging, and we are pretty handy with our comments and our criticisms. But the truth is, no man knows any other man, or ever will. Each must solve his own problems; each must bear his own troubles as best he can. But all of us can be a little more charitable, all of us can be a little more forgiving, all of us can be a little more helpful, the one unto the other.

FOOTBALL.

Football used to be a game only for the brave, fearless and brainless, but in these days of maniac auto drivers and street cars suffering from acute indigestion of human beings, participating in a football game is looked upon by the poor 1916 goof as a rest.

The game isn't like it used to be. It's more modern—like the war.

In the old days when a fellow was hurt he was picked up and carried to the sidelines, and it was up to him either to live or die. But now after a scrimmage when the pile of players is unravelled like a bunch of spaghetti, and a player is found with his head three feet in the turf he is picked out with a vacuum cleaner, set on a flivver equipped with a pulmotor and operated on during the ride off the field. If he dies on the way, there's a coroner's jury and a satin-lined box with silver handles ready on the sidelines.

Don't you think the game has advanced a lot, Leopold?

COLBY ASSAILS HUGHES.

Progressive Says Nominee Has Lined Up With Reactionaries.

New York, Sept. 14.—Bainbridge Colby, leader of the progressive movement in New York and the man who made the speeches nominating Roosevelt at both national progressive conventions, issued a statement last night declaring that Hughes has made it clear since his return to New York that he has cast his lot with the reactionary element of the republican party.

"Anti-machine republicans have observed with amazement that Mr. Hughes' first political act upon his return to his home state was to effect a public reconciliation with Francis Hendricks, of Syracuse, the venerable old guard boss of the interior of the state," said Mr. Colby.

BABY DRINKS ACID.

18-Month-Old Child Is Not Expected to Live.

Bluffton, Ind., Sept. 14.—An 18-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Stephens, who live six miles southeast of Petroleum, in Nottingham township, near the Harper schoolhouse, is unconscious and will probably die as the result of drinking a small quantity of carbolic acid. The acid was in a bottle, which had been thrown out at the home of a neighbor of the Stephens family. The bottle had been nearly emptied and was tossed out with some other trash. Some rain water collected in it and when the little girl found it there was a quantity of the diluted acid in the flask. It is supposed that she thought that he water was for her to drink, for she swallowed a good deal of it. The acid was strong enough to burn her quite severely, and she sank into a coma shortly after drinking the acid. Dr. George B. Morris, of Petroleum, who was called, holds out no hope for the child's recovery. The baby drank the poison about 10:30 this morning.

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE.

B. B. Case Shoots Self While Despondent Over Ill Health.

South Milford, Sept. 14.—Bus B. Case, age 63, a life long resident of this community, attempted suicide Wednesday at the Case homestead, five and one-half miles northwest of here, by shooting himself through the mouth with a thirty-two caliber revolver. He is now lying at the point of death with no hope of his recovery.

The bullet took an upward course, passing through the brain and lodging at the top of the head.

Despondent over ill health is attributed as the cause of the act. He has been sick for over a year suffering with cancer of the stomach. He consulted the Mayo brothers, famous specialists, at Rochester, Minn., and other specialists over the country, who informed him there was no hope of recovery and that an operation would cause his death.

TRIED TO PASS BOGUS CHECK.

Van Wert, Ohio, Sept. 14.—Patrolman J. O. Miller and Special Officer Perry arrested Roy Seldon and Edison Davis colored, at Lima, Tuesday night for attempting to cash a bogus check at several business houses. A pair of trousers were purchased at the Van Wert Clothing company when a check for $30.50, drawn on Carey Myers, whose home is northwest of Van Wert, was refused, after which they made another effort at other business houses to have checks cashed. They also had a check on Edward Staley, of Paulding, for $27.60 The officers discovered by a visit to Myers' home that they had also taken a watch from the home which they had in their possession. The men confessed that they had got the blank checks at the Myers home.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED.

Columbia City, Ind., Sept. 14.—Mrs. Ione Warren, wife of Ben N. Warren, proprietor of the New Clugston hotel, gave a house party at their Tri-lake cottage Tuesday afternoon and furnished quite a surprise to the sixteen guests, her intimate friend, Miss Ione Ruch, being one of the number, by announcing the engagement of the last named to George A. Whitling, of Cochranton, Pa. Mrs. Warren has been aware of the engagement for some time, but it was the wish of the promised bride that the matter be kept a secret until November, as the wedding is not to occur until next spring, but the temptation was too great for he particular friend and the announcement was made in a very unique way.

HIT BY AUTOMOBILE.

Warsaw, Ind., Sept. 14.—Harriet Eakins, the eleven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Eakins, was quite painfully, but not severely injured Tuesday afternoon when she was struck by an automobile driven by a Plymouth physician. No blame is attached to the driver for the accident. The little girl was riding on her bicycle and when in front of the Charles Ker home, on East Center street, darted in front of the approaching machine and before the driver could bring the car to a stop had struck the little child. She was placed in an automobile and driven to the office of Dr. McDonald, where her injuries were dressed. Dr. McDonald was assisted by Dr. S. C. Murphy.

TAKEN FROM VAN WERT.

Van Wert, Ohio, Sept. 14.—Charles Daniels, the negro for whom the Lima mob searched after he had been arrested for assaulting a Lima woman, was taken from the Van Wert county jail by Lima officers Tuesday to be arraigned before the grand jury in Lima. Daniels had been in Van Wert since last Thursday, unknown to anyone save the sheriff and prosecutor. Following the mob scenes at Lima, Daniels was taken to Ottawa and from there to Napoleon. He was then brought to Van Wert between 12 and 1 o'clock Friday morning by Lima officers and placed in the county jail. His presence in Van Wert was kept a secret on account of the fear of mob violence again breaking out.

ARRIVE FROM CHINA.

Huntington, Ind., Sept. 14.—Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Buck, Chinese missionaries supported by the Huntington Central Christian church, from Luchow-fu, China, arrived in Huntington last evening via Seattle, Washington, on their furlough and are visiting at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Elmer Ward Cole, of Franklin street. They will remain in this city for ten days and will be present at the Central Christian church prayer meeting this evening. They have brought with them many curios from China which will be on display in the office of the Rev. Cole. The missionaries say that their trip to Huntington across the Pacific and the western states took six weeks.

PLEADS GUILTY.

Warsaw, Ind., Sept. 14.—Ernest Burket, on Wednesday pleaded guilty to a charge of paternity filed in circuit court by Edith Miner. Judge F. E. Bowser ordered Burket to pay to the plaintiff, Edith Miner, $75 a year for five years for the support of the child. The first payment is due Oct. 1, 1916, and other payments will be due on Oct. 1 of the four succeeding years. Judge Bowser's ruling is that in case the defendant fails to make the payments he shall be committed to jail. It is said that there is practically no chance of Burket making first payment on Oct. 1, and in all probability he will be a boarder of Sheriff Huffer for some time to come.

WILL MEET AT DELPHOS.

Delphos, O., Sept. 14.—Delphos was selected over Cincinnati as the place for holding the next convention of the Catholic Knights of Ohio, according to press bulletins from Hamilton, O., the scene of the convention which closed Wednesday. J. J. Kramer, Henry Wulfhorst and John Tltenburger, who were sent from the local branch to attend the convention as delegates, left with instructions to make a bid for the convention. These delegates had the support of the delegates from the numerous surrounding villages and cities, and this fact, no doubt, accounts for their success in securing the next convention for Delphos.

FESTIVAL AT HARTFORD CITY.

Hartford City, Ind., Sept. 14.—Every factory in the city is to be asked to make an exhibit at the annual festival, to be held during the first week of October. At the meeting of the fesival committee Tuesday evening a committee composed of S. J. Farrell (chairman) and M. A. Another case across from the King home at the home of Mrs. Adam Miller has also developed. The parents of the Cain child are at a loss how the disease was contracted. State board of health officials are expected here shortly to investigate the cases.

Society

Ten intimate friends of Miss Ruth Riker donned their prettiest gowns and met at the home of Mrs. Frank Stewart, of Hoagland avenue, this afternoon much pleased to be expected and delighted every moment of the time they were there. Mrs. Stewart in planning the affair purchased a recipe box and sent one of the indexed cards to each young woman invited, who in turn put down any toothsome recipe she chose and took it to the party. Mrs. Stewart replaced them and after supper presented Miss Riker with the handsome box with its valuable contents and closed in memories. A charming table decked in pink roses with a large colonial bouquet for Miss Riker and smaller ones so each guest was remembered were momentarily forgotten when the supper itself was being partaken of, for Mrs. Stewart, putting it mildly, is "some cook." There were a number of pretty touches, such as a large white satin bow marking the bride-elect's chair and place cards were of bridal design. The guests were Mrs. Daniel Milligan, Mrs. Helen Hipskind, Mrs. Irving Lutz, Mrs. Ruskin Stoner, Miss Martha Tolan, Miss Martha Vail, Miss Florence Achenbach, Miss Irma Henderson, Miss Gladys Walker, Miss Mildred Bowser.

Miss Italia Evans and Miss Mary Evans, two cousins of Miss Ruth Evans, who is to be married later in the month, entertained over thirty young women this afternoon at the Country club. There were tables for bridge and the girls who do not play cards sewed and visited in an informal manner with those who did. A profusion of garden flowers made a lovely setting for the clubrooms and porches, and the charm of young womanhood in their pretty hats and gowns was much greater than any card game or the contents of any sewing bag. Delicious things to eat and drink were served and then the hosts for the afternoon distributed three gifts, two as prizes in the bridge game and one to their cousin and honored guest.

Fort Wayne to Hear Real Grand Opera

Local Committee Makes Final Arrangement for October 12.

The announcement is now made formally by a representative of the Boston-National Grand Opera company that that big organization would appear in Fort Wayne on the evening of October 12, as agreed upon with the members of the newly formed local grand opera committee, further contained a promise to the committee that if Fort Wayne decided after the coming presentation that she wants grand opera of the highest class combined with ballet, it would be brought here annually.

The complete committee whose members have made it possible for Fort Wayne to have opera of the class that it has hitherto been necessary to travel to New York to hear, is: Maurice C. Niezer, Samuel M. Foster, F. K. Safford, W. J. Vesey, G. M. Leslie, Sam Wolf, ... M. Griffin, E. C. Miller, Dr. Maurice I. Rosenthal, Dr. H. A. Duemling, F. E. Stouder.

At the request of the local members, Managing Director Max Rabinoff, of the Boston-National Grand Opera company has agreed to present the opera "Faust" at the Palace theater with its complete production and brilliant cast of artists, including the famous Irish prima donna, Maggie Teyte; Riccardo Martin, from the Metropolitan opera; Jose Mardones, said to be the greatest living basso; Thomas Chalmers, the American baritone; Elvira Leveroni, Fely Clement, Giorgio Puliti and others.

As part of the performance, the "Valpurgis Night" ballet, that was written in the original score by Gounod but has rarely been produced in America because of the expense of a sufficiently capable ballet, will be given by the complete Ballet Russe.

Because of the importance of the engagement and because only a single performance can be given Fort Wayne this year, it is arranged that mail orders with checks will be received and will be filled in order, thus allowing opportunity for equal choice of seats to both Fort Wayne and out-of-town patrons.

TAGGART RETURNS TO GET INTO CAMPAIGN

Indianapolis, Sept. 14.—The democratic campaign in Indiana has taken on new activity with the arrival here of Senator Taggart from his summer home at Hyannisport, Mass. Mr. Taggart reached here shortly after 10 o'clock in the morning and in the afternoon he visited the democratic state headquarters in the Public Savings building, called on Governor Ralston and other state officials, took lunch with State Chairman Bernard Korbly, discussed plans for the campaign with Frank Butler, chairman of the speakers' bureau, and departed late in the afternoon for French Lick.

Senator Taggart's campaign tour is being mapped out at the state headquarters, although he will not appear as a stump speaker. He said Tuesday he is here to take orders from the state committee and will obey whatever instructions he receives from the party's headquarters.

"A good part of my campaigning will consist of going along with Senator Kern and carrying his manuscript," said Senator Taggart jokingly.

Mr. Taggart will return today for the notification of Vice President Marshall, and will remain here for some time after that date, he said.

MILE-A-MINUTE MURPHY AGAIN ACCIDENT VICTIM

New York, Sept. 14—Charles F. Murphy, the policeman who earned the nickname of "Mile-a-Minute Murphy," riding a bicycle paced by a locomotive, is in a hospital here with his left leg fractured and his left knee broken in two places. Murphy, who has had many narrow escapes from death, having been buried in quicksand, hit by an aeroplane and run over by an automobile, collided with a motor truck while on a motorcycle last night, and was thrown to the street. It was said that his left leg probably will be too stiff for riding hereafter.

Seventeen years ago Murphy won his sobriquet of "Mile a Minute" by riding at that rate on a board track between the rails of the Long Island railroad behind a train. It is said that he won 1,700 prizes as a bicycle rider.

REFUSES TO ACCEPT CORONER'S VERDICT

Prosecutor Suspects Murder in Death of Woman at Noblesville.

Noblesville, Ind., Sept. 14. — When County Coroner Baldwin filed a report last evening finding that Mrs. Curtis Swain, who was supposed to have committed suicide Monday, came to her death by drinking poison administered by her own hand, Prosecutor Guy announced that he will not accept the report as final, but will call the grand jury to investigate the matter. The prosecutor declared he had evidence in his possession to support his theory of foul play, but declined to file any affidavits until the grand jury had completed its work.

Mrs. John Teschner, who has been in jail here in connection with the case, was released last night on the order of the prosecutor.

It was intimated that Mrs Teschner might be charged with perjury in connection with the marriage of her son, Jack Teschner, and Miss Martha Kemp, of this city, who were married Saturday in Indianapolis. Mrs. Teschner and a daughter, who lives in Indianapolis, are charged with making affidavit that Kemp and the girl were residents of Indianapolis. The girl gave her age on the marriage license application as 18 years, but it is said she is only 16. Her father, Gilbert Kemp, threatens vigorous prosecution of Mrs. Teschner.

Although Prosecutor Guy declined to reveal his evidence in the Swain case he intimated that Mrs. Swain had chided members of the Teschner family about the wedding of the son and Miss Kemp until she provoked a quarrel.

Mrs. Swain, the wife of a plasterer in Indianapolis, had been separated from her husband for some time. When her death was announced it was said that she had committed suicide because of inability to clothe two of her four children properly for entrance to the public schools.

"I know that there has been a bitter feeling between the two families for some time," said the prosecutor, "and I also know that the Teschners have made threats against Mrs. Swain. The dead woman may or may not have been drugged and then the poison forced down her throat. I don't know, but I am determined that the grand jury shall take up the matter, regardless of the coroner's report."

MRS. SMITH, AGED 83, CASTS FIRST BALLOT

Chicago Woman Exercises Right of Franchise on Birthday.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Yesterday was Mrs. Susan Smith's eighty-third birthday, and she considered herself old enough to vote. So she left her home at 1300 East Fifty-third street and cast the first ballot of her life at the polling place of the Eighth precinct of the Sixth ward. Miss Edith Swift, daughter of former Mayor George B. Swift, who was clerk of election, discovered that Mrs. Smith cast the eighty-third ballot in the precinct.

The one thing that puzzled Mrs. Smith was the duplication of the name of Charles H. Sergel, candidate for president and member of the sanitary district board. One of the judges explained it to her, and she returned to the booth and voted for Mr. Sergel twice. When she was in the polling place Arthur S. Hennessey wanted to know why Roger Sullivan's name wasn't on the ballot.

"My dear," said Mrs. Smith, going to the curtain outside of Hennessey's booth, "Mr. Sullivan isn't running this time, so you vote for some of the other nice men."

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

BABY'S PLAY PILLOW

HAVE you ever noticed how much enjoyment a baby just crawling about or able to walk a little gets from a pillow of some sort? If not, then you must give your baby a pillow like the one pictured on this page and watch him play with it. And after he has played with it watch him go to sleep on it!

Make this play pillow of natural colored linen and let it be at least eighteen inches long by twelve wide when finished. Cut the mother cat and her kitten from dull blue linen or chambray and applique them to the linen slip, using tiny invisible stitches. Fill in the eyes with yellow embroidery cotton and outline them in black, making black centers. Then, still in outline stitch, make nose, mouth, whiskers and eyebrows on both pussies, outlining also the front legs.

Embroider the "C is for cat" in any convenient, simple stitch, the letters on the pillow shown being outlined in black and filled in with seed stitches in blue. Make a few buttonholes along one end of the slip so that the buttons will come on the inside and not hurt tender little faces, and your pillow slip is done.

After a soft pillow has been put in this cover you will find that it will become a most prized possession, so easy for small hands to gather up and so easy for small bodies to fall on!

Rabbits, front view, with upstanding ears, pink eyes and a fitting sentiment attached would make another cute pillow. Cut the bunnies from brown linen and applique on the tan.

This pillow might be found useful also in making a long train trip where a tiny child was to be taken along. It is not much trouble to make, is washable and an original idea for a plaything. Therefore, all lovers of small children take heed!

THE SLEEP-WALKING CHILD

THE child who walks in its sleep is always the subject of considerable anxiety on the part of its parents. Neighbors and friends are never wanting who are ready to recount stories of accidental falls and serious injuries which have occurred within their knowledge as the result of the sleep-walking habit. It is a fact that while sleep walkers seem to live more or less of a charmed life, yet accidents do occur, and sometimes a bad bump or a painful fall awakens the sleeper with an uncomfortable fright.

As a usual thing, those who walk in their sleep have very active minds, which fabricate dreams calling for action. Sometimes the subconscious mind of the sleeper retains vivid waking impressions, which are acted upon during sleep. Perhaps this dormant suggestion takes the form of a dream which is so realistic that the sleeper arises without hesitation to do the thing or to go to the place the dream indicates.

Another cause of sleep walking is indigestion, which causes restless sleep. Clearly the sleep-walking child should have a carefully guarded diet, and be given an especially light supper. Children who have very active minds should live a quiet, normal life, and especially should late afternoon excitement and evening entertainments be avoided.

Annoying experiences which lurk in the background of the mind are likely to assume large proportions in the subconscious. If, for example, a child's dreams indicate a strong dislike to any person or thing or a fear, the wise mother will do all in her power to reassure her child, not only to restablish confidence and relieve the nervous tension, but to prevent the likelihood of this underlying dread leading to the danger of sleep walking.

Having done all that is reasonable in the way of providing carefully selected food, harmonious and non-exciting environments, good ventilation and the correct weight of clothing for day-time use and night-time covering, several steps will have been taken in the right direction. It is not wise to stop here, however, because some unforeseen condition may arise, causing the child to walk in its sleep at an unexpected time. To prevent accidents any and all avenues of danger should be systematically guarded.

If there are stairways down which falls may be taken, these are best closed by a locked gate or bar. Windows should be provided with screens both in summer and winter, and if necessary, arrangements should be made for loosely fastening the door of the room occupied by the sleep walker.

In one home where it was impractical to close the stairways because of other members of the family, the door leading into the room of the little girl who walked in her sleep, was fastened with a chain on the outside. The chain was long enough that the door could be opened at least a foot, permitting her to speak across the hall to her mother if necessity arose. As her room was lighted with electricity, there was small danger of fire, and in case of illness, she could easily summon help. This measure was only resorted to after she had received a severe fall which threatened serious injury.

The sleep-walking habit is frequently outgrown as the nervous tendency which it indicates is overcome, but in the meantime effort should be made to safeguard the one addicted to this habit.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

Request for Clothing

If any one has any children's clothes that they cannot use any more, would you please tell them that I need some very badly. I have a boy 4 and a little girl 2.

If any one desiring this applicant's address writes to us they may have same.

Dress Trimming

I am making a voile dress. Will you tell me of something that would be pretty to make the collar and cuffs for it. It is a Russian blouse, light blue. VIOLET.

A very fine organdie would be very attractive combined with the light blue voile, for collar and cuffs.

To Destroy Ants

Please tell me of a way to get rid of ants? They are inside the house as well as the outside. Mrs. K.

They can be easily destroyed by tracing them to their nests and pouring into them gasoline, benzine or coal oil. When using these substances remember that they are highly inflammable.

BUTTON-TRIMMED FROCK

BUTTONS are very much in favor as a trimming for fall frocks. They are offered in a variety of styles, shapes and materials. On the blue frock shown black bone buttons have been successfully used to characterize the frock. The manner in which they are used on the sleeves is a new note.

The style of the dress is exceptionally good. The apron panel of chiffon is a becoming line, being a continuation of the bib of the blouse. Theb and of satin a the bottom serves to weight the filmsy material. Observe the sleeve. It is made of the blue chiffon and on it are applied two bias bands of satin which give the effects of an oversleeve. The material is ample enough to flare and fall over the narrow cuff of chiffon edged with satin.

Georgette crepe, a material which has won a permanent place in feminine hearts, is used for the rolling collar, which gives a bright touch to the frock.

Very jaunty is the blue velvet hat ornamented with a white velvet leaf and blue ribbon.

SEPARATE SKIRTS

MANY persons object to separate skirts, but there is no cause for objection when one considers that with a separate skirt can be worn a blouse which will make a one-piece gown of the two garments.

The one-piece skirts appearing for fall are being made of satin, charmeuse, novelty taffetas, including stripes, checks and plaids. Many of the dressier skirts are made with tunics, in some cases slightly draped at the side. Others, again, are simple, being shirred on at the waist line or pleated, the pleats in many instances not being stitched.

Quite a few of the new skirts are trimmed at the bottom with velvet ribbon, with bias bands of velvet, or with bias bands of self material. Fur is also used on the separate skirt.

Among the cloth skirts are those made of broadcloth, wool velours, fine serge and gabardines. Embroidery is used to a large extent on these models, the stitches appearing around the bottom, on the pockets and on the belt. Chain-stitching is a favorite form of trimming for many models. It is usually in contrasting color and frequently is in heavy silk floss, altho in many cases the stitching is done in colored wool.

Pleats are highly favored, side pleats, box pleats and cluster pleats all being called into use.

For sports wear large checks and plaids in bright colors are offered. Knitted fabrics are also popular for this purpose.

AT THE PALACE

THE CHARM OF COLLEGE DAYS.

All the Romance of Collegiate Life in New Palace Opening.

All the charm of college days whether in the prospect, retrospect or merely envy, is reflected in the merry musical comedy extravaganza, "Fraternity Boys and Girls," the week-end attraction at the New Palace. With Sylvia DeFrankle, the dainty singing comedienne, in the principal role and surrounded by a cast of surpassing merit, "Fraternity Boys and Girls" should prove a happy medium for the introduction of musical comedy to the New Palace 1916-17 season. The extravaganza is given in six elaborate scenes, in which every artifice of stage craft has been recruited.

The girls in the college romp have given the production a reputation for beauty. At least six of these lassies have at various times posed for some of the nation's best known illustrators. Miss Henrietta Reahms, the leader of the co-eds, is the possessor of what artists claim are the most perfect arms in America.

In the supporting cast of principals are Marjorie Young, Florence Travers, Russell Frost, John P. Morse, Harry O'Lynn and others. This production will close its engagement on Saturday evening.

AT THE MAJESTIC

" FAIR AND WARMER."

Majestic's First Big Offering of Season Friday and Saturday.

Selwyn & Company will present "Fair and Warmer", the farce by Avery Hopwood which was famous all over the country before one-half of its year run at the Eltinge theater, New York, was completed, at the Majestic theater on Friday and Saturday with matinee Saturday.

"See 'Fair and Warmer' when it gets here," was the admonition of every New York visitor as soon as he reached his home town. Its success measured in terms of dollars and cents was unprecedented in New York. Its theater was so filled to overflowing at every performance that before it was four months old it had bettered the brilliant record of "Within the Law."

Avery Hopwood has never written anything so incessantly amusing, so adroit, so witty or so sympathetic as this tale of two innocents who tried to revenge themselves on two giddy marriage partners.

Selwyn & Company have selected an admirable cast of farceurs for its local presentation.

WILL BUILD ITS OWN PLANT.

Government Not to Purchase Private Armor Factory.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—The government will construct its own armor plate factory, in the opinion of naval officers. When hearings on the question of the selection of a site for the proposed $11,000,000 armor plant were resumed at the navy department today no offers for the sale of private plants had been made and it was believed that none would be made.

Additional offers of sites were made before Secretary Daniels and other naval officials today. Advantages of Rhode Island cities were urged first. The claims of more than a hundred middle western and eastern cities already have been presented.

TRY THE SENTINEL WANT ADS.

HERE'S A NEW RECORD-BUSTING FISH! FREED, TO WIN BACK MUSE.

The biggest fish ever caught on regulation tackle, which means hook and line, rod and reel. A 24-pound line was used and a 12-ounce rod, called by big game fishermen the famous "12-24 tackle."

The fish, a black sea bass, was caught at Catalina Island, Cal., most famous big game fishing banks in the world. It weighed practically a quarter of a ton, 493 pounds, to be exact, and was brought to gaff by N. A. Howard, of Piedmont, Cal., who fought the monster for an hour and twenty-five minutes.

This sets a new world's record for black sea bass. The old record stood for eleven years and, according to T. S. Manning, secretary for the Catalina Tuna club, largest anglers' organization in the world, the new record will probably stand eleven years more.

"This is the largest fish ever caught on a hook and line of standard size," says Manning. "Bigger fish have been caught off Newfoundland and in the Mediterranean, but with entirely different tackle. Hand lines were used with enormous hooks."

WHERE THE AUSTRIANS STRUCK AT NEW ENEMY

"Iron Gates of the Danube" a Most Interesting Locality.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—Ahe Iron Gates, the last great defile of the Danube in its course to the Black sea and the first point at which the Austrians launched an offensive against their new enemies, the Rumanians, is described in the following war geography, which the National Geographic society issued today:

"Contrary to the general belief of readers to whom the term 'Iron Gates of the Danube' is familiar, this famous defile of the chief waterway of Hungary, Rumania, Bulgaria and Serbia, does not derive its name from precipitous walls of rock through which the waters dash in a narrow channel, as at the Kazan defile, but from the dangerous boulders that fairly litter the river bed for a distance of nearly two miles, beginning at the once strongly fortified island of Ada Kaleh, which was captured by Hungary in 1878, and is still inhabited by a picturesque colony of 500 Turks. Opposite this island, on the left bank of the Danube, and at the mouth of the inconsequential Bachna river, which here forms the Hungarian-Rumanian boundary, is the attractive little Rumanian customs village of Verciorova, on the Budapest-Bucharest railway, 237 miles west of the latter city.

"It was not until 1890 that work was begun in a definite and comprehensive manner to rid the Iron Gates of some of its gravest dangers to navigation. In that year a Hungarian engineering company undertook the task of removing nearly a million and a quarter cubic yards of stone from the water course. Eight years after the enterprise was inaugurated the canal, which had been hewn from the solid rock on the Serbian side of the river, was ready to be thrown open to the steamers which ply the Danube from Budapest to the Black sea. The canal was designed to provide a year-around channel ten feet deep, whereas the original course of the river was not navigable for more than nine months out of every twelve.

"The opening of the waterway was the occasion for a great celebration in which three monarchs participated—Emperor Francis Joseph, of Austria-Hungary; King Alexander, of Serbia, and King Carol, (Charles I.,) of Rumania. The festivities of the day were somewhat marred by the discovery that the current through the canal was so swift that while steamers could rush through it in their downward journey, they could not make the trip upward, so that the old river course had to be used for westward-bound traffic.

"When the water is high the rocks of the Iron Gates are completely submerged, but they are only a few feet beneath the surface and the boiling, churning waves present a terrifying sight to the timid passenger as his steamer fights its way to the calmer reaches in the vicinity of Orsova(pronounced Orshova,) the first town in Hungarian territory, five miles above the rapids and a ten-hours journey by boat below Belgrade, the peace-times capital of Serbia.

"Instead of the gloomy gorge which most travelers expect to find, the banks on each side of the Iron Gates present a beautiful picture of gently sloping hills, bountifully wooded. In the early summer these woods are a fairyland of flowers and the winds are fairly weighted with the fragrance of wild blossoms in countless variety, while a short distance from the river the huntsman finds deer, wild boar, bear and other games in abundance. Enhancing the charm of the scene are the songs of myriad of birds, which make their home in the forests.

"As the river progresses eastward into Rumania, the wooded hills disappear and are succeeded by barren sand ridges."

Train Your Hair as an Actress Does

No class of people devote as much time to beauty as do actresses, and naturally no class must be more careful to retain and develop their charms. Inquiry among them develops the information that in their hair care they find it dangerous to shampoo with any makeshift hair cleanser. Instead they have studied to find the finest preparation made for shampooing and bringing out the beauty of the hair. The majority of them say that to enjoy the best hair wash and scalp stimulator that is known, get a package of canthrox from your druggist; dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and your shampoo is ready. It costs less than three cents for this amount. After its use the hair dries rapidly, with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its lustre and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth.—Advertisement.

UNIFORM LANDSCAPING FOR HARRISON HILL

The landscaping effect surrounding the three homes which are planned for the first block south of Rudisill boulevard on the west side of Harrison boulevard will be one that will add much to the beauty of Harrison Hill, the charming new addition located in the angle formed by Rudisill boulevard and Calhoun street. The entire grading, as well as all the trees and shrubbery for this whole block will be so arranged as to secure the best general effect instead of being planned for each individual home. One firm of landscapers is to have charge of the designing of the whole block, and it promises to be one of the show residential squares of the city. Details regarding this and the scores of other features which are being planned for the improvement of Harrison Hill may be obtained from Hilgemann and Schaaf, North American Building.—Advertisement.

United America Hupmobile Due Here Tonight

Telegram

Steinhart-Randall Auto Co.

The United America Hupmobile is scheduled to arrive in your city Thursday, September 14th, at 7 p. m., for the night. The purpose of this tour is to further the swiftly spreading sentiment in favor o fa closer union between the forty-eight States; and to promote closer co-operation of the individual State and the National Governments in the interest of good roads. By emphasizing the ease of travel and communication, and by an interchange of courtesies between the governors and the people of these States, we hope to contribute to the creation of a common brotherhood of purpose and of patriotism.

J. WALTER DRAKE, President,
Hupp Motor Car Corporation.

A Four-Cylinder Challenge to Sixes, Eights, and Twelves

Aside from its patriotic purpose, this tour of the United America Hupmobile offers, in my opinion, the greatest object lesson in car-value ever given the people of this country.

The Hupmobile is blazing a trail from Washington, the National Capital, to the capitals of the forty-eight States.

With no more preparation of the car itself than you would make for a day's tour, it is undertaking a 25,000-mile journey.

It is traveling a route never before traversed by an automobile.

Hupmobile Showing Remarkable Superiority

But even this is as nothing as compared with the remarkable demonstration of the superiority of the Hupmobile Perfected Four over all other forms of motor car construction.

The Hupp Motor Car Corporation is chiefly concerned in carrying out its purpose of cementing the relations between the people of the forty-eight States, and giving renewed impetus to the good roads movement.

But as a business man I cannot blind myself to the practical side of the performance.

I cannot put aside the proof positive which it offers that Hupmobile performance is not equalled by any car of any price or any number of cylinders.

I realize that this is a strong statement.

I purposely make it so because I am prepared, whenever called upon, to furnish local proof.

In my own experience, I have had proof in plenty. It is offered now (and I repeat it herewith) in all parts of the country.

The United America Hupmobile is adding to the burden of evidence, every day of the tour.

I am glad that this car is coming here so that I can make its visit the occasion of driving home some astonishing facts which every car owner and every possible buyer ought to know.

Why More Cylinders When Four Plus Excel?

Frequently I am asked why the Hupp Motor Car Corporation builds only four-cylinder cars.

I answer now that the reason the Hupp Motor Car Corporation does not manufacture a Six, or an Eight, or a Twelve, is that the Hupmobile Perfected Four surpasses these types in year 'round performance.

In Boston, for example, not a single multi-cylinder demonstrator will compete with the Hupmobile on Corey Hill. On the hardest grade of this double hill, the Hupmobile goes from a standing start at the bottom to more than 35 miles an hour at the top—all the way on high-gear.

The manufacturer of a well known Six has given so much publicity to a hill in New York that it is known as His Hill. But the Hupmobile beats that same Six on that same hill.

Multi-cylinder cars in Philadelphia have not duplicated the high-gear performance of the Hupmobile on the famous Tam-o'-Shanter Hill in Fairmount Park.

On the word of a former Hupmobile dealer who now sells a famous six-cylinder car, the Hupmobile out-points all the multi-cylinder cars in the deep ball-bearing sand around Jacksonville, Fla.

On Hospital Hill in Kansas City and in Des Moines, on Coon Hollow Hill, Seattle; on the Pasadena-Altadena climb out of Los Angeles; on Lookout Mountain in Colorado—everywhere the going is hard and cars fail—the Hupmobile is supreme in performance.

The Proof

Now, or any other time, I stand ready to prove the power and superior performance of the Hupmobile Perfected Four in comparative and competitive demonstration of

High-gear hill climbing.	High-gear flexibility.
High-gear pulling power through sand or mud or both.	Pick-up—from a stand and on high gear.

The Hupmobile will be demonstrated against any car, of any type, of any price, just as you choose.

An Invitation To A Comparative Test

I know that these startling statements amount to an open invitation to you to find a multi-cylinder car—of any make or price—which can compare with the Hupmobile Perfected Four; or which is willing to compete with it in performance.

That is exactly the meaning I want you to take.

And I present the invitation herewith in the form of a challenge, of which I sincerely hope you will take advantage.

Please understand that this is no mere show of opposition to multi-cylinder cars.
I have no prejudice whatever against the multi-cylinder principle.

I do not question the excellence or efficiency of good multi-cylinder cars.

I am simply laying before you the facts which demonstrate that, in every essential of motor car performance, they are not the equals of the Hupmobile Perfected Four.

And I would very much appreciate your request for me to prove those facts with the Hupmobile against any other car or cars you care to name.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Dressmakers and designers from all aprts of the country and a few from Paris and London will meet here September 18-19 to decide what women shall wear.

The assemblage is known as the convention of the Fashion Art League of America—and from this league come the styles in hats, frocks, lingeries discriminating American women wear.

Lady Duff Gordon, of London and New York, will exhibit "Fashions for the Stage" with stage beauties as fashion mannikins.

Mme. Belle Armstrong Whitney, of Paris, will have an exhibit of gowns, hats, blouses and important adjuncts she brought from Paris.

The Mrs. Vernon Castle gown has been loaned to the convention by Mrs. Castle. This gown, a dancing frock in green and gold, was designed for Mrs. Castle by Miss Elizabeth Coyne, a Chicago stenographer, in a nation-wide newspaper contest.

The gowns exhibited will represent the best dressmaking art in America. Reservations in exposition hall have been made by designers in California, Minnesota, Oklahoma, New York, Montanna and other states.

The famous Gossard trophy, the highest prize that may be conferred upon an American designer, will be awarded the exhibitor of the best group of three gowns—evening, afternoon and street frocks. Mme. Marguerite, of Chicago, is the holder of the trophy.

COURSE OF HUGHES IS PLEASING WHITE HOUSE

(By Gilson Gardner.)

Washington, Sept. 12.—The white house is frankly pleased that Charles E. Hughes has accepted the eight-hour day controversy and the settlement of the railway strike as one of the campaign issues. Chairman Vance McCormick is also pleased and has telephoned his congratulations to the president. The democratic campaign committee intends to help Mr. Hughes give as great publicity as possible to this subject. They are planning to circulate what Mr. Hughes said in his speech in the south, referring to the passage by congress of the eight hour law; particularly his statement that:

"I am opposed to being dictated to either in the executive department or congress by any power on earth before the facts are known and in the absence of facts."

Also his statement:

"I stand here firmly for the principle of arbitrating industrial disputes and I would not surrender it to anybody in the country."

Opposed to this statement by Mr. Hughes, Mr. McCormick intends to circulate President Wilson's declaration that:

"It seemed to be, in considering the subject-matter of the controversy, that the whole spirit of the time and the preponderant evidence of recent economic experience spoke for the eight hour day!"

The committee calls attention to the statement by Mr. Hughes that:

"It may be very important that here and there there shall be a change in the wage scale. I know not. It is a matter for careful examination."

The committee will contrast with this statement President Wilson's accomplishments in behalf of labor, including:

Eight hour day legislation for railroad trainmen: act requiring an eight hour day in contract work for the government: eight hour day for all government workers: the eight hour law applying to women in the District of Columbia: the eight hour provision for postoffice clerks and carriers: the eight hour provision applicable to civilians engaged in the manufacture of ordinance and powder for the government: the eight hour provision as to mining of all coal to be used by the navy: the creation of the department of labor and the appointment of W. B. Wilson, former secretary of the United Mine Workers, as secretary of labor: the Clayton anti-trust act with its limitation upon the power of the courts to issue injunctions in labor disputes: the provisions for the protection of miners in the Alaska coal leasing law: the organization of the mine rescue work of the bureau of mines: the "phossy jaw" legislation to protect workers in match factories from poisoning by phosphorus: the appointment of the Walsh industrial relations commission and the printing and circulation of its valuable report: the seaman's bill: the child labor law: increased appropriations for the children's bureau, and the federal workman's compensation act.

FIND IT DIFFICULT TO GET AWAY FROM

Crooks With Many Aliases Caught by Use of Own Initials.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 12.—What is it that chains a man to the use of his real initials when he relies upon on an assumed name to keep him from trouble or the penitentiary?

In their recognition and analysis of this fact the shrewder detectives seem today one jump in advance of the sharpest crooks.

This persistence in writing the telltale initials has been the chief factor in the use of the initials C. W. His criminals.

"Some obscure mental habit holds them to the familiar characters of their signature," explained Walter Thayer, manager of the Burns agency here. "They seem unable to get away from the letters their hands have been accustomed to form. Not even when life and liberty depend upon it.

"And even detectives are prone to use the same initials, no matter how often they change their working signatures. I find myself doing it very often.

"When we go to a strange town where we know William J. Burns is registered we often locate him through that same queer persistency in use of one or more initials in his name.

"Two notorious forgers and check men were recently apprehended largely on that account. One is Charles Walker, the 'hypnotizing forger,' who for six years outwitted the best crook trappers in the country.

W. Bower, caught by the "Initial Chain."

"Walker could not stay away from in the recent arrest of many notorious aliases were 'C. Wood,' 'C. Wade,' 'C. Weston,' 'C. Warren,' and a dozen others always with the same telltale letters. It finally proved his undoing in Shreveport, La., where he was arrested recently while trying to cash a bad check.

"Another fictitious check operator of wide notoriety, William O. Bower, recently arrested in Illinois after a varied career of crime, also owes his apprehension largely to the continued use of the same initials which made it easie to trace him.

"Deserter from the Canadian army, proven bigamist and daring swindler, Bower, while leaving his trail of bad checks, drew the net about him by continuous use of the 'W' and 'B' in his alias signatures."

Criminal history is full of testimony to this interesting psychological fact. And it is proving a big factor in running down the kings of crookdom.

CONSIDER NEW PLAN FOR BORDER PATROL

International Police or a Neutral Constabulary is Suggested.

New London, Conn., Sept. 14.—Serious consideration is being given by the American-Mexican joint commission to the idea of establishing some sort of an international police or neutral constabulary along the Mexican border, it became known here today.

American members of the commission were occupied today with the Mexican conferees in investigating the cause and effect of Mexican mining decrees and advising with Major General Bliss as to the military situation on the border.

There is little prospect that the joint commission will return to the formulation of a border protocol until the American members have reached a tentative agreement among themselves as to the wisest course to pursue. They will then present their ideas to their Mexican associates for general discussion. It was indicated today that questions of real estate and other taxes in Mexico as they affect American property holders will be looked into by the joint commission when its examination of the mining taxes has been completed. In the case of land tax under Carranza punitive damage is assessed against lands lying idle which American interests have complained to the state department amounted to confiscation of their holdings. As in the case of mining taxes Carranza officials have asserted that their purpose was to foster small operations and compel the abandonment of large land holdings for speculative purposes only.

Believe Forger is a Man Dressed in Woman's Attire

Following the discovery that the store of the Duke's Clothing company, 626 Calhoun street, had taken in a worthless check for $50, in addition to the Fox Brothers and D. N. Foster furniture companies, it is the belief of the police that many spurious pieces of paper have been circulated by a clever forger.

Clerks at the Foster furniture establishment report that they believe it was a young man in woman's garb who left the valueless check with them on Monday. The voice of the woman who was trading for "uncle," who she claimed to be Dr. J. E. Bickel, 560 East DeWald street, was a coarse voice, the clerks tell police. At the Fox store it is admitted that the slender blonde might easily have been a man.

The Duke's Clothing company took in the forged paper on Saturday in payment for clothing purchased. The two furniture stores accepted the worthless tender on Monday. Several other merchants were having their list of checks examined Thursday afternoon and it is thought that more of the fictitious barter is abroad. A drug merchant, who has a check similar to the one taken by the Duke company is practically assured that he is loser. Several eastern cities have been wired to identify checks given here from eastern points.

It was a young man of about 26 who sauntered into the Duke's store Saturday morning. He needed a shave but was fairly well dressed Clerks took him for a farmer. His arm was in a sling. At every move of the arm he flinched. It had been mangled in an accident, he told.

Would Return Later.

There were manners in the way the fellow picked out a suit of clothes and other furnishings amounting to $30. He would be back later in the day to pay and take home his purchases, he said.

The customer came back at7 o'clock, Saturday night. Banks were closed. He was sorry about that, he said. He presented a check from the Casualty Accident Insurance company, of Philadelphia. It was for his injured arm. The check was for $50. The cashier took the check and gave the farmer youth $20. It was learned Wednesday afternoon that no such insurance company operated under the laws of Pennsylvania.

At the furniture stores it was a charming young woman of twenty-five who picked with care several articles of furniture for "uncle" and "aunty."

She ordered them delivered. In each case she presented checks for $50. At Fox Brothers she took a $16.50 rug and the change. At Foster's she picked out a $32 cabinet and left with $18. When the articles were delivered it was found that a mistake existed. The checks were found to be forgeries. Police were notified.

Detective Sergeant Martin Rundell has been placed on the job and is making a careful study of handwriting on the three checks. He is working on the theory that all checks were put out by the same person.

WILL MAKE TESTS TO STARVE HESSIAN FLY

Princeton, Ind., Sept. 14.—The first government test in this state to eradicate the Hessian fly, the wheat pest of southern Indiana, will be made in Gibson county, beginning next week, in connection with the office of County Agent Roy R. Marshall. Two government experts from the entomology department, Dr. A. J. Mason and J. J. Davis, will conduct the work in co-operation with farmers in an area six miles square.

The method adopted is to install breeding cages covered with cloth at specified intervals over the territory. The hatching of the eggs of the pest is carefully watched and no wheat will be sown until the eggs are all hatched. Experts say the plan has worked well in other states. It demands the entire co-operation of every farmer. No wheat will be sown by the farmers in the area described until the ground is entirely clear of the insects. The life of the Hessian fly is said to be only about three days after hatching. The method is termed a starvation policy.

The wheat crop in Gibson county for the last two years has been cut more than half on account of the fly and unless some method of stopping the ravages of the insect is found, many farmers declare they must turn to some other crop.

SYMPATHETIC STRIKE AGAIN IN PROSPECT

New York, Sept. 14.—That a sympathetic strike of 70,000 trade unionists allied with the striking street railway employes will be called Saturday night unless Mayor Mitchel and the public service commission succeed in bringing about an amicable settlement prior to that time was the prediction made by James H. Holland, president of the state federation of labor, at a mass meeting held today following a parade of the striking traction men and sympathizers.

"The match is ready," Holland said. "If nothing is done by Saturday a strike that will astonish the city will be called."

INCREASE IN GAS RATES.

Public Service Commission Issues Order Affecting Oakland City.

Indianapolis, Sept. 14.—Under an order from the public service commission, the Oakland City rates for natural gas will be increased from 35 cents net a thousand cubic feet to 50 cents net. The present rates charged for natural gas supplied from the oil fields surrounding Oakland City is 37 cents gross, with a 2-cent discount for prompt payment. The new rates will become effective on Oct. 1. It provides for a gross rate of 55 cents a thousand cubic feet, with a discount of 5 cents a thousand cubic feet for prompt payment.

The company which now supplies the gas was merged some time since with another company, and the operation of the merged company has been handled economically, according to the commission's order. The total value of the property of the company is approximately $6,000, the order says, and the returns from the present rates have been sufficient to pay a small return on only about $3,000, the order says. Therefore, the increased rates are deemed necessary.

SHOP AND RAILROAD NEWS

TWO MORE TO GO ON ROLL OF HONOR

Allen Hamilton and Adam Collis, Machinists, to Be Retired in October.

Oct. 1 two names will appear on the Pennsylvania "roll of honor," as a prominent federal official once called that railway company's list of pensioners. They are Allen Hamilton, recently appointed trustee of Wayne township, and Adam Collis. Mr. Hamilton is a native of Allen county and has resided here all his life. His service at the shops began July 1, 1870, when he took up an apprenticeship in the machine department. June 30, 1873, he was advanced to machinist and in that capacity he worked in the local shops up to a few months ago, when he obtained a leave of absence. eH was born July 14, 1848, and is only 68 years old. His admission to the retired list will, therefore, be through a clause which permits it when the applicant has worked a certain number of years and has applied for retirement. Otherwise employes must retire when they reach the age of 70. Adam Collis was 70 years old Aug. 26, and should have been retired Sept. 1. He was in California visiting one of his children, however, and did not call attention to the fact that he had reached retirement age. He is still out there and does not know that action is being taken to retire him. Mr. Collis was born in Cambria county, Pennsylvania, Aug. 22, 1846, and the records show that he began work at his trade in the Pennsylvania shop Aug. 1, 1882, thirty-four years ago.

VETS VERY ENTHUSIASTIC.

Pennsy Men Anticipate a Joyful Time at the Banquet.

Never before in the history of the Pennsylvania Employes' Veteran association was there as much enthusiasm and interest displayed in the annual gathering as is being displayed over the seventh annual meeting and banquet, which will be held in Valparaiso on Saturday, October 7. J. H. Hobrock, C. E. McKeehan and H. A. Philley, who compose the committee of arrangements for the meeting, were at Valparaiso yesterday to make final arrangements for the event. They report the most cordial treatment and promise of assistance of every kind from the good people of Valparaiso. At the chamber of commerce rooms, in which the business meeting will be held, the committee was informed that those quarters would be open to the vets all day and "anything else wanted and within our power to supply, will be forthcoming if we are informed of it," said one of the chamber of commerce men to the committee. The vets will leave Fort Wayne for Valparaiso about 10 o'clock Saturday morning, October 7, and will reach Valparaiso shortly after the noon hour. The program for the day includes a business session in the chamber of commerce rooms beginning at 2 o'clock. At 4 o'clock the vets will embark upon an automobile ride which will terminate at the Valparaiso university, where the banquet will begin at 6 o'clock. At 9 o'clock there will be a special vaudeville show in the opera house for the vets and at 11 o'clock the start for home will begin. The membership of the association is rapidly increasing and it is believed over 400 will surround the banquet tables in the big dining room at the university.

COLORED MAN KILLED.

Was Riding Auto Truck When a Pennsy Train Struck It.

James Blane, colored, was instantly killed and Samuel Harris was injured when the auto truck on which they were riding was struck on the Fifth avenue grade crossing of the Pennsylvania at Gary at 10:30 this morning. The train which figured in the accident was the second section of eastbound passenger, No. 40, in charge of Conductor H. P. Jones and Engineer C. E. Enslen. Harris was driving the truck and it is said he paid no attention to signals from the engineer. His injuries consist of a wrenched back and some cuts and bruises in the head. They are not supposed to be serious, for he was able to walk and remained at the scene of the wreck a half hour after it happened. Blane was married and resided in Gary.

FITTING UP SHOP DISPENSARY.

The movement for a first aid hospital or dispensary for the sick and injured employes of the Wayne Knitting mills, started some months ago, has been given new life and will now be pushed along to a finish. A room in the central part of the factory plant, on the second floor, has been set aside for the purpose and will soon receive the equipment and a trained nurse installed. The dispensary will be operated upon lines that govern the operation of the shop hospital at the General Electric works.

ADD HALF-HOUR TO SCHEDULE.

The employes of the Wayne Knitting mills, who, during the heated term, quit work at 5 o'clock in the evening, making the working day only nine hours, will hereafter work until 5:30, adding a half hour to each day's working schedule. The mills are very busy and the delay in operations occasioned by scarcity of dyes and wools has been overcome. There is still a slight shortage in material, but conditions are rapidly improving and no serious trouble is looked for in the future.

TO CHANGE CELEBRATION PLANS.

It is quite likely the Wayne Knitting Mills and the employes will abandon the idea of an all day picnic in celebration of the silver anniversary of the company. The shop is too busy, it is said, to suspend operations for a day and at a meeting yesterday it was decided to make other arrangements for the celebration. The question will be definitely settled in a few days, and the committee will make announcement of the results.

ELECTRICIAN BADLY BURNED.

Francis Swift, employed in the transformer department of the General Electric works, had the palms of both hands and the fingers painfully burned at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, when he received a heavy current of electricity. His wounds were dressed by Dr. Fred J. Schulz, the company's surgeon, who does not apprehend any permanent injury to the unfortunate man. Mr. Swift is one of the recent additions to the working force, his home being in Iowa.

TAKES JOB WITH NICKEL PLATE.

The party is en route from Chicago, where they have been for a few days. The visit of the president and his party in this city has no special significance.

LOST TWO FINGERS.

G. W. McCoy, blacksmith helper at the Pennsylvania shop, met with an unfortunate accident while at work yesterday, when his hand was caught under a steam hammer. The first two fingers of his right hand were severed. The injury was dressed by Dr. Van Sweringen.

MR. PECK GOING EAST.

George L. Peck, fourth vice president of the Pennsylvania, in charge of transportation, will pass through the city in his private car on train No. 8 tonight, en route to his home in Philadelphia. Mr. Peck has been west on a vacation trip.

DOING GOOD FREIGHT BUSINESS.

The Grand Rapids & Indiana road is enjoying a very good freight business at present. In fact it is much heavier now than at any of the previous Septembers of the past five or six years. All the power is in use and more could be used.

TWO SECTIONS NEEDED.

Train No. 1 on the Nickel Plate was split into two sections here today, and an extra was run from here to Cleveland. The reason for the extra section was the unusually heavy passenger traffic.

SEES BOOMERANG IN NEW EIGHT-HOUR LAW

Chicago Man Believes It Will Operate Against Brotherhoods.

Mackinac Island, Mich., Sept. 14.—Samuel O. Dunn, of Chicago, editor of a railroad magazine, and who acted in an advisory capacity to the railroad presidents in the negotiations which preceded the passage of the Adamson law, suggested in a speech here last night that the eight-hour law may prove a boomerang to the brotherhoods. He asserted that the law fixes an eight-hour pay-day and not an eight-hour work-day.

Mr. Dunn's remarks were addressed to the delegates to the convention of the Railroad Signal association.

"This law," said Mr. Dunn, "does not limit the number of hours that railway employes may work in a day. It merely limits the number of hours that the railroad may require them to work before it pays them a day's wages. In other words, it fixes an eight-hour pay-day, and not an eight-hour work-day.

"It is certain that under this law, if it should be upheld, the railways would have to pay a day's wage for eight hours' work, but it is not equally obvious that the law prohibits them from paying an employe in the train service a day's wages before he has done at least eight hours' work. It says eight hours, no more and no less, shall be the standard. It would appear, therefore, that under this provision, if the railways should pay any employe a day's wage for less than eight hours' work, they would violate the law and subject themselves to its protection and penalties."

Many trainmen in passenger service, it is said, receive full pay for less than eight hours' work.

Cured His RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may and find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 94 E Marcellus avenue, Manasquan, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.—Advertisement.

ANTWERP NEWS.

Antwerp, O., Sept. 14.—Mrs. Laura Lamphere went to Fort Wayne Wednesday for a few days' visit, and will be the guest of her son, Frank, and family during her stay.

A new bell has been received by the congregation of the U. B. church, contracted for by the Ladies Aid society of the church.

Mrs. Orley Duval, accompanied by Mrs. Nolan Duval and little daughter, Nola, of Pasadena, Cal., who are visiting relatives in this locality, were visitors at Woodburn, Wednesday, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Dunderman and family.

Reed Groom has swiped the big diamond studded championship medal in the hook and line class, as he landed a carp Wednesday afternoon out of the Maumee river weighing 9 1-2 pounds.

Mrs. Florence Daniels, accompanied by her daughter, Zona, and Miss Madge Graves, were visitors at Fort Wayne, Wednesday.

All the schools of the township, including the Antwerp high school, had an all day recess Wednesday, to allow the pupils to attend the Paulding county fair.

Miss Olive Calkins is home from Toledo, where she visited her sister, Mrs. F. [illegible] Pio, and brother, John Calkins.

[illegible] B. Ely, our veteran grocerman, is confined to his home by illness, something unusual for Bruce, as it's about the first sick spell he ever enjoyed—if there is any enjoyment in being sick.

Tom Johnson, Wabash agent at Wauseon, O., was a visitor here the fore part of the week, the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Johnson.

Sam B. Harris, cashier of the Antwerp Exchange bank, is at Columbus, O., this week, in attendance at the annual meeting of the bankers' association.

Rev. W. C. Mitchell, pastor of the M. E. church, is home from conference held this week at Lima, O. His next pastorate will be at Willshire, O., his successor being G. B. Sessons. Mr. Mitchell has a large number of friends here who will regret the departure of himself and family and all heartily join in wishing them prosperity and happiness in their new home.

The Parent-Teachers club will hold its first meeting September 22 at the high school room.

A lamentable affair happened here Monday afternoon when a barn at the home of Lewis Shuster, living on Payne avenue burned to the ground, and little Louie Shuster, aged 3 years, lost his life. The family were seated in the shade of the house on the opposite side of same, and did not discover the fire until the structure was enveloped in flames, and did not miss the little fellow until some time after, and when at last it was thought he might have been in the barn and search was made that corroborated this. He was dead and his body frightfully burned. It is thought the little fellow had gone to the barn to play, and having some matches, had set fire to some rubbish which had developed flames that had cut off his escape by the door.

William Slattery was a visitor here a few days this week, having come from his home near Cecil to attend forty hours' devotional service at St. Mary's Catholic church.

W. P. Reid, who is employed at the Overland works at Toledo, was home a few days this week, on account of illness.

John W. Taylor, who has been visiting out at the farm home of his nephew, Harvey Mangus and family, north of the river, returned to his home at Toledo Tuesday.

Mrs. Maud Smeltzer, of Toledo, visited here Tuesday, the guest of her sister, Mrs. Howard Treaster and family, going from here to Paulding where she will be the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Gilbert Barnes this week while attending the fair.

Miss Minnie Overman was a Fort Wayne visitor Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Snyder and little son, Donald, of Huntington, Ind., motored to this place Saturday, where they visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Mann, and family.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

HUGHES FAILING TO MEET ISSUES, CLAIM

Harry H. Hilgemann Opens Whitley County Campaign Wednesday Evening.

Laud, Ind., Sept. 14.—"It is difficult to determine following Mr. Hughes' western trip what he considers the issues of the campaign," declared Harry H. Hilgemann, Fort Wayne attorney, last evening, speaking at the opening of the campaign in Whitley county.

"The democratic party is willing to discuss any of the issues. Since his western itinerary, however, he has furnished the democrats with an issue which is rapidly becoming crystallized into the minds of the American people, namely, that at this time they must keep Woodrow Wilson and the democratic party in power.

"In every campaign the republicans have made great ado about the panic bogey telling the voters if the democrats were in power the times would be hard. It is humorous, or rather pathetic to see Mr. Hughes in the present era of unprecedented prosperity trying to make the old panic ghost walk again.

Prosperity in Fort Wayne.

"In Fort Wayne, over on Broadway, we see in process of erection the largest building in the city and this building is to be used for manufacturing purposes and will house thousands of people in their work. On all hands we see the old landmarks being replaced with fine new structures.

"In recent years I have heard a good many republican business men say that they wished the old troublesome tariff could be taken out of politics. But what do they say when they see Mr. Hughes trying to grab the old tariff issue by the neck and force it back into American politics again.

"The democratic party, progressive on the tariff as on other things, has secured information on the tariff with a view of getting scientific laws passed.

Jacob H. Schniff, eminent New York banker, speaking at a republican club banquet, said recently: 'I want to explain that nothing can stop the prosperity we now have, except a renewal of the tariff issue in the next campaign.'

Will Threaten Country.

"Standing here on holy republican ground I want to say that if you renew in the next presidential campaign the tariff agitation, you will threaten the country and show that you want a renewal of special privilege. The workingmen, farmers and others have learned that they must not be fooled longer on the tariff issue.

"Mr. Hughes is not in accord with members of his own party. He is putting himself in flat opposition to many republican bankers and financiers. He has not had the hardihood to express himself one way or another on the present currency law, by which panics are made an impossibility. Mr. Hughes has also criticised President Wilson for settling the great railroad strike, not only in the interest of labor, but for every man, woman, and child in the country."

COULD NOT DO HER COOKING.

Mrs. F. E. Hartmeister, Tea, Mo., writes: "I was affected with kidney trouble for two years. I was so bad this summer I could hardly do my cooking. I got Foley Kidney Pills and they helped me. I feel like a new person." Too many women neglect symptoms of kidney derangement. When the kidneys are not properly doing their work poisons left in the system cause weak back, dizziness, puffiness under eyes, swollen ankles, joints, and rheumatism. Dreier Drug Co.—Advertisement.

CUB BOSS DENIES TINKER IS TO GO

Declares That He Expects to Sign Joe This Fall for Next Season.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—For the steenth time this year rumors of Joe Tinker's prospective decapitation as manager of the Cubs were published yesterday, and stirred President Charles Weeghman to an emphatic statement.

"I don't know why this yarn has to be printed every once in a while," said Mr. Weeghman. "I absolutely never have given the matter so much as a thought. Joe's contract expires this year. That is well known. When the season is over and the question of a new contract comes up I do not expect to have any trouble with Tinker.

"You can say positively and absolutely that I expect to reach an agreement with Tinker for the management of the Cubs next year. I confess I have been dissatisfied at times with the way things were going on the team, but, holy smoke, that happens in every business! I have not planned to fire Joe, and I don't understand why the story is circulated so industriously."

Tinker is inclined to blame Charley Ebbets, of Brooklyn, for the year's crop of yarns concerning a change in Cub management. Joe says Charley never has forgiven him for his old Federal league activities and is trying to make it unpleasant for him. President Weeghman does not believe this.

UPSET IN MILWAUKEE PACE.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 14.—Jim Zoo, a bay gelding of unknown breed, owned by J. McChristien, of Burlington, Wis., and driven by Newell, upset all calculations in the 2:20 pace in the Great Western circuit races at the Wisconsin state fair by winning the $1,000 purse from a field of eight starters. A sixth heat, run against Laddie, bay gelding, by Thistle, owned by A. E. Van Natta, of Otterbein, Ind., was the deciding brush. Laddie took second money and th eWilkwer third. Best time, 2:13¾.

APPROACHING.

Chick Evans, national amateur and open golf champion of the United States, attributes much of his success to his approach shots. His ability in this department is remarkable.

If he is 200 yards from the green he is almost certain to place the ball not only on the green but near the hole.

If Evans is 200 yards from the hole he plays his spoon, but under 100 yards he usually resorts to his mashie niblick. The face of this niblick is heavily corrugated and gives a back spin to the ball.

In making shots Evans always concentrates first. He has a deceptive swing in making his approach shot and spectators get the impression that he is certain to overshoot his mark.

But the champion makes allowance for the ball taking up turf in front of the ball. Hence, with the back spin the distance is always nearly perfect.

The ball lands on the green and rolls only a few feet. This pitch makes a more spectacular shot from the rolling approach.

(Another article on how Champion Evans plays will appear in The Sentinel tomorrow).

Date for Opening of Championship Games is Unofficially Set.

New York, Sept. 14.—Because of the closeness of the two major league pennant races and the resultant uncertainty regarding the contenders for world's series honors, members of the National commission are seriously handicapped in their efforts to draw up a schedule and make other arrangements for the holding of the series, less than a month away. Although the date for the opening game has been unofficially set for Saturday, Oct. 7, the fact that the commission is unable to determine at this time which clubs will participate is hampering the completion of the many details and arrangements which they wish to clear up well in advance if the series is to move smoothly once the play is on.

This problem, it was announced yesterday, will be fully discussed at Cincinnati on Friday, when the commission and the club owners gather for the annual drafting of minor league players. The situation may result, it was indicated, in the extraordinary procedure of preparing a number of world's series schedules, covering National and American league clubs which have a chance to win the right to compete in the baseball classic. Only three weeks' leeway will exist at the time the magnates meet in Cincinnati, and it has been suggested in official baseball circles that the only way to meet the condition would be to adopt this broad schedule plan, probably including Brooklyn, Philadelphia and Boston, in the National league, and Boston, Detroit and Chicago, in the American league.

Defiance to Bring Rooters Here Sunday

Aggie Grant, the former Central leaguer, who will lead Defiance against the Clearyites at League park Sunday, has sent word that a crowd of rooters will follow the team and will be prepared to hold up its end in a scrap with Fort Wayne rooters.

Buckholtz, another former Central league player, will be on Grant's lineup Sunday.

Guilde, who is touted as the best third sacker playing semi-pro ball, is with Defiance.

MOTORCYCLISTS WILL HOLD ENDURANCE RUN

Trip Next Sunday Will Test the Skill and Judgment of Riders.

The second endurance run of the Indiana Motorcycle club will be pulled off next Sunday. The object of the run is to test the endurance, skill and judgment of the contestants, and the capability and reliability of the machines used. The run is open to any member of the F. A. M., who rides a stock machine with no auxiliary parts. A small entry fee will be charged to defray the expenses of the run.

The route runs through Roanoke, Huntington and Wabash to Marion and from there through Montpelier, Bluffton and Decatur to Fort Wayne. Huntington, Montpelier and Decatur are the controls, the other towns being checking stations.

Private owners who ride their machines, and who have perfect scores, will be awarded prizes. Those who have scores of more than 900 will also be awarded prizes.

AGE CLAUSE WAIVED.

If Navy Applicants Are Physically Fit, They May Omit Age Certificate.

Joseph C. King, chief petty officer in charge of the Fort Wayne navy recruiting station, has received the following order from Lieut. J. H. Comfort, head of navy recruiting for Indiana:

"Hereafter applicants who are physically qualified and are unable to obtain age certificates, may be sent in, provided, after investigation, you are convinced that such men are over 18, were born in the United States. This does not apply to minors over 17 or under 18 years of age."

Officer King announces that since August 1 three men have been turned down because they were unable to furnish proper age certificates. The late order, it is predicted, will stimulate navy recruiting.

SCRIBE PICKS RED SOX AND PHILS FOR SERIES

Says That Last Year's Pennant Winners Are Sure to Repeat.

(By Harold Johnson.)

What teams will be in the world's series next month?

H. D. JOHNSON.

That's the big question these days. Will Brooklyn's Robins battle the Chicago White Sox; will Boston's Braves tangle with the Detroit Tigers or will the Boston Red Sox and the Phillies go to the mat again?

Everyone has a hunch but for the first time in many seasons betting on the outcome of the major league races is a minus quantity.

I pick Philadelphia in the National league and Boston in the American despite the fact that these teams which battled last October for the highest honors in baseball are struggling minus the services of Jack Barry and Bill Killifer.

On paper the Chicago White Sox present the most formidable front in the American league. But the Windy city combination hasn't delivered throughout the season in the manner that the Red Sox have performed and it must also be remembered that Barry, perhaps the most important cog in the Red Sox lineup, has been missing from several games both in the fore and latter part of the race.

Carrigan's team plays with a confidence such as reposes only in a champion. The Boston pitching staff is by far the class of the league with Leonard, Ruth, Foster, Shore and Mays able to work brilliantly in turn.

For the final invasion of the west Sept. 14 the Sox are booked for nineteen games, then speed back to their native stronghold to stage the last stand, opposing New York in four contests before ringing down the curtain with, obliging athletics in a three-piece set.

The Red Sox, at home, are almost invincible and with Barry restored to the lineup should roll up a huge majority on the final swing of the circuit.

I pick the Phil because every man under Pat Moran plays the right kind of baseball. They go about everything in a business like way. There's none of the hit and miss stuff in the Philly attack or defense.

I fail to agree with critics who have called the Phils a lucky club. It has often been said the club is a one-man affair and would be a tail-ender without Alexander.

We'll grant the presence of the speckled Nebraskan is a potent factor but having glimpsed the team in action for a number of years I fail to see where there is a bad ball player in the lot.

A great manager leading a corking ball club reinforced by the most remarkable pitcher in the league—that's my close-up of the Phillies.

With Alexander enjoying the most remarkable season in his career and physically fit to work often during the closing rounds of the campaign and topliners like Demaree, Rixey and Mayer at their best, Moran should not worry over his pitching staff.

This quartet is equal to working the twenty-one games ahead of the Phils on the final drive starting Sept. 12.

The Phils will have an advantage in their final stand because they will play all except three of their remaining games in their own back yard where the home guards certainly can hit that pill.

BOWLING ASSOCIATION MEETS.

KNOCKS HOME RUN WITH SKULL.

Newark, O., Sept. 14.—The Fitzsimmons team of this city, composed of amateur ball players, boasts of one real curiosity. He is Outfielder Nutter, who, so far as is known, is the only man in baseball who ever knocked a home run with his head. In a recent exhibition game with the Philadelphia Athletics Nutter lost a fly ball. It hit him on the top of the head and bounced over the fence for a circuit smash.

EXPRESSIVE LOU WINS FEATURE IN WALKAWAY

Tom Murphy's Bay Filly Takes American Horse Breeders' Futurity.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Expressive Lou, Tommy Murphy's bay filly, won the $6,000 Amtrican Horse Breeders' futurity, the feature of yesterday's Grand Circuit races, with ease. The Murphy entry led the field from startto finish in both heats and crossed the line with plenty to spare.

The real contest developed in a triangular battle between Suldine, Lotto Watts and Bingen Silk. Lotto Watts finished second in the first heat after a hard stretch duel with Suldine, Bingen Silk closing fast in the last few yards to take fourth place.

The battle for honors in the second heat produced a stirring finish. Rounding the turn into the stretch Suldine, Bingen Silk and Lotto Watts were almost on even terms about a length behind the speeding Murphy entry. Within 200 yards of the finish Traynor whipped Suldine into second place.

Today the program includes the Governor's stake and the chamber of commerce stake, each valued at $2,000. Six races, including three events for gentlemen drivers, will comprise the card.

PORT DOPE

In addition to the Robins another bird who has been useful to Col. Robinson this year is Poll Perritt.

The average athlete who thinks he is coming back is usually going back.

John McGraw's Giants might stand a swell chance of losing another world series if the present campaign extended to Dec. 1.

There are two kinds of iron men—those the ticket scalpers shanghai and those who pitch double-headers.

Cincinnati is the scene of the annual lemon picker's convention. Technically the powwow is known as the drafting season.

See where the national commission has put a stop to the selling of tickets to the world series games at Boston. Such measures will never be compulsory in Cincinnati.

A Milwaukee boxfight promoter begs to announce that there's plenty of life in the glove game in England. Among the live ones he mentions are Owen Moran and Bomb. Wells.

It's getting so that when Alexander is pitching the only thing required of the Philadelphia outfielders is an occasional trip to bat.

The Doctor's Advice by Dr. Lewis Baker

"Mrs. P. M." asks: "May I reduce my weight without exercising? I don't have time to exercise."

Answer: Would suggest you use five-grain arbolone tablets to reduce your overweight. They are harmless and many stout people have reduced from 5 to 50 pounds.

"Webb" writes: "I am nervous, tired, restless. All my ambition and energy seem to have left me. I don't seem able to apply myself to my tasks, and my duties, instead of being a pleasure are irksome to me. I suffer with drawing pains at the base of the brain and have pains in my spine. I'm always embarrassed, afraid and listless."

Answer: Your whole system needs a tonic. Your nervous system is in an enfeebled condition as a result of impoverished blood. Three-grain calomene tablets will overcome this condition by bracing and stimulating the circulation and building up the worn muscles and nerve cells over the body. Avoid constipation and excesses.

"Midge" asks: "How may I round out my figure, increase my weight and be healthy and strong?"

Answer: Many people increase their weight, improve their health and vitality by using three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets with their meals. I have known very thin, nervous people to gain from 5 to 50 pounds from the use of these tablets.

"W. L." asks: "Why do you suppose I have such a sallow, pasty complexion? I think my kidneys may be affected, as I have pains in the small of my back all the time."

Answer: The pains in the back might indicate kidney trouble, and if you have headaches, your feet swell and your eyes have puffs under them, your urine scant with much color and bad odor, I would suggest the immediate use of balmwort tablets to relieve this condition.

"Spring" writes: "I have two or three boils on my face and my complexion is yellow. My eyes are dull and my tongue coated. I am very nervous and tired all thetime. Can't sleep at night, and am constipated."

Answer: Your blood and nerves are impoverished and diseased. This results from continued constipation. Get three-grain sulpherb tablets(not sulphur). They should clean your blood, and digestion and stop constipation. The boils are indication of bad blood.

"Grace" writes: "My hair is awful looking. It is dry and broken and doesn't grow any more. When I scratch my scalp a kind of white, scaly, oily substance comes off. I think it may be a kind of dandruff."

Answer: To overcome the itching scalp and make it healthy, use plain yellow minyol. The minyol will produce a beautiful, soft, luxuriant growth of hair by properly cleaning and stimulating the scalp.

"S. T. A." asks: "How may I get relief from a cold and cough, which 'just hangs on?' I am afraid it will become chronic, and I am already losing strength."

Answer: Start at once using concentrated essence mentho-laxene. You may either use this as it comes, in concentrated form, or mix it with one pint of simple sugar syrup as per directions on label of each 2½ oz. bottle. It is highly efficient in treatment of colds, coughs, etc. It opens up the air passages and relieves the system of the cold inflammation through the natural excretory organs.

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply in any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. UNIQUE FESTIVAL IS SUCCESS.

Twenty Thousand Attend Public Evening Musical in New York.

New York, Sept. 14.—One of the first efforts ever made to induce the public to participate in a great evening musicale party in a city park was so successful last night that the song and light festival given by the New York community chorus will be repeated in Central park tonight. It is estimated that 20,000 men, women and children gathered on the banks of the lake in the park and joined in the singing of opera airs and familiar tunes, led by a trained chorus of eight hundred singers.

Ames, Okla., with a population of 200 persons, has seven baseball teams, or one team for every twenty-eight inhabitants. The seven nines are classified as follows: "A regular team, a second team, a third team, a kid team, a fat team, a lean team and a woman's team."

THE TWO TRAINS THAT PASSED AT THE DOCKS

A Little Incident of the War as Seen at English Seaport.

London, England, Sept. 1..—A long Red Cross train filled from end to end from one of the hospital ships lying at Southampton was pulling out slowly for its run to London.

Almost every window served to frame an outward gazing soldier in ragged, blood-stained khaki.

Near the dock gates the hospital train met another equally long train coming in, packed with fresh troops outward bound to France. Each of its windows held three men in khaki; red, lusty faces looking out over the close-cropped heads of their mates; full of eager curiosity and expectation.

For 50 yards or so the trains glided side by side in an uncanny silence. No man spoke. Dumbly the men to be tried gazed into the faces of the men tried, as they were carried past.

Suddenly a young lance corporal whose right arm was in a sling, and whose head was swathed in bandages, cried into the sunny silence:

"Are we downhearted?"

The tension snapped. It seemed that hundreds of the brave fellows coming home and going out heaved long sighs.

The music of the roar which rose from both trains was something to penetrate the least impressionable. It was only when the two trains were divided by a gap of 200 yards that the chorus died away. Pride, good wishes, comradeship were there for ears that could catch the different notes in the ringing:

"No! No! No!"

Even the weaker notes came out from carefully shaded cots hidden in the hospital train. Deep spoke to deep across the railway steels.

Four hundred pastoral calls in four weeks on new people, shut-ins, sick and those coming under the head of special cases is the record of the Rev. Frederick T. Keeney, pastor of a Syracuse (N. Y.) church.

LAFAYETTE PLACE EASILY ACCESSIBLE

One of the features which is making Lafayette Place exceedingly popular among investors and those looking for a future home site is its accessibility from the center of the city. Located as this addition is, on Calhoun street, the main business street of the city, with pavement already running to the addition so that those counting on using automobiles are guaranteed an approach to it, and so that it may also be easily reached by car lines, many people feel that no other addition in the city has any brighter prospects for a rapid development. There are many additional advantages which assure Lafayette Place property developing quickly, and these will be explained by the Wildwood Sales company, Shoaff Building.—Advertisement.

QUALITY and SERVICE represent each of the following advertisers. We hear a great deal about war prices. It is true that the European war has worked a hardship upon them, but at the same time it has not decreased the quality or standards of the business of our Fort Wayne Printing Companies. According to facts, three-fifths of our paper material comes directly from Europe thus causing an increase in prices from 60 to 200%. Under these conditions, tho' the printing companies are working to the best advantage for their patrons, they feel that the conditions forced upon them can be handled in their distinctive methods of doing business; altho' there will be a slight increase in their finished products which the consumer can be assured is not local but world wide.

Smuggling at Midnight Along the Coast of Finland

Russia Maintains Strict Embargo, but Contraband Supplies Are Taken to Caches Through Sweden Despite Vigilance of the Czar's Warships.

OFF the east coast of a headland of Sweden which projects out into the ocean where the Baltic Sea merges into the Gulf of Bothnia, 100 or more miles north of the City of Stockholm, lie the islands of the Aland Archipelago. They are almost opposite the entrance to the Gulf of Finland, whose waters wash the shores of Petrograd, and, like the Island of Sicily, which is the key to the Eastern and Western Mediterranean, the Aland Archipelago is the strategic key to the Gulf of Bothnia, to the Gulf of Finland and to the Swedish shores on the west.

Quite naturally the people of Aland have turned to smuggling. Brave hearts do not scorn profits. Successful smuggling carries tremendous monetary gains, besides offering an outlet for the hearts which still have the spirit of the old Vikings lurking deep within. The Swedish on one side and the Finns of the mainland carry on a lively trade in forbidden goods. Aland serves as the emissary of both. The Swedes are comparatively safe; they are a neutral people.

And even as the smuggling teems with romance, the work of running it down has its pages of adventure and romance and daring equally as great. The men of the navy who have been set to break up the gangs that are bringing into Russia things which the Russian Government has forbidden have not been without the glamour of stirring experiences. Even the women of the islands have been drawn into the maelstrom of the dangerous business by the trend of affairs there in Aland. This, the story of a clear-headed young Finnish girl, illustrates very well and gives at the same time a picture of the nature of the activities of the smugglers and the men sent to repress them.

Neva was the daughter of a respected and well-to-do Alander when the war broke in upon the serenity of life on the islands. She led the commonplace existence of a woman whose life was circumscribed by the limits of the archipelago with an occasional trip to the mainland. She was tall, strong, a Northern Diana. Courage and character rather than mere feminine beauty marked her face.

When the war began a cruiser of the Russian Baltic fleet was ordered to patrol the Aland Archipelago, with the purpose of stopping the smuggling and preventing any enemy activities or propaganda to disturb the slender loyalty of the Finns. The cruiser was, of course, among Russian subjects, and, after its arrival, its crew, or at least the officers of the ship, were not long in making friends with the officials and more prominent inhabitants of the islands.

Long intervals of comparative idleness coming in between times of hard work were passed in social diversions. The officers were feted by the people of Taergriv, where the ship was anchored when not engaged in active patrol work, and, in turn, the officers gave parties on board the ship. War is not all grim killing.

It was on one of the social events at which the officers of the ship were present that Neva met Lieut. Kurganeff of the imperial navy. The two young people were frequently brought together through the means mentioned, and soon the big-shouldered and impressive officer had won completely the heart of the young Finnish woman.

The romance flourished while the Russian lieutenant was present to pay his court to the sturdy, beauty girl. And when his ship was off in the islands the potent charm of his attractions worked just as well. When the ship was away, Neva was accustomed to cross the island upon which her home was located and climb to the highest elevation there so she could catch a first glimpse of the returning cruiser and wave a greeting to her lover, which he usually answered with his revolver—the smoke of which the girl could see, although she did not always hear the shot.

Once, when the cruiser was on one of its missions around the archipelago, Neva set out for her natural observation tower. A passing whim prompted her to detour through a hitherto unknown part of the island to her. She was sufficiently acquainted with the island to know that her new route would take her about two hours longer, but time was hers, so she set off on the way.

To the vigorous Aland woman the long walk was only a normal exercise. She was making her way around a course by the shore, winding in among the rocks and shrubbery and catching an occasional glimpse of the sea through the topographical formations. The way gradually led down to the beach, and she trod along lightly over the sand. Suddenly she noticed that the ground looked as though it had been recently visited. As she continued, her observations became more definite, and finally she came upon a space where a boat might be landed quite advantageously and where the beach showed unmistakable evidences of recent activity. Many feet had been there; they were heavy feet, and had disturbed the sand often.

Neva followed the avenue which the visitors had used and came upon a sort of cave, which she saw was used as a cache for a large amount of goods. Upon investigation she ascertained the goods to be blankets, certain foodstuffs, clothing and other articles in demand by the inhabitants of Finland and Eastern Russia. She was experienced enough to know that the cave and the goods meant nothing else but that smugglers were active in the vicinity.

She quickly left her discovery and continued to her elevation, where she sighted the ship as she had anticipated. To her greetings no puffs of smoke or reports of the revolver made answer. Puzzled, she turned and made her way homeward by means of the accustomed path. Neva was both venturesome and brave. She knew that the ship would not land until the following dawn, and she knew further that a definite report to the ship would be of vast advantage. Accordingly, she decided to slip out during the night and follow her familiar path around to a point above the cache and the landing place where she might observe any maneuvers of the smugglers who might come during the night.

Bravely she carried out her plan, and silently crept up along the way which gave her a full, though secure view of the scene of the nocturnal labors of the smugglers. There were a few figures with their lanterns on the scene when she observed it first. Off on the water was a boat coming in. She could make out the sound of rowing, although she could not discern the boat in the dark. The boat landed and into the secluded circle of light the new arrivals made their entrance. In the midst of some fifteen Swedes and Finns, Neva was horified to see her sweetheart. He was handcuffed and powerless, and with him were two sailors from his ship. This, then, she hurriedly thought, explained the absence of response to her waving in the afternoon.

The sailors were marched into the circle and each was manacled to one of the trees in the little grotto in which the smugglers were holding their meeting. A supply of goods from the cache was loaded into the boat and six of the Swedes rowed away in it. Those who remained began to hold an earnest consultation over the fate of the Russians. Neva, who understood the Swedish tongue, soon apprehended the disposition the Swedes planned to make of her sweetheart and his two men. The men themselves were ignorant of what awaited them.

"Russians who come prying around in small boats," said a big Swede, "must be taken care of. We don't need to hurt them, and neither do we need to release them. If we leave them tied up there to the tree—well, if they starve, that is very unfortunate. But we haven't molested him. What do you say, comrades?"

And his comrades agreed with him. Neva had heard enough. She clambered over the rocks and found her way home, where she spent a feverish two hours waiting for the dawn to come when she might put off for the ship of her lover and bring a relief party to his rescue.

After what seemed an interminable night she finally set out in a rowboat for the two hours' trip across the water between the island upon which she lived and had the night previously observed the smugglers at work and the larger island upon which the city of Taergriv, the anchorage of the war vessel, was located. Neva was accustomed to the trip and knew just which way to row and by what jutting headland to steer in order to make the other island.

There was a little shoal of an islet to the left of her route. This she passed at the proper distance, but was terror-stricken to see a boat push off after her around the corner of the little bit of land stuck spitefully up in the channel. Neva increased her effort, but was rowing a losing flight against the pursuer, whom she recognized to be one of the gang whose activities she had observed during the night.

Neva rowed on for what she knew to be the safety of the cruiser, which must have anchored by that time, and the protection of the town. Slowly ahead her goal loomed up, and, although the Swede who was following her might have overtaken the brave girl's boat, he nevertheless suddenly veered around and rowed vigorously in the opposite direction.

He never stopped at the shoal, which had been his post as a scout, but kept right on to Neva's island and around to the side where the smugglers had their cache. The girl readily interpreted this change in his plan as the attempt to warn his partners that the girl was about to bring help from the cruiser.

At about the same time the smuggler disappeared around the rocks of the island she herself reached the cruiser. Hurriedly she told the commander of what she had seen and excitedly demanded to know how her lover had fallen into the hands of the smugglers. While the sharp commands of the officer of the day were being executed and the steam launch of the cruiser being made ready for the work before it, the captain explained the men's predicament.

The steam power of the launch was too swift for the clumsier rowboats of the smugglers, and the punitive force of the Russian cruiser came upon the Swedes just as the latter were about to put off. Neva and the second lieutenant in charge of the launch had together worked out a strategic plan of action against the smugglers. The officer was to land with half the men and drive the smugglers up the beach. Neva was to guide the launch around the rocks to a point where another landing could be made and lead the rest of the men down one of the paths with which she was so familiar. These two movements would envelop the smugglers and they would have no chance to escape.

The second lieutenant and ten men jumped ashore and with their first attack two of the smugglers dropped and the rest ran pell mell toward the protection which they knew the rocks of the island would afford them. Intrenching themselves behind the rocks and hills of the side of the island, the smugglers put up a determined resistance to the attacks of the weaker landing party.

Neva meanwhile had landed around a turn of the land with the remainder of the Russian force and was leading them around the path which she had taken the night before. Well armed and expectant, the Russians followed her up the hill to the point where she knew the crest would overlook the scene of the battle below. They were already hearing the shots of the firing on the beach, and with quickened steps the sailors hurried after Neva until they came out upon the spot above the smugglers.

With a wild cry they hurled themselves down the hill. Having either ignored or forgotten the half of the party which steamed away after the first landing was made, the smugglers were completely surprised. They made a desperate attempt to fight off both attacks at once, but the sailors closed in with an inexorable ardor it was seen would be too much for the smugglers.

The Russian vise-like movement soon proved itself successful and the smugglers were fighting hand to hand with a force equal in number but superior in skill. A desultory shot marked the termination of the fight, but with the last report Neva saw the lieutenant crumple up where he was bound.

Disregarding her own safety, the girl sprang down the hill into the midst of the danger and ran to him. With her own hands she released him and took his unconscious head in her hands. The smugglers had all been made prisoners now and were being marched to the launch which had returned to the first landing. Two of the big Russians came to Neva and gently lifted up the unconscious lieutenant and carried him to the boat.

On board the Russian vessel the ship's doctor made an examination of Kurganeff's wound.

"It will not be serious, my dear," the kindly old physician smiled. "It is a painful wound, but it will not permanently injure him. He must be kept quiet and must rest well until he grows strong again. But do not worry; he will be all right for you."

"Neva Was a Sturdy Diana of the North."

POTATO PRICES WILL DROP IN A FEW DAYS

Late Crop Will Be on the Market in Less Than Three Weeks.

The bottom will fall out of the high price of potatoes in a few weeks. Large shipments of the late potato crop will be on the Fort Wayne market in two weeks. The price of potatoes will gradually tumble, according to local wholesale dealers.

Potatoes may be as cheap as 75 cents a bushel, wholesale, in three weeks, Isadore Kramer, in charge of the Big Four Fruit house, believes. The price has been $2.15 a bushel owing to the failure of the early crop. Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin will soon be prepared to furnish a vast amount of the tubers, which are a substantial part of the laboring man's diet.

Fine Peaches on Market.

The height of the peach season for the local market is now on. Peaches are the best quality in five years, wholesale merchants give out. The price is nearly forty per cent higher than last year, however. Shortage of the southern peach crop is given as the reason. Most peaches are coming in from Michigan. Many car loads will arrive next week.

The last shipment of watermelons is on the market. The season for both watermelons and muskmelons passes this week.

Onions will be high this year. They cannot be bought by wholesale dealers for less than $1.25 a bushel. Floods and late spring have hurt the onion crop.

Good Grape Crop.

According to farmers and gardeners the grape crop this year will be an exceedingly large one. They have started to get ripe and large quantities appeared on the Barr street market, Thursday morning. They were selling for five cents for a fair sized basket. The supply of apples were larger than usual.

Grain prices remained unchanged throughout the day and trading was very slack. The prices in larger trade centers took a drop of a few cents on a bushel on wheat but it seems to have no effect on the local market prices. Oats remains at its high level as does corn.

Hogs remain steady as they have during the past three weeks. The top price on yorkers is $10.25 per hundred. All live stock market quotations were steady with receipts light and demand great.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Wheat prices here developed considerable strength today, influenced largely by firmness in the Liverpool market, where sellers were withdrawing offers, and it was said Argentine shipments promised a sharp decrease. Opening prices, which ranged from the same as Tuesday's finish to 1c higher, were followed by decided gains all around.

Fear of frost carried the corn market up. After opening ¼c to 1c higher, prices continued to ascend.

Oats rose with corn and wheat.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Sept. 14.—The wild rush of prices which attended yesterday's final hour was resumed with greater vigor at today's opening, many speculative favorites changing hands in large individual lots at gains of one to three points, with five for Bethlehem Steel, which was soon increased to 20, while U. S. Steel duplicated its record price of the early week. Reading and Union Pacific were the conspicuous rails, the former at the new record of 113¼. Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies also registered a new maximum at 95, and various industrials, equipment and motors added one to three points to yesterday's final quotations. Mexican Petroleum and Alcohol also made substantial gains.

Under normal conditions the enormous profit taking of the first hour, with its output of almost 500,000 shares, would have resulted in severe recessions, but the selling only made a slight impression, being neutralized by addidtional purchases of the general list and some further important gains. Steel surpassed all previous quotations at 106⅝, also Republic Steel at 69¾, while Lackawanna, Sloss Sheffield, Colorado Fuel and American Car also gained appreciably. Studebaker was strongest of the motors, rising over five points. Coppers and marines were rushed forward at midday, marine common taking a new top at 50⅝. Bonds were firm.

CUTS OWN WAGES; BUYS BABY BONDS

When a certain shopman arrived home last Saturday night and handed his wife his weekly pay envelope, he was greeted with the following remark:

"John, beginning today, your wages are cut $2.50 each week."

"Not that I know of," said John, "they're all there the same as usual."

"No," answered the wife, "you notice that I have just taken out $2.50. The same amount comes out of every envelope you bring home, and with it we are going to buy one Baby Bond every month. When your wages were cut last spring we managed to get along, and we can manage now. Only this time we get the benefit of the 'cut.'"

That's one good way of making yourself save. Baby Bonds are an ideal investment. They come in $10.00 denominations, bear 6 per cent interest, and are secured by first mortgages on local real estate. Further details regarding them may be secured from the Wildwood Sales Company, Shoaff Building.—Advertisement.

17-MONTHS-OLD BABE IS BELIEVED TO BE YOUNGEST DOPE FIEND.

MRS. HARRIS AND HER BABYCALLED "YOUNGEST DOPE FIEND."

Chicago, Sept. 1.—"The youngest dope fiend known to science," is the way physicians have labeled Norman Harris, 17-months-old baby.

And Baby Norman "got the habit" at his mother's breast, according to admissions said by physicians to have been made by the child's mother.

"When he was just a little thing I noticed he was good as good could be when I nursed him after I had taken dope," Mrs. Harris is alleged to have told Dr. Carl S. Myers, of Cook county Psychopathic hospital.

"He slept so quietly and there was always a smile on his face. I am not strong, I couldn't take care of a cross baby, so I kept taking the drug which eventually went to him."

"I often tried to stop—it was doing me no good. I didn't think he'd get 'n habit.'

"I'd have given my life a hundred times over to save him from it. I'd have cut out the dope if it killed me rather than make his life a hell, for that's what my life is. I'd rather see him dead than leading this life that is worse than death."

"It is quite possible for a child to acquire the drug habit through the milk of a drug-saturated mother," said Dr. Myers. "The milk is charged with the drug, the child absorbs it and the effect is much the same as if he took it in direct form."

In his cot in the hospital the little shadow-child pleads with his pensive eyes for the pain-killing "hop." His hands that look like little bird claws grope for the milk bottle that will send him off to dreamland.

Just how much morphine Baby Norman has taken into his system, the physicians at the Bridewell have not determined. According to his mother she has been almost continuously under the influence of drugs since Norman was born, seventeen months ago.

FAIRBANKS TALKING TARIFF.

Indiana Man in Oklahoma Says Republicans Will Win.

Tulsa, Okla., Sept. 14.—Charles Warren Fairbanks, republican candidate for vice president, spent a busy six hours here yesterday and made one public address. Mr. Fairbanks came from Oklahoma City, where he addressed the republican state convention Tuesday.

He spoke to a large and enthusiastic audience here at 11 o'clock.

"Victory will surely perch on the banner of republicanism this fall," he declared.

The Underwood tariff was assailed and the candidate declared a protective tariff, while always necessary, would be doubly so following the war, when this country must battle for supremacy in the world of business.

Fairbanks left at noon for Enid where he delivered a speech last night.
